Tribune Writer Sees Stalemate in War

CHANNEL STILL IS BIG BARRIER TO HITLER DRIVE

Says Attack Would Be Too Costly.

A military stalemate, with the British Isles grimly facing vast, competently trained, and perfectly equipped German armies across the channel, appears likely to last a long time in western Europe.

This is the considered judgment of Capt. Maxwell M. Corpening, Tribune correspondent and a graduate of West Point, who has just returned from a 16 months' trip that led to all the continents except South America. In his travels he covered more than 80,000 miles and appraised the war powers and political backgrounds of the principal belligerents.

Further reverses for the British in Africa, Capt. Corpening said, are possible if the Germans wish to press home their late advantages.

Sweep to Suez Canal.

"Military experts I talked to were agreed," he continued, "that three fully mechanized and supplied Nazi divisions thrown into Africa by the Germans probably could sweep thru to the Suez canal. They may be shuttled thru from Sicily unless the British navy can stop the movement."

At home, Capt. Corpening said, the British have done a good job of arming since Dunkirk. Their fortifications and the navy are so powerful that he considers a German assault on the islands would be too costly and too uncertain for Hitler's generals to undertake.

"It is a certainty," he said, "that the navy is in position, close enough to be ready for an all out defensive fight if that becomes necessary. The English channel is still, as it has always been, a barrier to invasion, and there are adequate forces to repel one. England is really fortified. There are 7,000,000 Germans under arms, but there is no way to get them into action in Britain.

It Works Both Ways.

"On the other hand, the difficulties of landing adequate forces on the continent to overcome that 7,000,000 are insuperable. Military men know that 14,000,000 men would be needed, each as well equipped as the Germans."

Capt. Corpening listed the factors that make for German effectiveness on land. These include numbers, air command, superb armament, a country putting every effort possible into war, and generalship that takes no chances but throws overwhelming forces upon carefully selected weak points of attack.

He derided talk of secret weapons, holding that the heavier field artillery—105 millimeter guns against the old 75 favored by the French and our own forces — training, weight of metal, and inferior opposition took the place of such mysterious gadgets.

"Air power has disintegrated the HOME GUARD FORMED IN 33 STATES; 112,000 OFFICERS, MEN SIGN UP

Washington, D. C., May 9.—More than 112,000 men are now in service in the state home guard units of 33 states, it was learned at the war department today. The state guard units were created to replace the National Guardsmen who have been called to active service.

On April 30 the home guard units had a total strength of 112,124. Fifteen of the 33 states which have organized state guard units have already received 45,891 pieces of equipment, largely rifles and bayonets.

Four other states have submitted requisitions for equipment. Fourteen other states and Puerto Rico have organized units, but have not yet bonded officials so that the war department may issue them equipment.

Ohio, Iowa and Oregon have organization plans under way. Louisiana, South Dakota, West Virginia and Nevada plan to enlarge their state police forces. Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming have not reported what they intend to do.

300 LB. WOMAN HELD IN SLAYING OF LANDLADY

Admits Killing in Row Over Rent.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 9 [Special].—A 300 pound housewife was in jail tonight charged with first degree murder in the iron pipe slaying of Miss Carrie Seymer, wealthy retired school teacher and church worker, whose death had been a sensational mystery since her body was found in her apartment Tuesday noon.

Mrs. Alice Dornblaser. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The prisoner is Mrs. Alice Sylvia Dornblaser, 51 years old, a tenant of her victim. She told police she went mad and wielded a length of pipe she carried when her landlady refused either to decorate or reduce the rent of her building.

Her detection was brought about by a combination of shrewd police work and fortunate circumstances that tore away the camouflage with which the killer had sought to cover her crime.

Developments of Day.

Among these developments were:

1. Concentrated police investigation on an unfinished rent receipt in Miss Seymer's apartment. Impelled by a fear she was suspected, Mrs. Dornblaser telephoned police that the receipt was for her, but she denied she had been at the Seymer apartment.

2. Police questioned all of the city's cab drivers and found one who recalled driving "a big, fat woman" to Miss Seymer's home. Officers who had talked to Mrs. Dornblaser after her call to police noted her weight, brought her to police headquarters where the cab driver identified her as his passenger.

3. A pair of black gloves forced down the victim's throat were found to be sized for the hands of a large woman and the lightness of 23 blows on Miss Seymer's head indicated a woman as the slayer.

Police Trace Phone Call.

Even the discovery of the killing was sensational. A telephone operator heard a woman screaming into a telephone that she was being attacked. Police traced the call and found Miss Seymer dead in her apartment at 1104 North Marshall street.

On a table lay a rent receipt which Miss Seymer apparently had been filling out when she was attacked. It read only "Received $55....." Milwaukee newspapers carried accounts of determined police efforts to find out the name Miss Seymer was about to fill in.

Mrs. Dornblaser, apparently urged to establish an alibi in the fear the trail would eventually lead to her, telephoned police that the receipt was for her. She said she had telephoned Miss Seymer to remind her she had not sent a receipt for last month. She told police, who went to her home in response to the call, that she had not been at the Seymer apartment.

Checking With Taxi Drivers.

Meanwhile police learned that a woman answering Mrs. Dornblaser's description was driven to the Seymer place by a taxicab driver before the slaying on Tuesday.

The big woman was taken to police headquarters last night and questioned for six hours. Finally she said, "I'll tell you all about it. I was in her apartment.' '

Mrs. Dornblaser said she had been incensed at Miss Seymer because of the latter's refusal to grant a rent reduction or more decorating. When she visited her landlady Tuesday, Mrs. Dornblaser said, she carried in her purse a seven inch piece of water pipe "just in case there was trouble."

When Miss Seymer remained adamant and told her tenant she could "buy the building in which you live or move out," Mrs. Dornblaser slapped her, then beat her to the floor with the pipe she carried, she confessed. She said she stuffed her black kid gloves into Mrs. Seymer's mouth, which caused her death by strangulation, to prevent any outcry.

NYE TELLS OF RESORT TO CHAIN TELEGRAMS TO DRUM UP CONVOYS

Washington, D. C., May 9 (AP).—Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] asserted in the senate today that unidentified proponents of convoys are resorting to a "chain telegraph method" to bring pressure on Washington. He read a telegram signed by Edison Marshall of Augusta, Ga., which said:

"Have received telegram urging me to continue telegraph chain, each recipient to wire President and induce ten others to do so, urging convoys. Think this movement should be exposed to senate and public immediately." Marshall did not identify the sender of the telegram.

"It seems to me that if it is necessary to resort to the chain telegraph method," Nye said, "there is being at once revealed a very definite weakness on the part of those who would have the United States take that long step to war—convoys."

LITTLE BIG BOY, AGED 'SEPT. 6,' GOES FOR A RIDE

"Little Big Boy," knee high to Police Sergeant John Kirby and frisky enough to upset the decorum of the central police station, went for a street car ride yesterday. He got on at Broadway and Diversey avenue and rode to 51st street and Indiana avenue before the conductor realized he was alone.

On the return trip the conductor spied Sergt. Kirby at State and Harrison streets and left the exceedingly young gentleman in the policeman's care. At the central station the boy's only comment was: "My name is Little Big Boy. My age is Sept. 6. Just let me ride a box car."

Kirby had no box car handy, so he fed him dinner instead. Shortly afterward Mrs. Irene Tuthill, 4060 Sheridan road, appeared. She identified Little Big Boy as her son, Richard, who will be 4 years old Sept. 6. The boy disappeared while she was shopping, she said.

Bare Cemetery Flower Theft Racket; 3 Held

The theft of floral pieces from cemeteries, a racket estimated to yield more than $100,000 annually, was under investigation yesterday by the state's attorney's office and state and city police.

This desecration of graveyards on a professional thievery basis was made known yesterday in the arrest of three men with a truck load of flowers. They confessed having stolen nearly 75 large floral stands from Mount Carmel cemetery.

Lieut. Alex Notto of the state police, whose men made the arrest, said the racket apparently had been on an organized basis for several years. He said the thieves found a ready market among unethical florists and roadside markets.

Three Seized in Truck.

Those arrested are Joseph Lobe, 28 years old, 4732 North avenue; Edward Dragoski, 23, of 1507 Van Buren street, and Lawrence Haarmans, 21, of 5428 23d street. Their truck was stopped in North avenue east of Mannheim road by State Policemen Archie La Salle, Daniel Levy, and Albert Rutkowski.

Lieut. Notto said the three confessed that two of them climbed over the fence at Mount Carmel cemetery early yesterday while the third stood guard at the truck. They said they were unable to lift larger floral pieces over the fence and broke the lock on one of the cemetery gates and carried the loot to the truck.

Thieves' Methods Described.

Lieut. Notto said the floral robbers who operated on a widespread basis worked in this manner:

They would read the obituary pages of newspapers, watching for the death of a person who might be expected to have a large funeral. Then one of the gang, the spotter, would visit the home before the funeral to determine whether the floral gifts were large enough to make the theft of them profitable.

Once this had been determined, one or more of the gang would follow the funeral cortege to the cemetery to locate the grave. That night the gang would steal the flowers and dispose of them.

In connection with the investigation Lieut. Notto questioned Arthur B. Lilly, 53, of 4725 Wabansia avenue, who had employed one of the prisoners. Lilly said he had been buying old floral pieces from some cemeteries for 16 years.

"I usually get them a week after the funeral, when the flowers are wilted," he said. "The valuable part is the wire and wicker work or the vases."

THREE LABOR GOONS, ONE A CHICAGOAN, ARE ORDERED TO PRISON

Philadelphia, Pa., May 9 [Special].—Three labor goons, convicted of assault and battery and conspiracy a week ago, were sentenced to prison terms today by Judge Harry S. McDevitt. They were alleged to have hired a fourth man to shoot and beat up Julian J. Scholly, leader in a faction of the Boilermakers union [AFL], last Dec. 3.

One of the three sentenced is Edward L. [Blackie] Day, ex-convict and a former Chicagoan. Day was sentenced to Joliet prison in 1916 and was returned there in 1926 after violating parole. He was released in 1928. He and William Di Salvatore were sentenced today to serve 18 months to 7 years. The third man, Fiore Leoni, was sentenced to one to seven years.

The three were found guilty in a trial before Judge McDevitt and without a jury. Francis Murphy, the confessed hired man, said that Day promised him $500 for a "good job." Murphy has pleaded guilty to assault and will be sentenced later.

NEW CASUALTIES PUT ITALIAN WAR TOTAL AT 212,641

ROME, May 9 (AP).—An official tabulation tonight of 98,928 killed, wounded, and missing in April brought to 212,641 the losses listed by Italy's armed forces since this country went to war June 10, 1940. The cumulative totals were 20,251 killed, 50,413 wounded, and 141,977 missing.

The April list, including the Balkan and African campaigns and an unspecified number of losses not previously reported, showed 5,884 killed; 17,986 wounded; and 75,058 missing, most of the missing being in the East and North African fighting.

Consolidation with previous communiques gave this breakdown:

French front, 881 killed, 2,982 wounded, 315 missing; North Africa, 1,318 killed, 2,424 wounded, 91,956 missing; East Africa, 4,247 killed, 8,080 wounded, 16,335 missing; Greek and Jugo-Slav fronts, 12,155 killed, 34,786 wounded, 25,480 missing; navy, 1,068 killed, 1,152 wounded, 6,203 missing; air force, 582 killed, 989 wounded, 1,688 missing.

1,000 WOMEN ASK F.D.R. TO KEEP HIS NO WAR PROMISES

New York, May 9 [Special].—Plans for a Washington pilgrimage of 1,000 women to demand of President Roosevelt that he keep his campaign promises to keep the nation at peace and to clarify in clearcut terms the foreign policy dragging the country ever closer to war involvement were completed here today during a rally of the newly incorporated peace organization, Women United.

"President Roosevelt is in the position of breaking his word either to England or to the United States," Mrs. Kathleen Norris, noted author and honorary vice president of the new organization, told the rally. "We wish to know which it is to be!"

Forced to Break Promises.

Addressing 50 group leaders and their president, Mrs. Hall Herrick of Boston, Mrs. Norris said that "in view of the commitments of unlimited aid to Britain and his campaign promises of peace, the President will be forced inevitably to break his word—one way or the other."

"We are telegraphing a request for a five minute audience on May 14," Mrs. Norris said. "There will be no demonstrations. We are seeking only definite assurance that Mr. Roosevelt intends to abide by his repeated statement before elections that 'we will not send our army, naval, or air forces to fight in foreign lands.' We do not feel this is our war!"

Have Been Slow to Act.

Declaring that wars have been going on in Europe interminably, that nations conquered have seldom long remained so and that these situations rapidly change, she commented, "125 years ago England was as terrifying to us as Germany seems today. We have been slow in acting because government promises, which we believed until now, have kept us quiet. Now we must have an answer."

Amos R. E. Pinchot, lawyer, who also addressed the group, recalled that antiwar speakers were fewer and subjected to more intense criticisms preceding the world war.

RIPS WARLIKE SPEECHES

Warlike declarations by Secretary of War Stimson, Senators Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] and Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], and James P. Warburg, international banker, were assailed as tawdry yesterday by Attorney Harold O. McLain, president of the Executives' club, at a luncheon of that group in the Hotel Sherman.

Harold O. McLain.

"These men who state they are ready to spill blood and die for America's freedom mean actually that they are ready for our young men to die on foreign battlefields," said McLain. "Even the most jittery imagination can hardly conceive of Stimson, Pepper, Austin, and Warburg being called upon to die for their country."

Two Actors Also Speak.

McLain presided at the meeting, which also was addressed by Lillian Gish, noted actress now starring here in the play, "Life With Father," and O. Z. Whitehead, another member of the cast. Miss Gish was applauded when she characterized as a great danger signal Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's recent repudiation of the President's campaign peace promises to the American people.

McLain began by asserting that the ability to speak in public against administration war policies is proof that up to now America is still free.

"The suggestions that these elo-

AMERICA FIRST IS GRANTED USE OF PUBLIC PARK

Commissioners Act by 3 to 2 Vote.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., May 9.—The America First committee today won its fight for freedom of speech and assembly here, a victory hailed as nationally significant in upholding the committee's right to express its antiwar appeal without censorship.

Philip La Follette

At a meeting of the Miami city commissioners—where the issue hung in the balance for more than an hour—a 3 to 2 vote gave the committee the right to use public Bayfront park on the night of May 17. The decision means that Philip La Follette, former governor of Wisconsin, will speak there without providing an advance text of his address to the city commissioners.

Last week the commissioners had insisted the use of the park was dependent on their approval of the text several days before the La Follette meeting. La Follette had declared he would speak in a cow pasture before he would subject to such censorship.

Hailed as a Great Victory.

"This is a great victory for America First," read a joint statement issued by Page Hufty, chairman of the Florida state chapter of the committee, and John McKay Jr., head of the Miami committee.

"It is a victory, too, for the democratic process in this nation. We have fought this national issue here in the stronghold of Senator Pepper [Claude Pepper, Florida Democrat and leading interventionist].

"We have gained the right to tell the people of Miami and all Florida that our involvement in Europe's war would slaughter our young men and destroy our form of government."

Hufty and Jack Hagan, an incorporator of the local chapter, won their fight over the vehement opposition of Mayor Alexander Orr Jr. and Commissioner James Dunn [the mayor is a commissioner under Miami's form of government].

Tie Broken at Last Minute.

Voting for the committee's right to the park without censorship were Commissioner R. C. Gardner, Fred Hosea, and C. D. Van Orsdel. Gardner's vote, in a last minute appearance, broke the 2 to 2 tie.

Mayor Orr opened the hearing by asserting America First had no right to the park without supplying an advance manuscript from La Follette.

He admitted that an advance manuscript was not required from Douglas Fairbanks Jr., movie actor who spoke in Bayfront park seven weeks ago at an interventionist rally sponsored by the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

Dunn sided with the mayor in the arguing, but both Hosea and Orsdel contended that America First had a right to present its view.

The vote stood 2 to 2, and Mayor Orr announced America First had lost its application. Then Commissioner Gardner arrived, and, over the objection of Orr and Dunn, the matter was reopened and the motion to grant the use of the park was carried.

JAIL FRENCHMAN IN PLOT TO SET UP RULE IN AFRICA

VICHY, France, May 9 (AP).—On the eve of the first anniversary of the blitz which crushed his country in six weeks, Lieut. Pierre Mendes-France, former undersecretary of state, was sentenced to six years in prison today for attempting to move the French government to North Africa last June.

One of four French deputies with commissions—thereby making him subject to military courts—Mendes-France was convicted at Clermont-Ferrand. The formal charge was desertion in wartime.

Mendes-France and the three others who strove with him to set up a government in Morocco following the German-French armistice, were arrested in Casablanca. Two, Jean Zay and Pierre Vienot, already have been convicted. Zay was exiled while Vienot was given a suspended sentence of eight years. The fourth, Alexis Wiltzer, is still to be tried.

Believes Nazi Drive Would Be Too Costly.

opposing forces," Capt. Corpening said. "It isn't that the British haven't good planes. They simply haven't enough.

"The Spitfire is probably the best machine of the fighter type, and British bombers are at least as good as anything Germany has. But so long as the main target is so much closer to western European air fields than German main targets from England, the British must come off second best even if the air forces are equal."

Bombing, he said, was terribly costly to British buildings, but was insufficient to break morale or bring a decision. The old controversy about whether battleships can be sunk by bombers brought a comment that the British navy is still extant and the nation's best defense.

Nazis Had Seven Year Start.

"It would have been wiped out if it could have been wiped out by plane," he said.

German armament had a seven year start, Corpening recalled, and the British never have caught up, intense as their recent effort has been.

"Training of German soldiers has been exact," he said. "It is well known that they built forts like those of the Maginot line and trained each man of the attacking force in his particular rôle. This thoroness paid dividends when the blitzkrieg was started in France and the Low Countries."

Capt. Corpening spent several weeks in Berlin and found that food and other necessities, altho rationed, were adequate. He said that crops were good in 1940 and that the country had vast warehouses in which meat and other perishables were stored. No critical shortages, in his opinion, will appear soon.

War a "National Business."

"I was in Switzerland when the move into the Low Countries was made in May, 1940," he said. "I was dining with a widely traveled American, a representative of a rubber firm. He offered to bet me the Germans would be in Paris in 30 days. That seemed astounding then and I asked why he believed it. He replied that the French were disorganized, that they were paying no attention to the war and that drinking was prevalent everywhere; while the Germans were soberly going about war as a national business.

"It all turned out that way. I saw 150 French guns dragged over the Swiss border by French troops who were interned and these guns had no appearance of ever being fired.

"The Germans are not unbeatable. But to beat them you have to have troops as well equipped, as well trained, and in superior numbers. Popguns won't stand up against tanks and planes.

Tactics to Stop Tanks.

"America can do that job for herself. I think we can build even better weapons than the Germans, and there is ample time to do it—they can't attack us any more efficiently across the Atlantic than we can attack them. We can develop tactics to stop tanks, too. But nobody can develop ways to charge across 3,000 miles of water to overwhelm a strong enemy—or even across 22 miles of channel."

The success of Gen. Wavell of Great Britain against the Italians in North Africa was referred to by Capt. Corpening as one of the miracles of warfare. He is convinced the British have only 150,000 available troops in all Africa, with something like 40 per cent of them Australians and New Zealanders.

"The force that went into the desert campaign numbered only 30,000 and they didnt have rations for the campaign," he said. "They had one division equipped with second grade mechanical material. But the generalship was superb. At Sidi Barrani they adopted an old trick of Gen. Grant's at Chattanooga and ran the same tanks around and around a hill—some of the tanks were of wood and pasteboard—to make it look as tho their forces were overwhelming.

Capture Ample Supplies.

"The ruse succeeded. The British captured ample supplies for themselves and made three times their own number of Italians prisoners. They knew the enemy and the country. It was a magnificent exploit."

Capt. Corpening flew around Ethiopia on one trip from Cairo, which he reached by a roundabout trip that included a stop at Cape Town, South Africa, 5,000 miles from the Mediterranean. He saw some of the fighting on the Eritrean front.

"There, too," he said, "the British had old equipment. But that of the Italians was even worse. It was more like guerrilla warfare, with the poorly disciplined Italians fighting rear guard actions. I saw among the material captured at Sidi Barrani by the Wavell forces cannon of 1870 vintage. The Mussolini army in Eritrea had some more of the same sort."

A visit to Rome made it plain, the captain said, that the people had no stomach for war, and that their forces were ill equipped and disciplined. One anecdote he heard was that an Italian plane was fired on by Italian anti-aircraft. The plane wasn't hit, but the gunners' aim was so bad they wrecked several nearby buildings.

In Rome, as in Cairo and other cities of the British African empire, Capt. Corpening said he noted what looked like a determined effort to keep up peacetime activities. Only in the British Isles and in Germany was the war a continuous subject of talk.

"In these two countries the will to war is predominant," he said. "There was no such determination in Holland, Belgium, and Norway. Norway proved an easier conquest than even the Nazis had hoped for. With these countries, as with Jugo-Slavia and Greece, the people underestimated the Germans and were totally unprepared for what happened. Surprise, speed, air power, and demoralization of the civilian populace made the end inevitable.

British Can Hold Out.

"The Nazis have had but one alert and determined enemy—the British, and they were complacent until after Dunkirk. In my opinion they have 4,000,000 fighting men available, with equipment for them steadily growing better. I do not think they have any intention of weakening their home defense to send more mechanized divisions to Africa. With these soldiers, with this equipment and with the still unconquered navy in action, the British can hold out indefinitely."

Capt. Corpening interviewed American army observers in nearly every country he visited.

"Without exception," he said, "they were agreed on two points. One was that the United States should not make warlike gestures anywhere until our mechanics have caught up with the German mechanics. The other is that nowhere in Africa or Europe would it be possible, granted this equality in armaments, to meet the Germans with an equal chance of success. Those continents are too far away."

JAP OFFICER SAYS WAR AGAINST U. S. IS 'HIGHLY UNLIKELY'

SAIGON, French Indo-China, May 9 (AP).—The chief of the Japanese military mission in South Indo-China, Col. Jiro Saito, today said it was "highly unlikely" that Japan would go to war against the United States in the South Pacific, even if the United States should enter the European war.

"There are many loopholes," he said, in Japan's agreement with the axis insofar as it concerns Japan's relation to the European conflict. "Japan will fight only if attacked," Saito maintained.

[The tripartite pact among Japan, Germany, and Italy has been interpreted as binding Japan to go to war against the United States if the United States enters the war against Germany and Italy.]

Predominant opinion in Indo-China is to the effect that Japan stands to lose vital imports and a highly advantageous economic position in Indo-China if she should participate in a South Pacific war.

Will Talk Peace Thru U. S.

TOKIO, May 10, Saturday (AP).—The newspaper Nichi Nichi today quoted Japan's ambassador to Nanking as saying Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was determined that Japan must negotiate any possible peace move with his government thru the United States.

U. S. RAIDERS SEIZE ITALIAN WAITERS IN FASHIONABLE HOTELS

New York, May 9 [Special].—Thirty-five persons were arrested today by immigration inspectors and city detectives who invaded fashionable hotels, clubs, and restaurants in the second roundup of the week of foreigners suspected of being in this country illegally. A total of 160 German seamen were seized in raids in several cities Wednesday.

Those taken in today's raids were Italians, mostly waiters. Among the places employing aliens were the Ritz-Carlton, Ambassador and Pierre hotels. Those arrested were taken to Ellis Island where they joined 144 German seamen and two German newsmen held without bail for deportation hearings.

Today's arrests came on Italy's "empire foundation day," the fifth anniversary of the founding of the modern Italian empire with the conquest of Ethiopia.

SINK NAZI RAIDER IN INDIAN OCEAN; SAVE 53 OF CREW

LONDON, May 9 (AP).—The admiralty today announced the sinking of the first German surface raider since the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee went up in smoke at Montevideo, Uruguay, in December, 1939.

The eight inch rifles of the 10,000 ton cruiser Cornwall sent the Nazi ship, believed to have been the 21,131 ton former trans-Atlantic liner Hansa, to the bottom of the Indian ocean.

Only 53 German survivors of the original crew of 300 were picked up by the Cornwall, the admiralty communique said. Twenty-seven British merchant seamen were rescued from the ship.

FRENCH TO GET 2 SHIPLOADS OF WHEAT A MONTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—The United States has agreed to supply unoccupied France with two shiploads of wheat a month, Gaston Henry-Haye, French ambassador, announced today after a conference with Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles.

Gaston Henry-Haye.

The plan for regular shipments of American wheat to unoccupied France was made after two freighters, loaded with wheat, made a successful experimental voyage to France. The shipment was made in French freighters under supervision of the American Red Cross. These two loads were paid for by the United States government. Future loads will be purchased with frozen French assets in this country.

The first two freighters carried a combined cargo of 13,500 tons of wheat. The first two ships, under the new arrangement, are expected to carry 15,000 tons of the grain before the end of June.

Australian Unemployment at Lowest Level Since '11

MELBOURNE, Australia, May 9.—Unemployment in the dominion has declined 5.3 per cent to the lowest figure since trade union returns began in 1911. It is estimated that only 3 per cent of the employable population was unemployed at the end of March, the unemployed being estimated at 85,000. Some 300,000 jobs in defense industries were filled by persons not working before the war, with the total employés estimated at 2,269,000.

BRITISH BLAST AT BERLIN AND INVASION BASES

Germans Bomb Liverpool and Midlands Again.

BERLIN, May 10, Saturday (AP).—Berlin and a large city in southern Germany apparently were the principal targets of the British royal air force last night in bombing forays against the reich, authorized Germans said today.

The British bombers were said to have flown into northwestern and southwestern Germany.

Damage to property, the German sources said, was not ascertainable immediately, but it was added that there would be losses among the civilian populace.

In Berlin one thickly populated residential district was reported hit with several apartment buildings destroyed and a number of persons killed and injured.

Apartment Buildings Blasted.

Hull, one of northeast England's most important ports, was raided heavily last night for the second successive night, the Germans announced. They said that Nottingham, Sheffield, Derby, Plymouth, and Barrow also were among the main objectives, as were at least 20 airports in south central England.

In the war at sea, the Germans said a submarine returning from a recent cruise reported sinking in the north Atlantic four British merchantmen totalling more than 20,000 tons.

British Attack Heavily.

LONDON, May 10, Saturday (AP).—Royal air force bombers loosed heavy attacks last night on Mannheim, in southwestern Germany, and on German invasion bases on the French coast, while British night fighters over England shot down three more German warplanes, the British asserted today.

The German attacks on England, altho widespread, were described as on "a much reduced scale." A communique said the number of casualties reported was not large, but that some damage was done in a town in northwest England.

The RAF attacks followed up the greatest British air raid of the war, which wrought fiery destruction on Bremen and Hamburg.

Hundreds of Bombers.

With 300 to 400 bombers participating, Britain lashed her hardest blows at those cities in a determined campaign to kill the Nazi submarine menace at its source. Next on the program apparently was a smash at any invasion plans the Nazis might be hatching.

Tons of explosives and tens of thousands of incendiary bombs were dropped on Bremen and Hamburg, the air ministry said. Lighter blows were directed at Emden, Berlin, the U-boat base at St. Nazaire, France, and airdromes in France and Belgium.

Use American Planes.

American made Havoc [Douglas DB7] bombers were used in the raids on the airports. These planes, the air ministry said, have become within a few weeks of service with the RAF "one of the most successful types in operation."

The German luftwaffe, which countered the British raids with destructive pounding at vital British ports, particularly along the Humber river, returned there and to the Midlands again last night and this morning. Liverpool also was raided again, but the intensity of all attacks was said to have been below that of Thursday.

Accuser and Accused

SYLVIA HAMALAINE.

[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

VIRGINIA LOPEZ.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 9 (AP).—Donald MacKay, a lawyer, charged in court today that "members of the district attorney's office seem to be very anxious to protect certain people in the film industry from involvement" in a morals scandal.

MacKay, attorney for Virginia Lopez, 31 years old, on trial on charges of contributing to the delinquency of Sylvia Hamalaine, 16, of Hibbing, Minn., added: "I would like to show that far worse things happened to her at the hands of others than occurred at the hands of my client."

Ernest Roll, deputy district attorney, retorted that MacKay apparently was trying to smear certain persons in Hollywood. Another deputy, Percy Hammond, in charge of the grand jury investigation, demanded an apology.

MacKay apologized but insisted that other members of the district attorney's office were reluctant to investigate purportedly wild parties which Miss Lopez charged had been held in film colony homes and attended by her and Miss Hamalaine.

Canadian Warplane Crash Kills American; 2d Saved

VICTORIA, B. C., May 9 (AP).—One American instructor with the Canadian royal air force was killed and another American parachuted to safety today when a plane the instructor was piloting crashed at Keatings, 11 miles from here. The dead instructor was J. Dawson, who came to the Canadian air force from Burbank, Cal. The survivor is S. E. McMann, of Denver.

106 SHIPS SUNK IN APRIL; BRITISH LOSSES PUT AT 60

London Says 488,124 Tons Sent to Bottom.

LONDON, May 10, Saturday (AP).—British, allied, and neutral merchant shipping losses in April were 106 ships totaling 488,124 tons, the ministry of information announced early today. This was the highest monthly toll announced since the start of the war. The previous high was slightly more than 463,000 tons, in June, 1940, a month which included the Dunkirk withdrawal losses.

The April losses covered the withdrawal from Greece.

Worst month of shipping losses in the world war was April, 1917, when nearly 1,000,000 tons of allied shipping were sunk, 60 per cent of it British. Britain later was acknowledged to have had only a six weeks' supply of food remaining.

Division of Losses.

The text of the announcement:

"In view of various statements which have been made from German and other sources the ministry of information announced the following figures of mercantile losses due to enemy action in the month of April, 1941:

"British: 60 ships of 293,089 tons; allied: 43 ships of 189,473 tons; neutral: 3 ships of 5,562 tons; total: 106 ships of 488,124 tons."

[The German high command last Saturday said British shipping losses for April totaled 1,211,000 tons and a German military spokesman said 360,000 tons of this had been sunk in the Balkan campaign, plus 540,000 tons badly damaged. British shipping losses since the start of the war are nearly 11,000,000 tons, German sources asserted.]

Nazis Sink Submarine.

BERLIN, May 10 [Saturday] (AP).—German dive bombers sank a British submarine and severely damaged a destroyer Friday in attacking a strongly protected convoy south of Malta, DNB, official German news agency, reported today.

In addition, it said two merchant ships totaling about 9,000 tons were sunk Thursday night and an additional 28,000 tons so severely damaged that their loss was considered certain.

12 BRITISH SHIPS HIT IN AIR RAID ON CONVOY: ITALIANS

ROME, May 9 (AP).—An Italian and German air fleet has pounced upon a powerful British Mediterranean naval squadron and convoy near the Straits of Sicily and hit 12 warships or merchant vessels in day and night attacks with bombs and torpedoes, the Italians announced today.

Two battleships, an aircraft carrier, two cruisers, and a destroyer were the warships which, Italian accounts said, were hit. Sixteen planes off the aircraft carrier were reported shot down as they tried to fight off axis aircraft. Five Italian planes were acknowledged lost.

The Italian stories, including a high command bulletin, said the battle took place Thursday.

Italian forces, the high command said, have occupied the Greek islands of Samos and Furni, off the Turkish coast north of Italy's Dodecanese.

URGE PRESIDENT TO DECLARE FULL U. S. EMERGENCY

Interventionists Ask All-Out Action.

New York, May 9 (AP).—President Roosevelt was urged tonight to declare "a full state of national emergency" and to engage "the full strength and power of the United States in the common cause" by the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

Issuing a new statement of basic policy, the committee, headed by former Senator Ernest W. Gibson of Vermont, called upon the people to ask the President and congress "for the immediate enactment" of six specific measures to meet "Hitler's threat to our liberties."

The steps included: Use of the navy and air force to safeguard the lifeline to the British Isles; employment of united military resources to protect the North Atlantic, South Atlantic, and Pacific against "further axis aggression"; effective aid to China, with a rigid embargo against Japan; freezing of axis assets in this country, and control of subversive propaganda and sabotage.

SEES CONVOYS LIKELY

An indication that American merchant ships will be used to carry war goods to Britain and American naval vessels used to convoy the freighters was given last night by Brig. Gen. William I. Westervelt, U. S. A., retired. Gen. Westervelt spoke before 1,000 persons at a "Stop Hitler" rally of the Chicago Committee to Defend America, held in the Auditorium theater.

"It seems clear," he asserted, "that the President is out to beat the submarine and air attacks on United States goods moving to Britain. It appears certain the President is determined that Britain shall not be strangled while America sits on the side lines—while arguments prevent action.

Urges Continued Aid.

"Our chief of state is aware of the warm encouragement of the American people. We in Chicago and the midwest petition him to carry on in every necessary item.

"It has been stated that United States patrols will and should push out wherever necessary to warn of air, submarine, and surface raider movements, that American merchant ships will be mobilized when war goods pile up on our docks because of British shipping losses, that our patrols will return the fire if fired upon."

America First Leaders Assailed.

Keynoting the meeting were attacks on Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], Charles A. Lindbergh, Henry Ford, and other proponents of keeping America out of war. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE also was attacked.

Prof. Francis E. McMahon of Notre Dame university, vice president of the Catholic Association of International Peace, said, "Lindbergh, Wheeler, and Ford are pacifists who want to make a deal with the gangsters [axis nations]." He explained his belligerent stand by saying there are "things worse than war."

CHARGES IRAQ'S 'BLUNDER' HARMS CAUSE OF ARABS

Turks Believe Nation Was Tricked Into War.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ANKARA, Turkey, May 9.—Madji Shefket, Iraq's minister of war, has arrived here on a mysterious and important mission which expected to draw Turkey closer to the tangled situation developing in the near east. Foreign circles in Ankara believe that he wants the Turks again to attempt to mediate the undeclared war between the new Iraqi government and Britain.

[Another dispatch from Ankara said Iraq's minister of war had discussed possibilities of mediation with Turkish officials. It said he had told the Turks that Iraq demanded the withdrawal of all but 2,000 British troops as a prime requisite for making peace.]

Undoubtedly he would like Turkish help against the British. The Turks not only are sticking to their British alliance, but also feel that the Iraqis played the Germans' game by stirring up trouble and should not be encouraged.

Hint He Wants to See Papen.

Iraq diplomats here refuse to comment on the war ministers' visit. The Turks profess ignorance of his aims. Only two things are important enough to take the minister of war away in time of war—to get military aid or start peace negotiations.

Another theory is that he wants to confer with Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey. Von Papen is expected to return from Berlin tomorrow.

The general feeling in this part of the world is that the Iraqis blundered when they started to fight the British.

An Arab source said that the Iraqis damaged the cause of Arab freedom by making trouble at the wrong time. If the British subdue the Iraqis, he said, they no longer would give them as much freedom as the Iraqis possessed. On the other hand, he said, the Iraqis could win only if the Germans helped them, which would mean coming under Germany's thumb.

Claims Iraqis Were Tricked.

Most Iraqis consider they have been led into war with the false idea that it was merely a matter of driving a few British troops from the country and that everybody would be better off.

"Iraqi brothers," one newspaper said, "you are heading blindfold into an abyss."

The paper added that it was its sacred duty to tell the Iraqis that they had been "abominably deceived."

There also is an immediate and practical reason why the war worries the Turks. Basra, Iraq port on the Persian gulf, was their last convenient way of getting imports from the outside world. Iran [Persia] now is their only neighbor not involved in war and the Turks are trying to get supplies that way, but it is complicated.

Freight Tied Up.

Thousands of dollars in freight are tied up, including agricultural machinery, automobiles, and tires. The Persian route would involve shipping up the River Karum from Basra to the Persian port of Ahwaz, thence by rail to Teheran, and then by truck to the Turkish frontier. It would be expensive, but the Turks need the goods.

Turkey, while trying to keep out of war, is pushing defense preparations as fast as possible. Authorities are investigating to see whether everybody has taken the required training in defense. Every Turk between the ages of 15 and 60 years is required to attend 15 hours of training in air raid defense.

Ireland Buys U. S. Ship to Carry Food Supplies

DUBLIN, Ireland, May 10 [Saturday] (AP).—An Irish crew was signed on today to man a small freighter purchased in the United States for shipment of wheat, tea, and coffee from New Jersey to Ireland. The vessel, whose identity was not disclosed, will be transferred to Irish registry. Belligerents will be informed when the vessel is ready to depart.

MOSCOW SEVERS TIES WITH 3 NAZI RULED COUNTRIES

See Stalin Moving to Ease Tension.

MOSCOW, May 9 (AP).—Russia today withdrew her recognition of three German occupied countries whose emigre governments are allied with the British, and diplomatic sources believed Josef Stalin, in his first act as premier, was patching up his differences with Germany.

The foreign office sent notes to the ministers of Jugo-Slavia, Belgium, and Norway, notifying them their ministerial powers had lost validity. Only a month ago Jugo-Slavia and the soviet union negotiated a friendship agreement.

Foreign diplomats saw in this an indication of a new understanding with Germany, one by which Stalin hopes to further the soviet policy of peace and neutrality. Whether it means Russia will join the axis cannot be foretold.

Nazi Envoy Returns.

In any event, diplomatic circles believe the situation has changed since the German ambassador, Count Friedrich Werner von der Schulenberg, returned to Moscow a week ago after talking to Hitler.

German-soviet tension appears to have relaxed after the period in which Russia concluded her friendship pact with Jugo-Slavia [one day prior to the German invasion of that country], reaffirmed her nonaggression pact with Turkey, rebuked Bulgaria for accepting German occupation, and criticized Hungary for invading Jugo-Slavia in the Germans' wake.

Massing of Troops Denied.

Today's press reflected the renewed trend toward good relations with Germany. It displayed prominently reports of the axis air raid upon the Suez canal Wednesday night and of David Lloyd George's abstention from the vote of confidence which the British house of commons gave to Prime Minister Churchill Wednesday.

Only yesterday, too, a communique announced Russia was not massing armed forces on her western frontiers and did not intend to do so.

All this came hard on the heels of Stalin's assumption of the premiership from Molotov, leaving the latter as foreign minister and vice premier.

IRAQ'S ARMY SCATTERS OVER THE DESERT WITH THE BRITISH IN PURSUIT

CAIRO, Egypt, May 9 (AP).—With British armored forces and airmen in pursuit, Iraq's army has scattered over the desert, strewing the sands behind them with armored cars, trucks, and cannon, a British communique said tonight. The Iraqis were retreating toward Ramadi and Falluja.

The British destroyed the Iraq air force of about 25 planes. The air force was left high and dry by the failure of Germany to fulfill a promise for delivery of a number of planes by May 2.

Heavy casualties were inflicted in routing Iraqis who attacked the British held airdrome at Habbaniyah a week ago. The airdrome is 60 miles west of Bagdad.

The British communique said Iraq airdromes at Sharaban, Baquba, and Hanaida had been bombed.

American built Douglas troop transports which flew reenforcements to Habbaniyah from India returned to Basra, at the head of the Persian gulf, with 200 persons from the airdrome battle area.

CHINA ASSURED BRITAIN TO KEEP BURMA ROAD OPEN

CHUNGKING, China, May 9 (AP).—Sir Archibald Kerr, British ambassador to China, tonight reaffirmed Britain's policy of friendship for this nation and declared the supply road from Burma will remain open. He issued the statement a few hours after a Japanese air raid which damaged his own residence and caused some 200 Chinese casualties.

Between 60 and 80 planes participated in the raid. They caused widespread damage. Most of the casualties were Yangtze river folk who did not go to the city's dugout rock shelters. Chinese youngsters risked their lives to gather fish killed by bombs falling in the Yangtze.

Window panes were shattered at the British ambassador's home. The raiders appeared to steer clear of the soviet embassy, which was damaged last year.

BRITISH RAID AXIS FORCES IN TORRID DESERT FIGHTING

Heat Stops All Operations Around Tobruk.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 9 (AP).—British mechanized forces, operating in a choking sandstorm and the hottest desert weather in 25 years, were reported making vigorous raids today against the stalled axis forces in the Sollum sector of the Egyptian-Libyan frontier.

Some idea of the blistering heat in which the operations were carried out could be had in Cario, where the thermometer registered 117 degrees in the shade. In parts of the desert it was even hotter.

At Tobruk, Libya, British held port 80 miles from the Egyptian border, the combined sand and heat blitz forced a halt in operations altogether.

British Bombard Bengazi.

ROME, May 9 (AP).—The British fleet and air force, in an assault similar to their combined bombardment of Tripoli on April 22, attacked the Libyan port of Bengazi Wednesday night, but caused few casualties and "unimportant damage," the Italians announced today.

Bengazi is about 350 miles from the Egyptian-Libyan frontier where axis forces driving toward the Suez canal have been battling the British for weeks.

Italian troops have regained a position in the Amba Alaji sector of northern Ethiopia after losing it to the British, the high command announced.

"Considerable losses" were inflicted on the British, who had occupied the position after a big artillery and air offensive. The Amba Alaji sector, 280 miles northeast of Addis Ababa, has been the scene of heavy action for several days.

[In London a British source said British troops had captured an Italian machine gun company and occupied more ground around Amba Alaji. From 30,000 to 33,000 Italian troops still are resisting in Ethiopia, this source said.]

Selassie to Raise Army.

New York, May 9 (AP).—Emperor Haile Selassie, just returned to his Ethiopian capital after five years of exile while his land was under Italian rule, announced today he would organize a large force of fully trained Ethiopian troops to serve anywhere in Africa or Asia with the British. The announcement was broadcast by the British Broadcasting corporation.

Texas Tornado Kills Two; Many Others Are Injured

Plainview, Tex., May 9 (AP).—A tornado killed a farmer and his wife late today after wrecking their home and carrying their bodies into a field 200 yards away. A score or mor eothers were injured and several other homes demolished by the wind which swept an area 20 miles long.

CHARGES BRITISH INTERESTS IN U. S. PROFIT IN POTASH

Nye Says They Also Sell Vital Item to Japs.

Washington, D. C., May 9 (AP).—Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] told the senate today that a "British managed colony on American soil" has been "extracting huge profits" from potash and mineral production and had been shipping bromide, an important item in preparedness, to Japan.

Nye said the "colony" is the American Potash and Chemical corporation, located in the Mojave desert in California and employing 1,200 workers.

Tells of Mysterious Deal.

British interests sold ownership of the corporation in 1929 "to a mysterious group of Dutch companies which have never been identified," Nye declared.

"Here then," he added, "is the picture we are confronted with, that of a British managed colony on American soil, extracting huge profits from a vital defense industry, transmitting these profits to a mysterious group of so-called Dutch interests, and until recently, at least, shipping some of these vital products to Japan."

Seeks More Information.

Nye said he was referring his speech to the justice department and the treasury in an effort to get additional information.

"This foreign owned and foreign directed plant is the largest potash and mineral producer of its kind in the world," he said. "From its factories in California come large quantities of bromide, which is an essential ingredient in the conversion of ordinary gasoline into high grade aviation gasoline and which is used in the manufacture of poison gas. One of its largest customers is our potential enemy, Japan."

Jarecki on Bench for 25 Years

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Harry A. Lipsky (left) and Mabel G. Reinecke, election commissioners, presenting gavel to Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday in honor of his 25th anniversary of service on the bench.

Congratulations of friends poured in to County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki's chambers yesterday in honor of his 25th anniversary of service on the bench in Chicago.

Mrs. Kinga Jarecki, his wife, and his two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Conrad and Miss Marie Jarecki, visited him in the courtroom, where many bouquets were arranged.

"The years have passed so quickly, have been so eventful at times, it's hard to realize there have been 25 of them," Judge Jarecki commented. "Some of those years have been tough ones—but I've thoroly enjoyed them all."

Judge Jarecki ascended the Municipal court bench in 1914 and served until he was defeated in 1920. In 1922 he was elected to the County judgeship and has served in that capacity since.

WHEELER DOUBTS PRESIDENT WILL ORDER CONVOYS

Says He Will Not Dare to Oppose Public.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] today expressed the opinion that President Roosevelt will not dare to take this country into an undeclared war by ordering armed escorts for munitions shipments to England.

Notwithstanding the current administration propaganda drive for convoys, led by members of the President's cabinet, Mr. Roosevelt realizes that the people are overwhelmingly opposed to war and will not risk the consequences of leading them into the European war, Wheeler said.

Others Expect Announcement.

The Montana senator, who has just returned from a crosscountry antiwar speaking tour, disagreed with the widespread opinion in congress that Mr. Roosevelt soon will make a sensational move toward shooting participation in the war. There is an increasing impression in congress that the President will make such an announcement in a speech next week.

"I don't think the President has any right under the constitution to send convoys into the combat areas," Wheeler said. "He'd have to ask congress for legislation authorizing such action. I've never believed that he'd order convoys without asking congress for authority.

"The inconsistency of the interventionists is apparent. On the one hand, they are saying we ought to go to war to preserve democracy, while on the other hand they are urging the President to use convoys in an undeclared war, thereby disregarding the constitution and the wishes of an overwhelming majority of the people of the United States.

Thinks President Knows.

"I think the President realizes what the public sentiment is and I don't believe he's going to take a chance on going contrary to that overwhelming sentiment," Wheeler said.

Senator Wheeler assailed not only the war-like speeches of the Roosevelt cabinet officers but also those of Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, John Maynard Keynes, and other British spokesmen in this country.

"The American people resent the fact that these foreigners are trying to involve us in the war by giving us free advice on how to run our country when they've made such a miserable failure with their own," the senator said.

FINED $100 IN MOVIE FIRE SCARE.

Victor Sobanski, 67 years old, a casual, was sentenced yesterday by Municipal Judge Leon Edelman to work out a $100 fine in the Bridewell for building a fire in the alley next to the Peoples theater, 1620 West 47th street, Thursday night to keep warm. Half of the theater patrons were driven out by the smoke.

U. S. IS ALREADY IN WAR, BOASTS CAPTAIN JIMMY

President's Son Answers a Question in Cairo.

CAIRO, May 9 (AP).—Capt. James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President, here as an observer for the United States marine corps, expressed the opinion today that the United States, "except for sending troops, already is in the war."

The President's son made the statement in response to a question whether he thought the United States could best aid Britain by entering the war or staying out of it longer.

He arrived here last night from an overnight stay in Basra, Iraq.

Young Roosevelt said he brought a letter from the President to King Farouk of Egypt. The contents of the letter caused widespread speculation in Egyptian quarters.

[President Roosevelt told newspaper men a week ago that he had not the faintest idea of what his son was doing on his trip and that they would have to ask the marine corps to find out.]

Marine Corps Is Silent.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—The United States marine corps, which glories in its traditions and esprit de corps, today met with icy silence inquiries on the activities of Capt. James Roosevelt in Egypt.

Dispatches from Cairo quoted Capt. Jimmy as saying the United States, "except for sending troops, already is in the war." The marine corps was asked whether it is customary for its observers to grant interviews to the press on arriving at their stations of duty. The answer was the corps had no comment to make on the press reports.

Asked About Authority.

The corps was asked whether Capt. Jimmy was speaking for his father in view of the fact he is bearing a letter from Mr. Roosevelt to King Farouk of Egypt. The answer was that the corps had no knowledge of the letter, that was a private matter between the captain and the commander in chief.

Marine corps officers regard Capt. Jimmy as a carpet bagger officer, who has used his White House influence to snag a good assignment for which he possesses no qualifications.

A few months ago on being summoned to active service with the marines Jimmy distinguished himself by marching his company up against a stone wall. He regarded his summons to active service as a lark and spent some time dictating letters on marine stationery to business prospects.

LINDBERGH WILL SPEAK TONIGHT IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., May 9 [Special].—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh returns to his antiwar campaign tomorrow night with a speech in the Minneapolis auditorium under auspices of the America First committee, Minneapolis chapter. It will be Lindbergh's first public appearance since he drew 15,000 persons into the St. Louis arena last Saturday. His speech will be heard over the Columbia Broadcasting system [WBBM in Chicago] from 9:15 to 9:45 o'clock, central daylight time.

Senator Henrik Shipstead [R., Minn.] also will speak, and Monte Appel, chairman of the Minnesota chapter of the America First committee will preside.

Request Interview at White House.

quent speakers might die in battle, or that such capitalists as Warburg might become slaves is school girl hyperbole," McLain continued. "These are metaphorical statements and imaginative figments of old men.

"It is tawdry of 70 year old sages to include themselves with the young men who will have to die if we go to war. It is, of course, very eloquent of old men to die by proxy.

"But why don't they let the young men who will have to fight the war declare it?"

Miss Gish summarized the evils that followed the last war, a war in which America was victorious, and urged that if there is to be another one the people who will have to pay for it be allowed to declare it by vote. During a forum after her talk, Miss Gish was asked what she thought of Mrs. Roosevelt's denial 10 days ago that the President had promised to keep the nation out of war.

Cites Wilson's Record.

"It is a great danger signal," she replied. "Mr. Roosevelt's speech at Woodrow Wilson's birthplace last week was another. Wilson realized the futility of the League of Nations plan and died a broken man. We cannot remake Europe according to our plan, but we can preserve ourselves and stand together for the future as the hope of the world. Let us remind the President that his promises are the reason he is in the White House."

Whitehead spoke for the young men who will be called to arms if war comes. The youth of today, he said, is not so naïve as to believe that a war on foreign soil would save democracy. He urged that all young men join the America First committee and appeal to senators and congressmen to keep America out of war.

Delivery in June

The first of 500 28½ ton tanks being built for the British government by the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company will be completed late this month in the company's Hammond plant, officials announced yesterday. Delivery is expected to be started in June.

The tanks are understood to be powered by 400 horsepower airplane type radial engines, and have as armament one 75 mm. gun, one 37 mm. gun, two .50 caliber machine guns and two .30 caliber machine guns.

Chilean Government Takes Over 2 More Danish Ships

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 9 (AP).—The government today announced the requisitioning of two more Danish merchant ships which had sought refuge since the start of the European war in the harbor at Talcahuano. The ships, the Selma and Lila, will be used in the Chilean coastal service. The action brought to five the total of Danish vessels requisitioned by Chile.

HINT VICHY WILL PERMIT NAZIS TO PASS THRU SYRIA

LONDON, May 9 (AP). — Reuters [British news agency] quoted the Berlin correspondent of the Swiss Basler Nachrichten today as reporting it was believed that the Vichy government had agreed to the passage of German troops thru French provinces and mandated territories—including Syria.

This, it was reported, was thought to be Germany's price for German concessions concerning the occupation of the French homeland. Syria, the correspondent was quoted as saying, now seems to be "at Germany's disposal."

Darlan Goes to Paris.

VICHY, France, May 9 (AP).—Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan left today for Paris by special train to continue negotiations with the Germans.

Petain to Return to Vichy.

New York, May 9 (AP).—The German wireless said late today it was announced officially in Vichy that Marshal Petain would return to that capital of unoccupied France Saturday, thus setting at rest reports that he was seriously ill. The French chief of state has been on the Riviera for several days.

OIL, COPPER AND RUBBER FREEDOM TRUMPS: HALIFAX

British Envoy Forecasts Production Gains.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 9 (AP).—Oil, copper and crude rubber were named as "the trump cards in the hands of freedom" today by Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States.

Fortunately, he said in an address to the Minneapolis Rotary club, "there are signs that the time is approaching when every unit of totalitarian production will be met by two units of free production, and here I mean not only industrial output but raw materials and foodstuffs as well.

"And the day must soon come when the Nazis will no longer be able to find fresh loot as they have found it in France, Holland, Denmark and other ravaged countries, and will be forced to draw still deeper on their reserves.

Sees Reserves Melting.

"Gradually the deluded people of Germany will discover that the essential reserves of supply for which they have slaved and starved and foregone their liberty are exhausted and that they are left to face the crushing strength of the forces of freedom, armed, fed, supplied and inspired by the limitless resources of America's gigantic wealth and help.

"When the history of that day is written it will be clear that the genius of industrial coördination will have played an equal part with the genius of military strategy."

The ambassador emphasized that in a war so specialized, in which machinery is playing a decisive rôle, the raw materials which make and drive that machinery are playing an even more important part.

Control 3 Commodites.

"I take three of the most essential," Lord Halifax said. "Oil is the vital source of power for the modern army, and together the United States and the British commonwealth of nations dispose of some 70 per cent of the world supply. Eighty-five per cent of the world's copper is still beyond Hitler's reach and no less than 91 per cent of the crude rubber.

"These are the trump cards in the hands of freedom."

Lord Halifax asserted that "the key men of the present war are the designers and draughtsmen, the skilled workers in the factories, and the intrepid pilots and gunners who use these products of the war industry and who must in turn be equally skilled."

"Courage and endurance are still needed," he added, "but by themselves they are as useless as the courage of savages against rifles and machine guns."

The answer to the question "can Hitler be defeated," the ambassador said, "lies partly here in your great mills, ship building plants, and factories, and partly in the resolution of the British people."

BLAST IN MINE KILLS ONE WORKER; THREE OTHERS ARE INJURED

Bicknell, Ind., May 9 [Special].—Dan Berry, 50 years old, Bicknell coal miner, was killed, and William Lloyd, 40, also of Bicknell, mine cutting machine operator, was burned seriously in an explosion in the Panhandle Coal mine near here today.

James Shaw and Clarence Davidson of Bicknell, member of a crew which entered the mine to inspect the damage from the explosion, were injured when caught by a fall of slate loosened by the explosion.

An investigation is being conducted by Ed Rogers of Linton, mine inspector, to determine the cause of the explosion.

SAVE OUR SONS PLEAS TO PILE UP IN WHITE HOUSE

Substantial progress in the campaign to place a million antiwar telegrams and letters in the White House tomorrow—Mother's day—was reported yesterday by national headquarters of the America First committee. More than 200,000 women already have sent "save our sons" pleas to President Roosevelt, according to reports from 700 local chapters. Mothers everywhere are responding to urgings contained in a leaflet which declares against convoys and foreign wars, and demands that peace promises be kept. The telegrams and letters are being timed to reach the President today or tomorrow. Illinois chapters of the America First committee received more than 75,000 SOS leaflets.

REVEAL SAILING OF U.S. SHIPS ON RED SEA ROUTE

Delivery of Aid to Britain Strongly Indicated.

Washington, D. C., May 9 (AP).—The direct, or almost direct, delivery of American supplies to British forces in the middle east was strongly indicated today by a maritime commission announcement that American ships soon would be sailing into the Red sea.

At the same time, the commission said that sailings to China would be increased in the near future, which some interpreted to mean American help to that country in its war with Japan would be stepped up correspondingly. Details of the sailings and of the cargoes to be carried to China and to the Red sea were carefully kept secret.

Vital Area Involved.

The Red sea constitutes the eastern approach to the Suez canal, a vital point in the British system of empire transportation. While major fighting continued between British and Italian forces in Ethiopia and elsewhere in Eastern Africa, the Red sea was defined as a "combat zone" and American vessels were forbidden to enter it.

Several weeks ago, however, President Roosevelt removed it from that classification and said American vessels could go all the way into the Suez canal.

The reported half million British troops guarding the Suez against capture by axis forces and other British troops fighting in Iraq for vital oil, require a supply line over which vast quantities of food and munitions can be delivered. The supposition here is that to an important degree this is to be the Red sea route, with American ships carrying the cargoes. This would release British vessels which have been carrying supplies by way of the Mediterranean for much needed service in the Atlantic and elsewhere.

Germany Challenges Aid.

Meanwhile it was reliably reported that the German government has challenged the aid to Britain program for the first time, in a note delivered to the state department dealing with pending legislation to authorize the use of axis ships recently taken into protective custody in this country. It was learned that the note made two points:

1. That the legislation would permit the confiscation of private property owned by foreigners.

2. That President Roosevelt could not properly claim the existence of a natural shipping emergency since the shortage of ships was the consequence of releasing vessels to Britain.

The second point was said to be the first formal German reference to this country's policy of assistance to England. Germany was said also to have protested that the requisitioning of two German ships now in protective custody would violate international law and the 1923 German-American commercial treaty.

Bradley Votes Against Ship Requisition Bill

Washington, D. C., May 9 [Special].—Representative Fred Bradley [R., Mich.], who consistently opposed the bill to requisition foreign ships, was erroneously recorded by the tally clerk as voting for the measure when it was passed by the house last Wednesday. In the house today he obtained unanimous consent for the correction of the permanent record to show that he voted against the bill.

Retrieve Retriever

[Associated Press Photo.]

Royce and Joyce Haley with Spot.

Detroit, Mich., May 9 (AP).—Spot, an English setter, had his day in court today to get his ownership straightened out.

Rufus Haley of Romeo, Mich., testified before Common Pleas Judge L. Eugene Sharp that Spot disappeared from his home last winter, altho he never had shown any inclination to run away. He said he later found the dog with Harry Powell of Detroit.

"I'd know Spot any time," Haley told the court. "He's a good hunter and a fine retriever."

"That proves Spot is not his dog," Powell told the judge. "Spot is no good as a retriever."

Testimony brought out that Powell had bought the dog for $13 in good faith. However Judge Sharp decided Spot was the property of Haley.

Most joyful over the decision were Joyce Haley, 4 years old, and her brother, Royce Jr., 2, niece and nephew of Haley, who said "Spot is our pet."

STATE TO SEEK LARGER SHARE OF ARMS WORK

Members of the Illinois State Defense council voted yesterday to send a five man delegation to Washington, D. C., early next week in an attempt to bring Illinois a larger share of federal armament construction and production.

This action was decided on at a four hour meeting in the Union League club. Of $300,000,000 in arms contracts awarded by the government this week, Illinois received less than $1,000,000.

The Washington delegation to confer with federal officials will be headed by Murray M. Baker, Peoria industrialist and vice chairman of the defense council, and Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross, secretary of the council. Its other members will be State Senator Harold G. Ward, Carter Jenkins, chief engineer of the state division of waterways, who was appointed temporary coördinator of the defense council yesterday, and J. Fletcher Lankton, Peoria architect active in federal housing work.

Gov. Dwight H. Green, chairman of the council, presided at yesterday's meeting, which was attended by 25 members. Among them were Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond of Chicago, Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer; Oscar G. Mayer, State Senator Arnold P. Bensen, Speaker of the House Elmer Schnackenberg, and State Representative Frederick W. Rennick.

Chicago offices will be opened next week at 120 South La Salle street.

Italian War Vets' Benefit Canceled at U. S. Request

New York, May 9 (AP).—At the request of the state department, an Italian relief benefit concert scheduled for Sunday was canceled today by the Federation of Italian World War Veterans in the U. S. A., Inc.

TURN VOCATIONAL SCHOOL INTO U. S. TRAINING CENTER

Naval, Arms Workers to Be Developed There.

The new $3,500,000 Chicago Vocational school at 87th street and Anthony avenue, unoccupied since its completion about nine months ago, will be turned over June 1 to the training of naval aviation mechanics and workers in the rearmament industries, it was learned yesterday.

Plans have been completed for turning out 1,000 naval aviation mechanics every four months. One wing of the school has been set aside for these classes. The signal and storekeepers' school now at the naval armory will be moved to Toledo, O., late this month to make room for quartering the students here.

Four Other Units Planned.

Training of the mechanics is part of a program, as yet unannounced, which will include similar training units at Toledo, Detroit, Mich., Indianapolis, Ind., and St. Louis, Mo. The Chicago unit will be the largest. Opening of these centers will bring the enrollment of naval aviation mechanics in midwestern schools to about 3,450.

Plans also are being made to train 3,000 to 4,000 youths at the school in basic machine shop operations. This will be done under the United States vocational training program headed by Dr. J. W. Studebaker, United States commissioner of education. The government will reimburse the Chicago school board for equipment, supplies, instructors' salaries, and building maintenance. Machinery and equipment which the board had been unable to obtain was being installed at the school yesterday. It was obtained thru the defense priorities board.

Extension of the vocational training program is part of a hurried expansion. Local industries handling arms orders are demanding more skilled and semiskilled machinists because of the government's insistence on increased production.

Expansion Reported Ordered.

Officials of the Buick airplane motor plant, scheduled to open in September, told vocational training officials some time ago they would employ 10,000 workers. Recently, however, it was reported that they had been ordered to double their plant facilities. This would call for 20,000 men. A similar doubling of facilities is expected at the Studebaker plant.

The training program is going full blast in Chicago schools. Nine technical and vocational schools are being utilized for evening classes. At one, Tilden Technical High school, classes continue thru the night until 6 a. m.

Instructors are being drawn from both city schools and private industry.

10,000 Enrollment Expected.

The school board, which operates the training program with the cooperation of the state department of labor, expects to enroll 10,000 graduates of technical, vocational, and high schools in the preparedness training classes in September. Youths are assigned to the classes by the employment service of the state department of labor. They are selected thru interviews.

Members of these classes learn thoroly a single machine shop operation. The courses consist of six to eight weeks of intensive instruction, after which the graduates may register with the state employment offices. Altho jobs are not promised, the demand for the workers is so great that qualified men are almost certain to be placed at once at 70 cents to $1 an hour, officials say.

Save Our Republic

THE MOTORIST'S DOLLAR AND ILLINOIS ROADS.

In the coming two years, according to the estimates in Gov. Green's budget report, the motorists of Illinois will pay $167,205,000 in various taxes and license fees. What can the motorists expect for their money?

They can't expect $167,205,000 worth of modern, safe highways, no matter how much the governor and his highway department want to give them to them. There is no branch of state activities in which "the deducts" take a bigger bite than they do in the highway funds. The statement below shows where the money comes from, and where a large part of it will trickle away before a single concrete mixer is unlimbered:

This is where the money comes from: Motor vehicle licenses, $48,000,000; federal aid grants [to which Illinois motorists contribute far more, in federal gasoline and automobile taxes, than they get back], $24,880,000; drivers' licenses and miscellaneous revenue, $2,825,000; and the gas tax, $91,500,000—a total of	$167,205,000
Deduct $9,000,000 in gas tax refunds, mostly to farmers, who say they use it in their tractors, but many of whom let the tax free gas run over into the tank of the flivver	$ 9,000,000
That leaves	$158,205,000
Deduct what it costs the secretary of state to operate the license departments, and the department of finance to collect the taxes.	$ 3,523,540
That leaves	$154,681,460
Deduct debt service charges: $18,805,140 on bond issues sold to build highways; $7,104,287 on county relief bonds; and $2,027,092 on city relief bonds, a total of	$ 27,936,519
That leaves	$126,744,941
Deduct for a moment the gas tax grants for street and highway building to the counties [$20,000,000] and municipalities [$25,000,000]; total	$ 45,000,000
That leaves the state highway department	$ 81,744,941
Deduct now all the money that the highway department has to spend before it starts building new roads. In round sums, maintaining existing highways costs $13,720,000 a biennium; state police and radio, $3,376,000; administration and engineering, $3,376,000; garages, $1,150,000; refunds to counties for past construction of state roads, $2,850,000; maintenance of certain city streets, $1,000,000, plus other charges to a total of	$ 28,265,000
And that leaves for state road building	$ 53,479,941

That $53,479,941—and, remember, it has to be spread over two years—is just 32 cents of the motorist's tax dollar. To this may be added the $45,000,000 given the counties and cities, since their building projects have to be approved by the state and can thus be integrated with a state highway plan. That gives Gov. Green and local authorities together $98,479,941—59 cents of the motorist's tax dollar—with which to start giving Illinois the modern highway system that it needs so badly.

Illinois hasn't an up-to-date highway system, altho it has spent more than a billion dollars on its highways in the last 20 years. That money has been spent in political road building, much going to graft on contracts. By putting his highway department on a business-like, nonpolitical basis, Gov. Green can find several million dollars more a year for construction of new roads.

But the greatest disgrace of Illinois highway building—more costly even than the graft—has been the building of unneeded roads, carrying little traffic, to oblige local political interests. Gov. Green has pledged himself to end that system. He says his administration will concentrate on modernizing the main routes that carry the bulk of the state's motor traffic. In that pledge lies the state's hope of finally getting a modern system.

The task that the governor faces is a hard one. The main traffic arteries of the state, during the last six or seven years, have been wearing out five times as fast as they have been rebuilt. Engineers say that about 350 miles of pavement on these routes wear out annually or become obsolete from a safety standpoint. These worn out roads have been replaced at a rate of only 70 to 95 miles a year.

It is extremely expensive to modernize these old roads. They require wider rights of way, and farmers are no longer willing to dedicate the additional land. They already have all the road they need for their trips to town. The construction cost of a modern highway runs from $100,000 to $500,000 a mile, the latter figure representing the cost of rights of way into the cities.

Engineers can calculate with considerable accuracy the amount of traffic a road must carry to pay for itself in the gas tax and license fees contributed by the cars that use it. It takes an average traffic of 1,200 cars a day to pay for a two-lane concrete highway. Only a small percentage of the Illinois highway mileage now carries this much traffic.

Another engineering theory taking into account the right of all the citizens of the state to some degree of highway convenience places at 500 cars a day the traffic that will justify the construction of any permanent surfaced road. Illinois has built hundreds of miles of highway that carry less than half of that traffic.

Fairness to the motorists of the state would dictate that such highways be turned back to local authorities for maintenance. In any event, no new highways should be constructed out of state collected funds that do not promise a potential traffic of at least 1,200 cars a day.

A DAB OF ASPHALT IN THE BLOOD PURGE.

Claude Pepper, the one-time peddler of Florida real estate who got into the senate by accident and has stayed there because Floridians think seniority is the sole attribute of a statesman, has made himself the foremost of the war screamers.

Senator Pepper said recently at Nashville, "We should have a purge of all disloyal and disturbing elements which weaken us from within." He wants to "get rid of all these disloyal individuals" who are standing in the way of the national defense program. The senator made clear his idea of national defense on Wednesday in the senate. He wants to send the fleet into the Atlantic to sink German raiders and submarines and dispatch American bombers to devastate Tokio. Any one who disagrees he would label disloyal and nominate for his purge.

The country is approaching Nazi government fast, but not fast enough to suit the belligerent senator. His fellow travelers probably regard him as indiscreet. Blood purges may be on their blueprint, but it is embarrassing to mention them at this time.

The senator's indignation against those who delay national defense doesn't extend to asphalt apparently. The corps of engineers is now investigating a delay of a month in the construction of an army air field at Valparaiso, Fla. The low bidder offered asphalt for the field for $269,000. A concern represented by Senator Pepper's former law partner offered the same material for $55,000 more.

Construction was delayed for a month, members of congress charge, while Senator Pepper tried to wangle the contract for the higher bidder. The state director of the WPA, which was doing the work, was threatened with loss of his job, it is charged, if he used the cheaper material. The senator finally got half the contract for his ex-partner's client.

As a prospective gauleiter of the American Nazi state Senator Pepper can find precedent for this, too, in the original blueprint. Hitler and his henchmen haven't done at all badly for themselves.

WE MUST MODERNIZE.

In his interview yesterday, Capt. Corpening explained that Germany's successes were in part attributable to great superiority in weapons.

On the back page will be found pictures of a German antitank and antiaircraft gun and an American antitank gun. Every mechanically minded boy will see at a glance that the former is infinitely superior to the latter.

The German weapon, with caterpillar tread, can go many places the American weapon cannot. Mounted on a swivel, its protected crew can open fire the instant the vehicle is stopped, while the American gun crew would have to jump down and manhandle the gun into firing position. If the two came face to face, the Americans would not live to do this.

The German gun is plainly far more powerful than the American and carries a device to hide the flash and lessen the report of a discharge.

When we consider that the 43 year old model 75 mm. field piece is to be adopted for antitank service, the superiority of the German weapon becomes even more apparent.

Unless our fat old men and glamorous women stop bawling for war long enough for the army to obtain modern armament that is not yet even designed, our young fighting men will go to inevitable catastrophe.

LORD HALIFAX.

Chicago has been honored by a visit of the British ambassador to the United States and has found in Lord Halifax a man of charm, integrity, and obvious talent. Real Americans have nothing but admiration for him, for his greatly mourned predecessor, Lord Lothian, and for other Britons of their type who maintain their dignity and dominance in face of dark prospects for their country.

Americans should highly resolve that they will put in office men of like temper and patriotism, who will exalt their country and not degrade it, who cannot bring themselves to grovel before any European, however cultured and dominant. They will continue to fight that their country may realize its bright future, confident in our strength to defend those prospects single handed.

CAROL TO CUBA LIBRE.

Carol of Rumania and the fair and faithful sharer of his varied fortunes, Mme. Lupescu, are looking forward to a tranquil life in Cuba. This devoted couple without an exchange of vows seem resolved upon a domestic scheme of sticking together until death do them part regardless of revolutions and incidents of palace life.

Carol says that American opinion of his character and private life arises from misunderstanding of the situation. Evidently he could say much in sympathetic company. The misunderstood man is an institution.

Carol is not the only thing in Europe or from Europe which may be misunderstood. Most of it escapes the comprehension. We know it exists. With or without advice Carol and his friend made a wise decision when they planned to enter Cuba without using an American port as a stepping stone. They will transship elsewhere.

The exiled king of Rumania may represent one of the democracies freshly afflicted by despotism but if he and Mme. Lupescu sailed into New York harbor she would be sent to Ellis Island and he would be forlorn. That would happen unless our democracy has forsaken its rigorous traditions. This might make a rift in the democratic solidarity upon which the destiny of the world is said to depend.

Editorial of the Day

VIA CAIRO AND VICHY.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The first intimation that American made war materials were arriving in Africa came Friday in a dispatch from Edward Kennedy, Associated Press correspondent with the British expeditionary force newly arrived at Cairo from Greece.

The second came yesterday in a dispatch from Vichy, France, stating that diplomatic circles reported the arrival of 26 arms-laden American merchant ships at Suez.

Is it not curious that the American people, often described as "the best informed people in the world," get their first information of this important development from such remote spots as Cairo and Vichy?

WANTED: A HAUNTED HOUSE.

A young writer at an adjoining desk stands ready to spend a night in a haunted house if it is well recommended, in the interest of good, clean journalism. He knows little about psychical research and is properly skeptical, but he would like to test his nerves against a first class apparition.

We have been trying to chasten him for the experience, if it ever happens, by telling him about the hair-raising happenings in Borley rectory in Essex, England, but we have only succeeded in stimulating his ambition. He envies the 100 credible witnesses who have testified to the supernaturalism of Borley and was highly disappointed when we told him that this rendezvous of ill-tempered what-you-may-call-its had been burned down, after 60 years of haunting, in 1939. It seems to have been burned by its own ghosts.

Borley rectory has been dealt with thoroly in a book called "The Most Haunted House in England," by Harry Price, a professional investigator of psychical phenomena. Furthermore, the massive amount of documentary material that Price collected in a ten years study of Borley is on deposit at the University of London, where any one may consult it.

Here is a synopsis of some of the amusements Borley rectory had to offer in the good old years before the entire continent of Europe became a haunted house with Hitler as its Poltergeist:

Apparitions of a nun, of two headless figures in a coach drawn by four horses, of the Victorian clergyman who built the place in 1863, and of "black things"; supranormal pencil scrawlings on walls, often containing incoherent messages; furniture-moving, stone-throwing, bottle-dropping, hair-ruffling, bell-ringing, and door-locking, all inexplicable; bumps, thumps, thuds, crashes, footsteps, levitations; "apports" [objects apparently brought by supernatural forces] by hundreds; strange odors and stenches; tossings of inmates out of bed, socks in the eye for the lady of the house.

Borley rectory should have driven its occupants crazy, but several clergymen reared their families there. They were, no doubt, in training for the greater ordeal with Poltergeist Hitler.

HEAVEN FOR MOTHERS.

I wonder, does heaven give mothers
A sort of a separate place,
With clothing to mend,
And bruises to tend,
And tears on a very small face?

And do you suppose there are minutes
In which there is much to be done,
When breakfast is rushed
And curls must be brushed—
Girls sent off to school on the run?

And do you suppose there are kitchens
With boys seeking something to eat,
And pies, cakes, and jells,
And heavenly smells,
Sought out by small pattering feet?

And do you suppose there is darkness,
With small figures kneeling in white,
And tales to be told,
And covers to fold,
And hands to be held very tight?

There must be, for how else would mothers
Find joy that is promised above,
When all of their days
Are spent finding ways
Of serving the children they love?

Humor in a Hospital.

Every one who walks down a hospital corridor stares in at each open door, as if expecting nameless horrors within. Rather than have them turn away in disappointment, I have decided to take a false mustache and three dolls with me if I am ever again incapacitated. With the mustache glued beneath my nose and the dolls beside me on the pillow, I expect to create a furor.

LAST MOTHERS' MEETING.

Some day, secretly and by common consent,
They will come together in little groups and plan,
Not a protest against the prices of food and rent,
Or a dissertation on the wisdom of man;
They will pass little words along from one to another,
Hesitant at first and teary-eyed,
And speak of another time and the fine spring weather
When last they looked on their sons before they died.
Then, suddenly gathering force like a tropical tempest,
Their purpose will sweep across the sea and the land,
And the bank of life, by their strong, soft flesh encompassed,
Will cease forever to pay upon demand.
And the might will be theirs, and greater than that of all others,
For the God of nature Himself will be with the mothers.

TAKE CARE OF A SORE THROAT.

AN EPIDEMIC of about a year ago, involving the spread of a vicious strain of the streptococcus in a children's hospital, calls attention forcibly to the importance of avoiding close contact with every person afflicted with a sore throat. In all, 13 children, 22 nurses, 2 physicians, and 1 visitor contracted the ailment.

Only nurses who worked in the contaminated wards became ill. Fortunately, they were isolated so that they could not transmit the invaders to their colleagues. Despite every precaution, however, such as sterilizing dishes and tableware, and wearing gowns and gauze masks, the germs were scattered. Apparently they traveled thru the air, as the floors were swept with a dry broom.

After all, a bad throat may be anything but a mild condition. While one attack may pass away within 24 to 48 hours, a second may linger—with injury to the heart or the kidneys. All too many parents, however, look upon the difficulty as insignificant, remarking, "O, it's just a small matter and will go away soon."

It is a good rule always, when the symptom is severe enough to cause discomfort on swallowing, to regard the situation as worthy of prompt attention. It should be accepted as a warning that trouble may lie in the offing. It may mean that a general disorder is on the way, as certain diseases are ushered in by this type of distress. In this connection we may think of scarlet fever, measles, or influenza.

How do the "strep" microbes strike? First of all they must be encountered along the victim's pathway. Anything that lowers reserve may constitute an invitation to bacteria to grow within the pharynx, where lodging and food for them are readily available. Overexposure, wet feet, sitting in a draft, or exercise followed by too rapid cooling will drop the body's guard.

The onset varies. Sometimes there is an actual chill. Later, the parts may feel dry and irritation will soon give way to real pain on taking a sip of water. The mucous membrane of the throat will appear angry, red, swollen, and covered with flecks of whitish material. Only in mild cases will no fever arise. If the "bugs" are not particularly virulent, the episode will probably vanish within a few days. If they are armed with figurative machine guns, they or their toxins may enter the circulation and damage vital organs.

In such a circumstance, the wise patient will remain in bed as long as a temperature persists and he will employ hot irrigations. A solution of baking soda [a tablespoonful to a quart of water] or common salt in the same proportion will be helpful. Large quantities of this flushing liquid may remove billions of surface microbes. Thus nature is saved the task of using up her energy in providing antitoxin.

Occasionally, an epidemic will be traced to unpasteurized milk. Disasters of this character, however, are less frequent nowadays than they were a few years ago. Nevertheless, they do occur somewhere every year. A single milch cow in a herd, with sores on her udder, may disseminate the hemolytic streptococcus to all who partake of the product of an insanitary dairy. In one community, fluid of this character found its way to a soda fountain and, in consequence, 60 persons were infected.

Good hygiene of the mouth and the nasal passages will avoid many an annoying experience. Then, too, if we will make sure that our sources of food are clean, we will be spared all bouts that come as a result of carelessness.

DON'T FORGET YOUR MOTHER.

Chicago, May 7.—Now that spring is here we've all been busy with housecleaning and buying new clothes. We've been reading about the war in Europe, and hearing about it over the radio, and worrying over the prospect that we might get into it eventually. We've been worrying about the price of butter, and eggs, and meat going up, and many other things. But for the next few days let's forget it all and give a little more thought to mother. Yes, your mother and mine. They've never been too busy to think of us.

Every one who is fortunate enough to have a mother living will be shopping to find some gift for her. And what a wonderful blessing it is to be able to do so. For no matter how small or how inexpensive the gift may be it will be cherished by her as long as she shall live. My mother, who is 81 years old, lives several hundred miles from Chicago, and unfortunately I cannot be with her on Mother's day.

But you can bet your life I won't forget her. If you haven't done so already send your mother a gift, or if you can't buy her a gift, then send her a letter or a card. Just to let her know you haven't forgotten her.

You have only a few days left, so please, don't forget. If you wait too long it might be too late, and your mother might not be with you on Mother's day next year. MARTHA JEAN LUERSSEN.

WHERE OUR SALVATION LIES.

New Haven, Conn., May 5.—"The time to be frightened is when evils can be remedied; when they cannot be fully remedied they must be faced with courage."—Winston Churchill, June, 1939.

The great majority in America knows that our salvation lies in a British victory, and the great majority knows that we have got to deliver the goods. That means providing convoys for our goods, taking risks, and being willing to face the music.

It is too late to be frightened—some seven years too late! There is only one remedy now—courage to do swiftly and decisively what we know must be done.

Greek, Jugo-Slavian, British, and American lives depend on immediate action on our part to insure safe delivery of war materials to Britain. This is our job. This is our fulfillment of our promises. ANNE WINSLOW.

NOW SEE WHAT WE GOT.

Chicago, May 5.—President Roosevelt at Staunton, Va., said: "Woodrow Wilson taught us that democracy cannot survive in isolation." We heeded Mr. Wilson's teachings and set forth to make the world safe for democracy. After fighting a war that was to end all wars, what did we get? Let's look at the record for an answer. We got Fascism, communism, the world's worst depression, and the bloodiest and most destructive war in history. J. H. C.

"BIGOTED," "BIASED," ETC.

Chicago, May 8.—Your cartoon about "fat old men, meddling ladies, and the young man who will do the fighting" shows the "world's lousiest newspaper" running true to form—biased, bigoted, inconsistent, misleading, and self-righteous.

The old dames and long haired superannuated men who went joy riding to Washington at the bund's expense were rated by you as patriots, heroines, Joan of Arcs, and what not; but you rate as meddling ladies the women who have backbones where they ought to be instead of yellow jelly rolls. You seem to feel that the American boys of draft age are a bunch of mollycoddles. They are mostly red blooded young men who do not want their mothers shedding tears over them and treating them like babes in swaddling clothes.

Maudlin sentiment won't get any one anywhere. J. G. STODDARD.

A MOTHERS' DAY MESSAGE.

Chicago, May 8.—I am asking you if it would be possible for you to put a write-up in your great paper these next few days asking all mothers to send a message to President Roosevelt on Mother's day saying: "Keep your pledge to American mothers." A MOTHER.

Chicago, May 8.—On this coming Sunday, when every one's thoughts will be turned to mother, the mothers of America ask for no other gift than a promise from the President of the United States that he will fulfill his pledge that their sons will never have to fight a foreign war. If President Roosevelt has any thought of remembering his own mother, let him renew his promise and she will be most blessedly remembered. AN AMERICAN MOTHER PATRIOT.

PLEA FOR THE PARK CONCERTS.

Evanston, Ill., May 7.—The news that the Grant park concerts are to be discontinued is just too bad to believe. Wouldn't it be practicable to continue them by charging a fee of 10 cents or a quarter, if the park funds are not sufficient? Or if that can't be done, how about taking up a collection? It should be easy to raise several hundred dollars a night in that way. Those who can afford it would surely be glad to contribute a small amount to insure continuance of the concerts, and those who can't could still enjoy the music as they have in the past.

This summer we shall surely need every source available to take our minds off the war.

Let's make some sort of plan to continue the concerts. M. E. G.

AND THEY AGREED TO THE CUT.

Chicago, May 6.—I see that the county has ordered the city to pay the aldermen their back pay from 1932 to '35. Well, since we all bore the burden in the heat of the day, why are we who actually suffered left out? It's no more than fair to pay us, too. But I forgot we other city employés are only common clay.

INSURANCE BY MONTH.

Chicago, May 1. — [Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I was in an insurance paying $1 a month for $125, immediately going up $5 a month after six months to $300. After I was entitled to the full benefit, about a half a year, the association went on the rocks. Plenty of old people in the same predicament are without any insurance and besides are too old to be considered elsewhere. Now they have appointed a receiver. Will you be so kind as to tell us:

2. How long a time the receiver needs to take action. We were only insured for one month each time we sent our dollar. After the month was over and no more money was accepted everybody was out of benefit. I believe it should not take more than 60 days to decide what the poor suckers had coming. T. M.

1. In Taglia v. Societa, 270 Ill. App. 636, our Appellate court held that in absence of an express provision reserving to the society the right to change the insurance contract, the society had no such right. On the other hand, where the contract is expressely subject to the by-laws, or the society is in receivership, changes can of course be made. You should bear in mind that in many cases the change is justified by the fact that the initial payments were not on a sound actuarial basis. In other words, were not large enough to carry the risk. If this last mentioned factor enters into a large enough proportion of the insurance contracts, it may mean that the society must default if it cannot increase the assessments.

2. Depends upon the complications that he encounters.

OLD MAN OF THE SEA

ADMINISTRATION TAKES TENTH OF STATE'S BUDGET

Cost Is Fairly Constant While Spending Soars.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

The direct costs of government in Illinois—salaries and office expense of officials and administration of tax laws producing the bulk of the revenue—add up to less than one-tenth of the state's total expenditures, according to a report yesterday by George B. McKibbin, state finance director.

These expenses have remained fairly constant in the last 15 years, his figures show, while the costs of other state activities have reached unprecedented heights. After a cut in 1926, the direct costs are today still below the $22,106,919 level of 1925.

Favors $3,000,000 Slash.

The total for the current fiscal year is estimated at $21,409,139, or 9 cents out of every dollar spent by the state. This fiscal year completes the biennium for which appropriations were made under the previous administration.

In the budget for the next two years which is pending before the legislature, Gov. Dwight H. Green has recommended a total reduction in these direct costs of approximately $3,000,000 to be spread over the 1941-'43 spending period.

The money goes for maintenance of the legislative and judicial branches as well as of activities of the executive officers, elected and appointed, of the state departments, boards, and commissions. It is also used to finance collection of the sales tax and fees accruing to the state treasury from auto title registrations, liquor control, public utilities, and oil inspections.

Spent by Departments.

The main classifications of the expenditures lumped together under "all other purposes" on the state books are shown in the following table together with the amount consumed by each out of every state dollar:

Purpose	Cents per Dollar	Total Amount
Legislature	.584	$ 1,396,513
Judicial	.614	1,461,585
Executive	6.051	14,390,273
Misc. Tax Refunds	.317	755,472
Administer Tax Laws	1.432	3,406,296
Waterway Construction	.002	5,000
Totals	9.000	$21,409,139

Besides supporting its Supreme and Appellate courts, the state pays half the salaries of judges of the Superior and Circuit courts in the 102 counties. It also contributes $400 annually toward the salary of the state's attorney in each county.

Pays Legislative Expense.

The cost of the legislature includes salaries for 204 members of the house and senate and necessary traveling and other expenses. Upkeep of various legislative agencies is paid for out of this fund. They aid the legislators in studies and investigations.

The executive offices and departments include the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and other officials as well as the departments of labor, health, mines and minerals, agriculture, conservation, etc.

Other state services supported by these funds include supervision of state banks, trust companies, loan associations, insurance companies, and other financial institutions; regulation of public utilities; collection of state taxes and handling of refunds of inheritance, liquor, and sales taxes.

Yearly expenditures for these activities since 1925 follow:

Year—	Total.	Year—	Total.
1925	$22,106,919	1934	14,950,222
1926	13,813,810	1935	15,019,338
1927	14,721,483	1936	16,595,360
1928	18,299,957	1937	18,181,693
1929	19,451,254	1938	20,816,180
1930	21,586,901	1939	20,923,228
1931	18,597,891	1940	22,031,062
1932	17,731,700	1941	*21,409,139

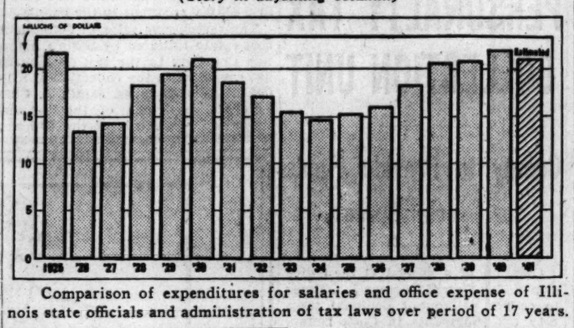
*Estimated.

Another division of state expenditures is the interest and principal toward retirement of the $168,106,000 funded debt piled up by previous administrations. In the present fiscal year it is estimated that this will take $18,537,112, or 7.80 cents of every state dollar.

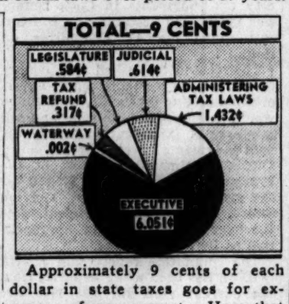
[This is the last of a series of articles discussing state finances and showing how the state dollar is divided to support governmental activities.]

What State Government Costs

(Story in adjoining column.)



Comparison of expenditures for salaries and office expense of Illinois state officials and administration of tax laws over period of 17 years.



Approximately 9 cents of each dollar in state taxes goes for expenses of government. How that sum is divided is shown by this graph.

PUT FAITH IN U.S.! AVERT WAR! SAYS PHIL LA FOLLETTE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., May 9.—Charging the "war party has pushed this country to within one step of actual shooting participation" in the European war, Wisconsin's former Gov. Philip La Follette tonight urged an overflow home town audience to think clearly and calmly in the face of "war hysteria" and reaffirm a faith in the future of American democracy.

La Follette spoke on the University of Wisconsin campus, where his father, the late Robert M. La Follette Sr., was hanged in effigy 24 years ago for voting in the United States senate against this country's entry into the first European war.

He was introduced by State Senator Phil Nelson [Prog., Maple], a world war veteran, who presented the former governor as a "true American" and predicted the younger La Follettes' stand "will be vindicated as was their father's stand in 1917." The meeting was sponsored by the University Progressive club.

Sulphur, Okla., May 9 (AP).—The Sulphur school board directed today that pictures of Charles A. Lindbergh be removed from class rooms and American flags substituted.

FORMER CONVICT CONFESSES 14 HOLDUPS IN CITY

An ex-convict, arrested early yesterday after seizing a woman's automobile to rob four north side hotels, had confessed 14 holdups and been identified in 13 last night, according to Chicago avenue police.

The man is L. Day William Goyette, 28 years old, who served a robbery sentence in the Waupun, Wis., prison and whose record also includes several arrests in connection with check forgery and manslaughter. Goyette was arrested at Clark and Superior streets in the car he stole from Miss Angie Jacobs, 1106 Lake Shore drive.

CAMP FORREST MUD HOLE NOW IS A DUST BOWL

Alkali Fills Lungs and Eyes of Troops.

Camp Forrest, Tenn., May 9 (AP).—Where troops of Illinois' 33rd division a month ago were sinking knee deep in mud, heavy clouds of blinding dust today swirled around drilling trainees.

In removing the countless stumps from each area and from the three mile long parade ground, the top soil was left bare and free to the whims of gusty winds. The dust was so thick in most places that when the wind blew it was hard to see a man 50 yards away.

Many Go to Hospital.

Many soldiers tied handkerchiefs around their faces to keep the thick alkali dust from their nostrils and throats. But the hospital reported a chronic epidemic of sore throats and countless others who did not seek medical aid complained that the dust had irritated their throats.

The dust in some places was two and three inches deep, altho constant drilling had worn it down around most of the barracks.

The parade ground, a month ago a mass of scrub stumps, was nearing completion but grass has not yet been planted so the dust was thickest of all there, where graders and furrowers have been working.

Fight Civil War Again.

The long feared resurrection of civil war animosities between Tennessee and Illinois troops flared briefly this week, but officers said they believed the incident had ended with nothing worse than hot words.

Informed of the dispute, Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, 33d division and camp commander, shrugged it off as merely "nothing" caused by "too many beers," and added, "anybody who creates a disturbance would be punished."

Because of the controversial aspect of the incident, no one would allow his name to be used in relating it, but this is the version given by the most apparently neutral witnesses:

A group of Chicago soldiers, visiting Tennessee's 181st field artillery post exchange Sunday night, became engaged in an argument with Tennesseeans over the war of the rebellion.

The 181st troopers became indignant and escorted the Chicagoans outside and told them they would allow no 33d division troops in their post exchange. By letter, a group of Chicago soldiers threatened to "take over" the 181st exchange.

As a result all Illinois troops were banned from the Tennessee exchange.

'MOST DATABLE' GIRL AT U. OF C. HAS DANCE DATE

Miss Dorothy Tuell, 18 years old, Chattanooga, Tenn., a freshman student, has been chosen Tomorrow's Most Datable Girl for the Climaxus week-end, which started yesterday on the University of Chicago campus.

In connection with the university's 50th anniversary 12 million dollar drive for funds the students set a goal of $5,000 as their contribution. Part of the money is being raised on the campus this week-end by plays and shows. In adidtion, 100 of the most datable girls on the campus agreed to accept bids for dates this week-end to campus affairs only.

Miss Tuell will preside tonight at the Dance of the Queens. Miss Betty Mueller of Milwaukee, a junior student, first was chosen Most Datable Girl, but she is in Billings Memorial hospital with a cold.

DIES FROM SLEEPING MEDICINE.

Barry Larson, 35 years old, a former department store buyer, was found dead last night in his room at 5633 Kenmore avenue from an overdose of sleeping medicine.

Lecturer's Auto Looted of Box of Valuable Notes

Thieves broke into the automobile of Dr. F. S. Onderdonk, architect and lecturer of Ann Arbor, Mich., last night when it was parked on Chestnut street near Michigan avenue. It was the sixth time in two years that his car had been looted, Onderdonk said, four of the thefts having taken place in Chicago. Included in last night's loot was a box containing notes which Dr. Onderdonk compiled over a period of seven years. They would have no value to any one but himself, he said. He is at the Auditorium hotel.

THWART EFFORT TO INJECT BUND IN BRIDGES CASE

San Francisco, Cal., May 9 [Special].—Defense efforts to involve the German-American bund in the deportation hearing of Harry Bridges, alien CIO director, were thwarted today by a ruling of Trial Examiner Charles B. Sears.

The decision came after Jeannine Lowery of Hollywood testified that Ezra Chase, a self-described former communist from Los Angeles who had appeared as a government witness, once had addressed a bund meeting.

"We contend that any one who speaks under the auspices of the German-American bund shows anti-labor bias and we will establish that the bund is antilabor and anti-Bridges," said Defense Attorney Richard Gladstein.

"These are remote matters," Examiner Sears said in excluding them. "We are not trying either a bund or a labor case."

CHARGE N.A.B. HAS MISREPRESENTED MUTUAL'S STAND

Leading Stations Cite FCC, ASCAP Cases.

James Lawrence Fly.

Leading Mutual Broadcasting system stations yesterday sent a telegram to Neville Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, charging that the N.A.B. has misrepresented the position of Mutual, its members and affiliates. The telegram, sent to Miller at St. Louis, Mo., where the N.A.B. national convention is to open Monday, was signed by the Don Lee Broadcasting system of California; W-G-N, Inc., Chicago; Baltimore Radio Show [WFBR], and the United Broadcasting company [WHK, WCLE, and WHKC], Cleveland.

The protest of these Mutual stations relates to the statements of the N. A. B. with regard to Mutual's pending settlement with the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers and to the recent monopoly report of the federal communications commission which Chairman James Lawrence Fly of the commission termed a "new Magna Charta for American broadcasting stations."

Follows WOR Protest.

The protest followed by a day a letter of grievances sent by station WOR, Mutual's New York affiliate, to Miller. Yesterday's telegram from the chain's other leading stations to Miller mentions the WOR letter and backs the contentions stated in the letter wholeheartedly. The telegram follows:

"The undersigned desire to register vigorous protest against your misrepresentation of the position of Mutual, its members, and affiliates and of your presuming to take a position with regard to matters which affect competitive conditions between Mutual and the privately owned profit networks and of unwarrantedly intruding yourself into matters which concern only Mutual and its affiliates. All this is fully set forth in letter sent to you by station WOR, dated May 8, 1941."

Calls for Explanation.

The WOR letter of protest charged that the N. A. B. is no longer acting in the interest of all elements of the broadcasting industry and warned that unless actions regarded as unfavorable to WOR can be "satisfactorily explained," the station will not participate in the convention.

Representatives of the Mutual stations which sent the telegram to Miller, following a meeting here yesterday, took a similar view of the situation.

"The National Association of Broadcasters," they stated, "is not a free agent representing all the stations, but represents the two 'master' networks and their slave stations.

"The N. A. B. chooses to favor the privately owned networks, operated solely for profit, altho they are autocratic, plutocratic, and monopolistically controled. The N. A. B. does not favor Mutual, which is a completely democratic network."

Conspiracy Is Charged.

WOR's letter of protest accused Miller and the N. A. B. of conspiring to keep Mutual's affiliated stations from signing the contract drawn by Mutual and ASCAP on May 1 which provided plans for returning ASCAP music to the air. Miller was charged with sending a telegram to the stations stating that an N. A. B. analysis was being made of the ASCAP plan and that it would be available at the convention. The stations were advised to await this analysis.

The purpose of this action was to thwart the ASCAP deal, WOR asserted, quoting an interview with Miller in the New York Daily News in which he said, "If Mutual does sign with ASCAP it will weaken the position of the other systems considerably."

A few days earlier the Mutual copyright committee sent Miller a telegram of protest which said, in part, "We protest against your attempts with others to coerce, influence, or restrain the free choice of action of independent broadcasting stations."

Attack Made on FCC Report.

Upon release of the FCC monopoly report, which required the National Broadcasting company to divest itself of its Blue network, described by the FCC as giving it a decided competitive advantage over other networks, Miller released a statement to the press charging that the "FCC report constitutes a usurpation of power which has no justification in law and menaces the American system of broadcasting." He added that the N. A. B. would fight the provisions of the report "to the end."

Mutual officials at that time dispatched a wire to Miller protesting his condemnation of the monopoly report, presumably as representative of the entire industry.

"You misrepresent the position of Mutual stations constituting important membership in your association," they said. In a public statement Mutual's ranking executives termed the monopoly report "sound and highly commendable for its thoroness, fairness, and long sighted vision."

Network Evils Recognized.

The monopoly report, W-G-N officials asserted, took cognizance of and provided for measures to correct evils in network broadcasting practice which caused the station years ago to sever relations with the older networks, first with NBC and then with the Columbia Broadcasting system. W-G-N left NBC Oct. 12, 1931, after having carried some of its programs since 1926. It formed an association with CBS then. This affiliation was severed Oct. 31, 1933.

W-G-N officials said they found both associations oppressive. The networks preempted large blocks of time and took options on other hours, which they could command on short notice. This prohibited independent action on the part of W-G-N and gave it a low rate of return for its time.

Mindful that networks should give the widest public service, W-G-N and WOR, New York, which also had been briefly associated with CBS, set about in 1934 to organize a radio network on a basis where stations might operate to mutual advantage yet retain their independence and leadership in their own communities. Their efforts culminated in the organization of the Mutual system in the fall of 1934. Mutual owns no stations. Individual stations own and operate the network.

How Network Operates.

Commercial programs are produced by the originating station or sponsor, and sustaining programs are selected from among the stations associated with the network.

Mutual executives recalled yesterday that in developing the new network they tackled many problems that seemed insurmountable. They found many conditions of monopoly on the part of the established networks. Twenty-eight of the clear channel high power stations either were licensed or affiliated with NBC or CBS.

Mutual can obtain no access whatever to some 45 cities with a population of more than 50,000 each which are served by NBC or CBS, or both, the monopoly report stated. In many areas Mutual programs cannot be heard.

CBS and NBC tied up their stations with 4 and 5 year exclusive contracts, now ordered canceled by the FCC, which had the effect of removing them from competition. Mutual meanwhile has adhered to the theory of a free station network market.

The Mutual system grew to coast to coast proportions under its setup of mutual benefits and expanded to more than 170 stations with elaborate program services including many exclusive features. It is not a network controled and operated from New York. Its leaders assert that it has become a truly coöperative network in which any member station or affiliate may contribute to its growth and further public service.

Deluge of Lilacs Sets Record

25,000 Get Blooms

The second and last day of the 13th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign ended yesterday with a record flood of blossoms from Chicago's flowerland.

Officials of the Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit guild which co-sponsored lilac days with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, estimated that 100,000 bouquets of lilacs were distributed to 25,000 shut-ins in Chicago hospitals and institutions yesterday and Thursday. This was the widest distribution in the history of the event, they said.

The deluge of blooms was so great that the 158 hospitals, orphanages, settlement houses and old people's homes on the lilac list were quickly supplied. Tribune trucks made second visits to many of the institutions yesterday.

Train after train loaded with great masses of blooms rolled into the city on eight railroad lines. More than 2,000 garden club members affiliated with the guild gathered the blossoms, assisted by Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, high and grammar school pupils, and other flower lovers.

Theodore V. Purcell, president of the guild, expressed his appreciation and gratitude to the many persons who helped in the work. He termed the campaign "the most magnificent and worthwhile in the history of all our lilac days."

FOUR RELATIVES SLAIN; A FIFTH IS HELD IN JAIL

Macy, Neb., May 9 (AP).—An elderly couple, their daughter, and daughter-in-law were slashed or clubbed to death here this afternoon, and a son-in-law was jailed in a federal information charging murder on an Indian reservation.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warner, both in their seventies; their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Victoria Parker Warner, about 30, and their daughter, Mrs. Maggie Tyndall, about 40.

Accused was John Tyndall, about 40, husband of Maggie Tyndall, from whom he was separated.

STATE EMPLOYE QUITS UNDER FIRE IN POLITICAL QUIZ

Witnesses Accuse 5 More of Illegal Activity.

Thomas B. Read, chief clerk at Pontiac prison, who was charged with soliciting political contributions in violation of civil service regulations, submitted his resignation at yesterday's session in Chicago of the hearing board of the state civil service commission. The resignation, which was filed without evidence being made public in the case, was taken under advisement for consideration by the entire commission.

At the same time, the hearing board, meeting in the Illinois Commerce commission rooms at 160 North La Salle street, heard evidence supporting charges that five other employés of the state welfare department had engaged in political activity in violation of civil service regulations. The accused, all Democrats working at state hospitals, are: Edward J. Pluth and William Yonke, attendants at Manteno; Joseph C. Catton Sr., attendant; George Wohner, plumber, and Ariel B. Lucas, fireman, at Kankakee. All have been suspended by Rodney Brandon, superintendent of the public welfare department, pending outcome of the charges.

Clinnin Conducts Hearings.

John V. Clinnin, who presided at the hearing, continued all five cases to give officials time to obtain election certificates designed to show that each was active as a Democratic precinct official in Kankakee. Accusations to that effect were made in each case save that of Pluth by opposing Republican precinct committeemen.

An affidavit from Henry LeBeau, clerk of Kankakee county, was introduced by Assistant Attorney General Ray F. Thiesse in the case of Pluth. It said Pluth was a Democratic precinct committeeman there.

Delmar Allain of Kankakee testified that Catton was Democratic committeeman of the 1st precinct of the 1st ward in that city, and had been active in the April, 1940, election.

J. W. Spillene of Kankakee identified Yonke as Democratic committeeman of the 1st precinct, 4th ward, and said Yonke ran for alderman last month.

Roy Taylor, Kankakee banker and Republican precinct committeeman in the 2d precinct of the 6th ward, told of Lucas' activities. Lucas countered by saying the county chairman told him he would not be violating civil service rules if he accepted no money.

Democrat Sticks Up for Party.

Edward Madison, Republican precinct committeeman in Kankakee's 1st precinct of the 6th ward, testified Wohner had been active in recent elections. Wohner replied he did not know he was under civil service, and asked why he was not removed when the administration changed.

"I'm a Democrat from top to bottom," he explained.

A similar charge against Simon N. Legris, Kankakee state hospital storekeeper, was continued after Thiesse said that the state's witness was not present.

A motion to quash political activity charges against Mrs. Bessie Wehner, matron at the Eye and Ear infirmary, 904 Adams street, was taken under advisement by the board.

Timothy Carlisle Wilson, an attendant at Kankakee State hospital, also appeared before the board yesterday in connection with his suspension for allegedly beating a patient, Paul Harney, last Feb. 13. Wilson testified that Harney, whom he termed a consistent trouble maker, tried to strike him as they stood in the washroom, but slipped and struck his nose on the wash bowl. Wilson denied he was drunk.

FOREST PARK'S MUSIC FESTIVAL ATTRACTS 1,000

More than 1,000 persons attended the second annual Forest Park music festival, which was presented last night in the auditorium of Proviso Township High school in Maywood. Three hundred fifty took part in the program, a preliminary to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE 12th annual Chicagoland Music Festival, which will be presented Aug. 16 in Soldiers' field. Choral groups which sang on last night's program will appear in the music festival Hallelujah chorus.

Groups which sang included the choir of the First Reformed church, directed by Henrietta Kracalik Murphy, a former music festival vocal winner; the German-American Children's chorus, the Almira Damenchor, the Harlem Maennerchor, St. Peter's Senior choir, the Methodist Church choir, St. John's Choral society, the Treble Clef choir, and the West Suburban Glee club.

Claude A. Walker, editor and publisher of the Forest Park Review, was in charge of the program.

Handbook Operator Fined, 26 Others Freed in Raid

James Mason, arrested Thursday at 5120 Broadway, was fined $25 and costs by Judge George B. Weiss in the South State street court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to operating a handbook. Eighteen other men and eight women seized in the same raid were discharged.

JUDGES APPROVE PERSONALTY TAX COLLECTION UNIT

County to Provide Funds for Special Bureau.

Creation of a special 11 man division under Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien to collect delinquent personal property tax judgments in Cook county was authorized yesterday by the Circuit Court Judges' Committee on Help.

The committee asked the county board to pass a supplemental appropriation setting up the division, which would be empowered to seize and sell property of taxpayers to satisfy unpaid judgments entered by the court. Officials estimated the cost of the bureau would not exceed $25,000 for the remainder of this year. Clayton Smith, county board president, said the board would pass an appropriation at its next meeting.

The committee report said Sheriff O'Brien has been using deputies from his current staff for the last two months in a drive to collect personalty tax judgments and that the success of this campaign warrants setting up a permanent staff.

$350,000 Collected by Deputies.

The deputies have collected $350,000, O'Brien reported in requesting the new department. He said he could not continue the drive without an increase in his present staff, because the men were needed for other duties. O'Brien estimated that with a permanent staff collections will exceed a million dollars before the end of the year.

Judge Julius H. Miner, one of the three members of the judges' committee, disclosed the committe also is considering establishing a special tax collection division in the office of County Treasurer John Toman.

County Wins in Rail Case.

A decision which officials estimated will add several hundred thousand dollars a year to the county's tax revenues was handed down yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The court held that the North Western railway, which is in reorganization in the federal District court, must pay the full statutory penalty of 12 per cent a year on delinquent taxes instead of the 5 per cent rate sought by the railroad. The suit, involving 1935 taxes, will result in a $35,000 payment to the county.

Tax foreclosure sales of delinquent real estate initiated by State's Attorney Courtney in the last 18 months have resulted in the collection of $11,004,555 in back taxes, James A. Cunningham, chairman of the tax delinquency committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce, reported.

Fourteen vacant lots in Elmhurst, on which taxes have been delinquent for as long as 10 years, were sold at public auction in Wheaton yesterday for a total of $8,430. They were the first of 256 vacant lots which Circuit Judge Win G. Knoch on April 3 ordered sold unless owners paid back taxes in 30 days.

Money from the sales will be prorated to the Du Page county general fund and special assessment fund.

French Visitor to Tell of His Part in War

BY JUDITH CASS.

SADDLE and Cycle club members are to have the opportunity tomorrow night of hearing a talk by a Frenchman who arrived yesterday for a fortnight's visit with the Maurice Patrick Geraghtys of East Schiller street. The visitor is Adolphe Pervy, whom Mrs. Geraghty met when, as Miss Helen Tieken, she was a student at the Sorbonne in Paris. Later Mr. Pervy came to this country to teach languages at Columbia university and while there met some of the Rockefellers. He took a trip around the world with John D. Rockefeller III. and then returned to France for his military training.

Mr. Pervy came back to New York to enter business, but when the war broke out he returned to his native land and became a liaison officer with the British army in Flanders. He fought in six major battles there and escaped to England from Dunkirk, eventually making his way to Marseilles where he embarked for this country via Morocco, Algiers, and Martinique. He landed in New York two or three months ago.

Mr. Pervy has come west to talk before the various universities of Indiana at the invitation of some of the Ball family of Muncie, Ind. Tomorrow night at the Saddle he will tell of his experiences in Flanders. Among those who have invited guests to dine at the club at 7 o'clock and then to hear Mr. Pervy's story are the Geraghtys, the Henry L. McIntyres, the John Roots, the John R. Winterbothams, and the Thomas I. Underwoods.

Josephine Hancock Logan's Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Temple McFayden of Loghaven, Libertyville, announce the engagement of the latter's daughter, Josephine Hancock Logan, to John L. Bermingham Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bermingham of Evanston. Miss Logan is the daughter of the late Howard Hancock Logan and granddaughter of Mrs. Frank G. Logan of Lake Shore drive, for whom she is named. Before her graduation from Frances Shimer Junior college she studied at the Fermata school and at the Kingswood school. Mr. Bermingham attended Lake Forest college.

When Thomas C. Dennehy Jr. and the men who run the Lake Forest Horse show met with Ned King of New York, who directs the show professionally, and decided to call off the big event this year, the South Shore Country club promptly seized the newly available week-end, June 21 and 22, for its show. The South Shore show usually is held earlier. James C. Thompson again is in charge. Lake Forest may have an informal show next fall.

Mrs. Herbert E. Hyde is giving a luncheon at home in Winnetka today for the young women who are to assist at two country teas the Hydes will give to introduce to society their daughter, Miss Sally Hyde. The teas will be given next Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

Rain Check.

Lady Halifax learned a new American phrase during her stay in Chicago Thursday, which she said she would spring on Lord Halifax as soon as she saw him.

"We have a rain check," she said. "We are returning to Chicago Saturday. A rain check means you can come another time," she explained.

The wife of the ambassador from Great Britain learned the phrase when she was asked if she were going to the baseball game with her husband Saturday. She said that she wanted to, but that she also wanted to visit Hull House and that there wasn't time for both.

"Well, you can have a rain check for a baseball game," she was assured by Claire Page of the Drake hotel personnel who had called on her in her apartment. Lady Halifax picked up the phrase immediately to add to her vocabulary.

Meet the People.

Miss Helen Hayes, here in Twelfth Night, in a black and white taffeta gingham dress, wearing as ear rings tiny convex mirrors in eagle-adorned gilt frames, telling of her daughter Mary MacArthur's emergency appendectomy in New York the preceding day. The little girl is all right and her mother talked with her yesterday over the long distance telephone. . . . A West Division street bistro proprietor late in the evening of his day off, tossing off brandies with alka seltzer chasers. . . . Blue eyed, white haired Henri Charpentier, in his high white chef's cap, making crepes Suzette in his new Cafe de Paris at the Park Dearborn, as he created them in the Cafe de Paris in Monte Carlo for Edward VII., then Prince of Wales, who dedicated them to his companion, one Mlle. Suzette. . . . The retired colonel who breakfasts at a Michigan avenue drug store and brings his own grapefruit knife because he is fussy about the way his grapefruit is cut.

Coincidence.

Before Mme. Schumann-Heink died, she gave the grand piano she had used on concerts thruout the United States to her accompanist for more than 25 years, Katherine Collins Hoffman, sister of Concert Pianist Eddie Collins of Chicago and Ann Collins of Joliet. Mrs. Hoffman treasured it until her death, when it came into possession of her daughter, Katherine Hoffman Eldredge. Recently the Eldredges moved from St. Paul to Dallas, Tex. There they called in a piano tuner to put the Steinway into condition. "Was not this Mme. Schumann-Heink's piano?" he inquired. "I tuned it 25 years ago in Dallas."

Welsh Choir's Singing Wins Large Audience

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Welsh Male choir, Robert Gomer Jones, director, last night delighted a large Orchestra hall audience with singing that was large of scale and strong of line, but at the same time round and rich, and full of an attractive suggestion of Celtic twilight.

The concert was a British war relief benefit, but the program offered not only the songs of Britain but also, with an admirable lack of chauvinism, a generous selection of German and Italian music.

The first of the assisting artists to appear—the soprano, Henrietta Chase—sang operatic arias and lyric songs with an absorption and sincerity that resulted in some tonal effects of hair raising beauty and some phrase contours packed with genuine eloquence.

Charles Fredericks, baritone, rushing over to Orchestra hall in the midst of a heavy schedule of theater appearances, showed his fatigue only in a certain deficiency of musical imagination that caused a song like "Water Boy" to fall a little flat. His tone showed no deficiency at all, but was bright and warm and smooth.

Sonia Sharnova, singing very late in the evening, offered violently contrasting songs with a spirit and enthusiasm which made the audience forget for the time its rapidly departing trains.

Accompaniments were supplied by Robert MacDonald and Raymond Ericson, pianist, and Esther Wunderlich, organist.

Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, was patron in absentia of the concert.

Carroll Glenn, young South Carolina born violinist, has been added to the roster of soloists for the Chicago Symphony orchestra's 1941-'42 season. It happened this way: Conductor Frederick Stock agreed one day last week to listen to this newcomer, altho he had never even heard of her, and he was so impressed that he called together the Civic orchestra to give her a chance to be heard in a second audition with full background. The results were amazing, and Dr. Stock immediately booked her, not for the Civic orchestra, not for the Chicago Symphony orchestra's popular or even its Tuesday series, but for the august Thursday-Friday cycle itself. She will appear early in the season—possibly at the third concert.

Girl Heart Victim Receives Diploma in Hospital Room

Georgette Arsenault, 18 years old, an incurable heart patient, was graduated from St. Francis de Sales High school in a private ceremony in her ward on the 14th floor of St. Luke's hospital yesterday.

An outstanding honor student of the school, Miss Arsenault was stricken with a rare heart disease during the second quarter of her senior year and has been in the hospital since Christmas.

Her diploma was presented by the Rev. John Webster, pastor of St. Francis de Sales church. Flowers were sent by the school. Present at the graduation were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Arsenault, 10325 Avenue L; her two brothers, Raymond, 17, and Robert, 6; Sister Lucretia, principal of St. Francis de Sales High school, and Sister Dechantal, a senior teacher.

Smooth, Curved Shoulderlines Definitely Set

BY REA SEEGER.

Those long curved smooth shoulderlines are definitely established. You'll see them in the summer sheers in dark street colors, in cottons, in linens and cut in all the jacket and coat shoulders of two piece ensembles of either dress and jacket or dress and long coat or skirt and jacket.

Even the one piece dresses for general wear boast the new flattery of curved lines. Sometimes the same effect is achieved with skilfully cut yokes that extend well over the shoulder, sometimes the curve effect is cleverly faked with a band of contrast color such as red, white or beige, against the dark background material of the dress or jacket itself.

Evening coats and jackets, spectator sports outfits and street topcoats of bright or pastel color and the summer silks and linens take on a new fashion flattery because of the drop shoulder or long curved line well down into the sleeve itself. Abbreviations and adaptations of this softer line make the many new daytime dresses for street and town vastly different from the last year's models.

There is a certain artful simplicity to these dresses that only a top ranking designer could manage, they [the dresses] look so simple, but it takes a genius to evolve that sort of deceptive simplicity.

Black and navy and cypress green, steel gray, and dark brown are the street colors with a few effective "white and" prints using these four colors, now ready in the early showings. They are the important first arrivals that presage the summer trends. Despite their casual simplicity they are telling creations of sophistication, the perfect foundation dresses for all the exciting summer hats, dramatic gloves and matching handbags.

Envoy and Wife Guests Today at Reception

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

Members of the English-Speaking union will meet Lord and Lady Halifax at 5 o'clock this afternoon at a reception at the Casino club. Only members and their immediate families have been invited. Receiving with the British ambassador and his charming wife will be George F. Spaulding, president of the union; Mrs. Spaulding, and Lewis Bernays, British consul general. Mrs. Charles W. Dempster is in charge of arrangements for the party.

Mrs. Dempster has asked Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. James H. Douglas Jr., Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Dallas B. Phemister, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. John Crerar, Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, Miss Margaret Conover, and Mrs. Ralph H. James to pour.

Earlier today a luncheon will be given at the Chicago Woman's club at which Lady Halifax will speak of the work of British women in the present crisis. The Chicago Woman's aid, the Women's City club, the Young Women's Christian association, the American Association of University Women, the Women's Trade union, and the Illinois and Cook County Leagues of Women Voters are joining with the Woman's club to give the luncheon.

Mrs. George G. Bogert, president of the Illinois League of Women Voters, will introduce Lady Halifax. Lord Halifax will have luncheon at the Drake with Mr. Bernays and 10 other men.

Tonight the ambassador and his wife and the others of their party will dine quietly with Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter at their home in Lake Shore drive. Mr. Bernays has invited a small group to have luncheon with the visitors at the Tavern tomorrow, after which the party will drive to Lake Forest, stopping en route at the Chicago Historical society.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick Blair are entertaining at tea at their Lake Forest home for Lord and Lady Halifax. If the weather permits, it will be a garden party. Mr. and Mrs. Blair have invited the Howard Linns, Mrs. Clive Runnells, Paul Mowrer, and Mr. Bernays to stay on for supper with the English guests, who will be, in addition to the Halifaxes, Miss Craig McGeachy, Miss Margaret Randall, Rene MacColl, and Charles Peake, all of whom are traveling with the ambassador and his wife.

This morning at 10:30 o'clock Lord and Lady Halifax will visit the British War Relief society headquarters at 30 North Michigan avenue. Charles F. Glore, Illinois chairman; Chauncey McCormick, vice chairman; Mrs. Carpenter, chairman of the women's division; Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, and Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence, co-chairmen of the women's division in the million dollar campaign, will be on hand to welcome the guests.

From there Lady Halifax will visit the shop at 615 North Michigan avenue that is conducted for British civilian aid. Mrs. Winterbotham Badger and a dozen other tireless workers will greet her.

From the shop Lady Halifax will go to the seventh floor depot at 205 West Monroe street, which is in charge of Mrs. Percy Mather. Lady Halifax will visit Hull House this afternoon while Lord Halifax attends his first baseball game at Comiskey Park.

★ THRU THE ★ LOOKING GLASS

All you girls with delicate nails—and there seem to be a lot of you these days—should know about the liquid polish remover that is also a treatment to help keep the cuticle soft and the nails strong. There isn't a drop of harsh solvent in an ocean of the stuff and women we've asked to try it out are crazy about it.

It's not used as most removers are. You saturate a piece of cotton thoroly with it, then apply to the nails of both hands. Don't dab it on the nail and remove immediately. When you've applied it to the tenth finger start the removing job on the first one. That little extra soaking time is important. It has a pleasant fragrance, isn't inflammable and is really economical. The amount it takes to saturate one small piece of cotton is as much as you need to do the fingers of both hands. You'll like what it does for your nails.

If you are not a polish user you'll find this a good all-round manicure aid anyway. Use it to soften the cuticle and to oil the nail. Apply it, allow it to dry, and then buff. You'll work up a nice luster—and buffing, as you probably know, is awfully good for ailing nails. It's stimulating. Always buff in the same direction and be sure that your strokes are light and not too numerous. Don't buff until you burn the nail. Better a few quick strokes at frequent intervals than a long, strenuous session.

This remover and treatment aid is a find for the women with cracked, brittle nails.

INSTALMENT XXIV.

FUTILE SEARCH.

Beal said to Ernie See, "Let's head for the Bib M. We'll get there about dark, and hole up until Carol McFee and Maitland get there, then bust in on them and search the place."

"It's worth a try," Ernie agreed.

The three of them left the office, locked it, and after Beal had deposited the money in the bank, got their horses and rode out across the flats toward Wagon Mound and the Bib M. Ernie See seemed preoccupied during the first half hour, and Beal and Thornton did most of the talking. But in one of the silences, Ernie said to Thornton, "You hear what Miss McFee had to say about you, Thornton?"

"I heard her," Thornton said grimly. "She thinks I put up the money."

"Did you?"

"No!" Thornton yelled. "I wish I'd thought of it, tho!"

"Funny," Ernie said mildly. "Why'd they send it to you, instead of to us?"

"I don't know. Maybe they wanted it printed in the Clarion."

"We'd have told the Clarion," Ernie said stubbornly.

Thornton turned on him, his red face glowing. "Why ask me? I tell you I didn't put up the money. But I think it's a good idea. I thought it was so good that I rode over on the stage to show it to you. But that's all I did!"

"Sure, sure," Ernie said gently. But he wasn't convinced. Hadn't Thornton, in public and out of it, cursed Bruce McFee and threatened him and fought him? He had. And now Thornton had appeared with the money and the proposition of trying to scare Carol with the reward threat until she led them to McFee.

No, it was more than coincidence. There was nothing unlawful about it, but why hadn't Thornton come out with it and been aboveboard? Ernie thought he knew. Thornton hated Bruce McFee so much he was ashamed of it himself. It was hardly within the dignity of a country editor to offer money for, as Carol McFee had put it, the assassination of an enemy, so Thornton had given it anonymously. Ernie didn't like McFee much better than Thornton did, but somehow that stuck in his craw. He was already ashamed of trying to scare Carol, but he put it down as necessity. Any means justified the ends, if Dave Coyle and McFee were trapped.

It was well after dark when they arrived at the Bib M. They left their horses tied to the fence in the horse pasture and quietly made their way up to the buildings. There was a light in the house, but the other buildings were deserted. Ernie first conducted a search of the barns and outbuildings. A couple of horses had come in from the pasture to drink at the tank, but that meant nothing. They could be Coyle's and McFee's or they could be ranch horses. But one thing he was sure of; there were no horses saddled for a quick getaway.

The three of them squatted behind the bunkhouse to await the arrival of Carol and Maitland.

They had waited an hour, when they heard the buckboard pull into the place and stop at the tie rail by the house. Guns drawn, they walked softly toward the house, seeing Carol pull the bell rope, and Maitland join her. When they were let into the house, Beal said, "Wait a minute. Give McFee time to find out who it is and come out."

They counted 30 seconds, and then Beal got impatient. "Come on!" he said.

They went up to the door and Beal kicked it in his anxiety to get inside.

It was opened by the maid, and Beal stepped in, gun drawn, followed by Ernie and Thornton.

Carol, an envelope in her hand, stood in the hallway, Maitland beside her. Carol had a startled expression on her face as she saw Beal.

"What are you doing here?" she asked angrily.

"We aim to search the house," Beal said grimly. "Don't you scream or raise a fuss, Miss McFee."

Carol's heart sank. Hadn't this new girl said her father had gone? She was sure she had. She looked at Lily, and Lily's face seemed serene. Assured by it, Carol's panic vanished, and in its place came anger. What right had they to hound her even to her own house? And with Lacey Thornton, too.

Maitland said sharply, "Let's see your warrant, Beal."

Beal's innocent face got a little hard. "My face is my warrant, Maitland. If it don't suit you, sue me." He looked at Carol. "You take me upstairs, Miss McFee. Have your girl take Ernie thru the lower rooms. And you just walk ahead, please, in case your dad wants to act salty with a gun."

"I won't!" Carol said.

"You better," Beal said gently. "I've never locked up a woman yet, but there's a first time for everything."

Carol, uncertain and angry and a little afraid, looked at Maitland for help.

"You don't have to do it, Carol, but you'll probably keep them from looting the place if you stay by them."

Beal flushed. "That's somethin' I'm not liable to forget next election, Senator."

"Which reminds me that you have an election coming up also," Maitland said with gentle irony. "Even-Stephen, eh?"

Beal grunted and waved Carol on. She put the letter down on the table, then said to Lily, "Show them the downstairs, Lily," and went ahead of Beal up the stairs.

Lily said to Ernie, "If you'll come this way, I'll show you."

Ernie had been looking at her for a long time, wondering where he had seen her before. Then he said abruptly, "I know you. You're the girl that asked me in town when Wallace was goin' out to his place."

Lily's face was impassive. "Yes. You didn't tell me."

"Changed jobs?" Ernie asked curiously.

Lily only nodded, and said, "Do you want to come along?"

Ernie could take a hint. She didn't want to talk about herself. He said, "Sure," and followed her. He liked her looks this time even better than he had last time, but that wedding ring troubled him. He wished vaguely she wasn't wearing it. Maitland and Lacey Thornton tagged behind as he went into the living room and began to look around.

For a half hour after that, there followed a systematic search of the house from basement to attic, Thornton helping, Maitland watching. There was a confusion of doors slamming, of walls being tapped, of furniture moved, of beds poked under and barrels upended. At the end of the search, they met in the hall again.

"I hope you're satisfied," Carol said hotly.

Ernie flushed uncomfortably. "Well, we got to look at it from the side of the law."

"The next time you come," Maitland said grimly, "you'd better have a warrant, my friends. Because even law men are fair game for a shotgun if they haven't got a warrant."

Carol looked at Lacey Thornton and her lip curled in contempt. "And since when have you been a law man?" she asked.

"I deputized him," Beal put in uncomfortably.

"Is that in return for the favor of putting up $5,000 for the capture of my father?" Carol asked.

Beal squirmed. "All right. We're doin' our best."

"Then get out of this house!" Carol cried. "If I ever see any of you around here again, I'll take down Dad's shotgun. And you, Lacey Thornton! I'll have Dad horsewhip you in public the next time you see him!"

"That'll be pretty hard to do if he's in a coffin," Ernie said angrily.

The three of them stalked out, and Lily Sholto, who had remained silent all thru this, closed the door after them.

Carol sank into the nearest chair, and looked at Maitland for a long moment. Then she said miserably, "Isn't there any way to stop this, Uncle Dan?"

Maitland smiled his tired smile. "This is just the beginning, Carol. Try and be calm."

Carol did. She leaned back in the chair and closed her eyes and relaxed. Forget them, she thought. Be thankful Dad wasn't here when they came. What had she been doing before they came. O, the letter, of course.

Universal day.—Can be highly exciting and you can use up a lot of energy in talk. Don't spread rumors.

This week.—The symbol for the number 22, which is what tomorrow is going to be, is that of a blind fool with a knapsack of errors offering no defense against a ferocious tiger which is about to devour him. This represented the year 1939, and certainly the events proved that a great part of the world was in the position of the blind fool and the tiger has swallowed them. Will the rest of the world wake up to and defend themselves against the tiger? Will they drop their knapsack of errors and arm themselves with something more appropriate? Whether one gives any credence to numbers or not, it is interesting to give a thought to this symbolic picture which has come down to us from ancient times. Since 1939 was a 22-universal year, this picture seems to hit the bulls eye as we look back on what has happened.

Dr. V. Raymond Edman Becomes President of Wheaton College

Dr. V. Raymond Edman, Ph. D., acting president of 81 year old Wheaton college for the last year, yesterday was formally inaugurated as the college's fourth president.

More than 200 visiting dignitaries, including 20 college presidents, as well as the college's 1,100 students, participated in the day long program. As one feature, Dr. Edman broke the ground for a new gymnasium. Mrs. Edman, by popular acclaim of the student body, was named May queen of the campus, an honor usually reserved for a co-ed.

Guy E. Snavely, executive director of the Association of American colleges, delivered the principal address. He warned that private colleges, during the financially difficult period caused by war preparations, must guard against the temptation to accept government subsidies. He said many universities have foundered that way during war periods in the past.

Stirring... unforgettable... the picture that's making heart-history in Chicago!

"In the moonlight their love was magic . . . in the cold light of dawn there was only the merciless truth . . . they had no right to each other's arms!"

"I know I should never see you again . . yet, I know nothing on earth can keep me away!"

2nd brilliant week!

Why does a chef wear a starched tall white cap? Not to keep his hair out of his eyes or out of the soup [he can take other precautions about these important matters], but to keep his head air conditioned in a hot kitchen. It's an old culinary custom.

That's what a group of air minded chefs decided the other day when they met in convention in United Air Lines' new and modern kitchens out at the municipal airport. But the talk about the chef's cap was just interesting conversation. The men had come in from such far points of flight as San Francisco, Portland, and New York to talk over problems involved in serving fine meals on cross-country plane flights. One of the items which came thru the rigorous tests to which plane food must be subjected before it goes onto the menu was a cheese soup, this one:

Cream of Cheese Soup.
[Six Servings.]

2 tablespoons minced onion
¼ cup butter
4½ tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
2 cups chicken stock or bouillon
½ pound sharp American cheese
½ cup minced cooked carrot
¼ cup minced cooked celery

Sauté onion in butter, but do not allow to brown. Add flour and blend well. Place over hot water, add milk gradually, and cook until thickened and smooth. Add stock or bouillon gradually. Add diced cheese and stir until melted. Add cooked vegetables [use the water in which they were cooked as part of the stock], heat thoroly, and serve topped with chopped parsley and accompanied by toasted buttered wafers.

Recommended for banishment from the dining table: The salad with watery lettuce, the one with mopey, wilted greens, the oversweet salad, the one with too much dressing.

A Superior, Wis., cook is famous for her Welsh pasties [pronounced with a short "a"]. Miners, hunters, and fishermen enjoy pasties, we're told. So does the family, at supper. Here's the beef pasty made by our famous cook:

Beef Pasties.

Crust: Enough for two large pasties.
1½ cups all purpose flour, sifted
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
About 5 tablespoons ice water

Sift flour and salt, cut in the shortening until the mixture is crumbly and add water, a tablespoon at a time, until mixture may be gathered together in one lump. Roll a circle about an eighth inch thick and 10 inches in diameter for each pasty. Fold in half and lay one half back over the rolling pin.

Filling: For two pasties.
Pot roast or round steak cut in ½ inch squares
2 cups rutabagas
4 cups potatoes
½ cup onion
Salt, pepper
6 1-inch squares suet

Slice vegetables thinly. Put rutabagas on half circle of crust first. Salt and pepper lightly. Add layers of potatoes, onions, and meat, seasoning each. Place three squares of suet on each pasty. Take the piece of crust lying over the rolling pin and fold over meat and vegetable mixture. Roll or press edges of crust and seal. Cut a 2 inch slit in the top of each pasty. Bake for an hour, first in a hot oven, then with the heat turned down to moderate. Serve with catsup.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THEY LET THEIR HAIR DOWN

SO THAT WAS NINA I MET— THE ONE AND ONLY! SHE'S A NICE APPEARING GIRL.
SHE'S SWELL, TRIXIE! YOU'VE GOT TO KNOW HER BETTER TO FIND OUT HOW GRAND SHE IS.
GOOD LOOKING, TOO. ARE YOU ENGAGED, SKEEZIX?
NO, NOT REALLY, BUT WE'RE SORT OF ENGAGED TO BE ENGAGED. HOW ABOUT YOU?
I'M NOT HANDCUFFED YET BUT I HAVE A KEEN YOUNG FIRST LIEUTENANT EARMARKED FOR ME. AND THERE'S MY CAREER, YOU KNOW.
MINE, TOO. BUT MINE IS IN ARREARS!
I WISH YOU ALL SORTS OF LUCK AND HAPPINESS, SKEEZIX. AND I KNOW YOU'LL GET SOMEWHERE!
THANKS, TRIXIE. YOU DON'T KNOW HOW PROUD I AM OF YOU—AND THE FOLKS AT HOME ARE, TOO.

Good Morning!

This is one of those yes and no pictures.

Sometimes it's vurr' good and sometimes punk is the word that describes it. But—

All in all it stacks up as pretty fair entertainment.

"Mr. District Attorney" is a screen treatment of the radio show by the same name, presenting for contemplation a cub assistant district attorney and an O-SO-WISE newspaper girl on the track of crooked politicians.

The trail leads them into strange and often terrifying predicaments and in spots the piece takes on the bright gory hue of old time ten, twent' thirt' melodrama. . . . Of course the perspicacity of the pure wins the day . . .

Florence Rice and Dennis O'Keefe are a pleasing pair in the featured rôles. Peter Lorre makes your blood run cold—as usual. How does that man get so slimy? I mean in pictures. Stanley Ridges as the district attorney and Minor Watson as the naughtly man with the nice smile are all they should be.

If you like the air serial you'll probably enjoy its screen translation.

See you tomorrow.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

Men's Tie and Suspenders

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Men's crocheted ties and matching suspenders are among the ideal choices when one is trying to determine a suitable gift for Father's day. These are quick and easy crochet jobs which may be attempted with success by the beginning needleworker. The stitches are effective and durable. Mercerized crochet cotton or fine embroidery silk may be employed for these articles.

For instructions in crocheting the suspenders and tie, No. 802, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, May 9.—Buster Keaton's movie comeback in "Puddin' Head," was short lived. After having built up his part, Republic gave him the heave-o. . . . The heat wave is so bad 20th-Fox had to call off the civil war. It canceled a call for 350 Union soldiers and 250 Confederate, or non-union, soldiers who were to fight a battle and then burn Gene Tierney's home in "Belle Starr," and put the whole thing over till next week. . . . A few of the more modern sound stages are air conditioned, but most of them are ovens—and working outdoors on back lots is even worse. Best acting assignment of the week fell to the Dead End Kids, who are making a serial called "Sea Raider" at Universal. They've had nothing to do but swim around in a big outdoor tank.

Hollywood is full of retired or semi-retired mobsters. In fact, Kenneth Thomson, executive secretary of the screen actors, has told me that most of the country's leisure-hunting hoodlums are on the union rolls as extras. Well, one of these boys was reminiscing the other night and he told a true tale of three musketeers who had moved into a small town to case a bank and rob it. While they were studying up one of them got pneumonia and died, so the other two had to bury him. They went to an undertaker to make a deal and the undertaker had two available coffins—a $150 one and a thousand dollar one. It was simple for one of the boys to engage the mortician's attention while the other switched price tags. Then they bought and paid for the "cheap" one. On the way out they were jubilant. Said one, "wouldn't Joe be proud of us, pulling a job like that?"

A tour of the Columbia lot turns up the following:

John Emery, Broadway actor and husband of Tallulah Bankhead, is getting a crack at films in Robert Montgomery's "Heaven Can Wait." He and Tallulah are estranged and I think he mourns the fact. He tells me she called him up and said she was going to Reno [where she now is]. He must have made some mild objection, for she next said, "but darling, I can kill two birds with one stone. I've got eight weeks off and I can get in some fine horseback riding."

Al Hall, director of "Heaven Can Wait," says that won't be the title. There have been too many "heavens" in too many flop pictures. The last really successful "heaven" picture was the first "Seventh Heaven."

Mr. Hall, who is as unassuming and unarty a man as you'll find in the directorial ranks, carries a worry stick. It is a brass rod, the length and tapered shape of a Toscanini baton, with a small round wooden head on it, and the head says Al Hall in brass letters. He whips it around and taps for attention with it and fiddles with it, and it keeps him from getting nervous. His director's chair has a wide right arm on it, like a chair at a one-arm lunch, and there's a hole drilled in the middle of it where he can park his stick. He used to use ordinary musicians' batons, but he broke so many of them that Joan Blondell gave him this one nine pictures ago.

Herb Stein has the perfect talent scout story, about the scout who has yet to discover any one. "The trouble is," says one of his associates, "that he's always looking for a very young, very beautiful girl—with 50 years' experience."

"A Yank in the RAF" will have some war slang, and some of the phrases which have been okayed by three technical directors are: Mae West—an inflatable life saving jacket. To tap in—to have a good time. A hush-hush—a secret instrument. "I boobed it"—made a mess of it. When the balloon goes up—when things start to happen. "I'm all buttoned up"—thoroly prepared.

Luncheon, Card Party

Our Lady of Sorrows Woman's club will hold its annual luncheon and card party today at the Graemere hotel.

a piano recital after dinner. He and Mrs. Ganz are entertaining a number of friends. Others giving parties are the George B. Everitts, Harold C. Bodman, the William E. Vogelbacks, the John R. Winterbothams, John Palmer, and Walter Bothoff.

Parker School Parents' Association Meets Tonight.

The Parents' association of the Francis W. Parker school will hold its annual meeting at 8 o'clock tonight. Elliott Dunlap Smith, master of Saybrook college, Yale university, will speak. After an election of officers there will be an informal discussion of new plans for the school, and a reception in the old gymnasium.

The newly remodeled Moraine hotel, Highland Park, will be opened this evening with a benefit party given by the North Shore Service league of the Chicago Maternity center. The event, which is under the general chairmanship of Mrs. John Nagel Jr., will be a "sports shuffle."

In the audience in Orchestra hall tonight when Veloz and Yolanda give their first Chicago concert will be the workers who have been soliciting sustaining members for the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The dancers asked Henry E. Voegeli, manager of the orchestra, to extend an invitation to the workers.

Attractive Sports Costume

MISS' SPORTS OUTFIT.

Avoiding the strictly tailored air of most active sports clothes, this ensemble contrives a large amount of femininity without sacrificing any of the comfort necessary in frocks which must see duty on tennis courts and golf courses. To don after the game and for all more formal public appearances, there's a bolero jacket, to match or contrast.

Style No. 3257 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Foster Mothers to Receive Tribute at Tea Tomorrow

More than a thousand foster mothers will be guests of the Council of Social Agencies at tea tomorrow in the Hotel La Salle. Fathers are expected to attend also, but they will not receive special attention since the occasion is Mother's day.

The purpose is to recognize Chicago mothers who have opened their homes and their hearts to other people's children. Thousands of children who cannot live in their own homes because of the death or divorce of their parents are given a chance to live a normal life in foster homes. Sometimes the foster parents pay the expenses. More often the Juvenile court or some agency pays for the child's food, clothes, and medical care.

Miss Ethel Waters, actress, who is a generous contributor to children's charities, will be guest speaker. Wilfred S. Reynolds, director of the council, and executives of the 10 member organizations of the council will receive the parents. A motion picture on foster home care will be shown.

Exaggeration Not Untruth in Childhood

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Some parents feel, when the first inaccurate statement is made, that "something must be done about it" at once, so that the child won't grow up deceiving himself and others. It's wrong to make an issue of a little child's seeming untruthfulness. Children see things from their own level, are naturally impulsive, and imagination plays a major rôle in what they actually think is happening or is about to happen. They may misjudge, misconstrue, or miscalculate, but they don't deliberately do any of these things, because they can't yet understand the meaning of the word falsification. Also, the line between "fact and fancy" is not as clear-cut for them as for us.

If you fly off the handle, scold or punish them, they are bewildered and utterly at sea as to the cause of your censure. You often defeat your own purpose by dealing with the matter in this way, because you bring into being the thought of deception, which up to that moment had no place in your child's mind.

Of course if, as a child grows older, such a situation still exists, then something should "be done about it"; but small headway will be made if you blindly correct or accuse, if you act as tho a major crime had been committed at every slight error in description or explanation that your child may make. You can lead your child into truthfulness by always being truthful yourself; by being fair and honest in your dealings with him; and by making it possible [by your management of him] for him to talk things over freely with you under all circumstances.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

According to the last census, there are 2,687 different types of bad bridge partners. Of all these, I am most afraid of a partner who refuses to make light opening bids, but who becomes a veritable Desperate Desmond in bidding the same hand "secondarily," at the two, three, or even the four level. In short, the type of player sitting South in the following deal:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
East-West 40 part-score.
Rubber bridge.

NORTH
♠ Q J 10 7
♥ A J 6 2
♦ 7 2

WEST
♠ A K 8 4 3
♥ 10 7
♦ K 10 9 3

EAST
♠ 9 5
♥ K 8 5 3
♦ Q 5

SOUTH
♠ 6 2
♥ Q 9 4
♦ A J 8 6 4
♣ A 7 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 spade	Pass	2 clubs
2 diamonds	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

Despite the fact that South found North with considerably better than a "bust," the neck-stretching two diamond bid was punished to the tune of 800 points. If North had not thoughtfully provided the heart ace, this penalty would have been increased to at least 1,100 and probably 1,400 points.

This rather expensive way of saving a rubber [which, in line with poetic justice, South had to concede to the opponents on the next deal] was the result of South's original pass. I freely grant that his hand was not robust, but it did contain a rebiddable suit and a total of two and one-half honor tricks, which brought it within the range of legitimate and logical opening bids. It was South's conservatism and self-restraint at his first opportunity that trapped him into the belated effort to defend against the clearly impending game contract of the opponents. The player who restrains himself from making these light bids is exactly the type that ignores a bid by each opponent and a pass by partner.

Obviously, an opening diamond bid by South would have risked nothing and it was all the more desirable to make this bid because the opponents were on score. By bidding a diamond South could ascertain, immediately and cheaply, whether he and his partner could afford to outbid the opponents. He would announce his suit and general strength to North and the latter would be able to take the proper measures. The bidding probably would proceed:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 spade	1 no trump	3 clubs
Pass	2 spades	Pass	Pass
Pass

From North's point of view, there would be a good chance to defeat a two spade contract; from South's angle, there would simply be no further action available, he had given his all with his original bid. Actually, West would make two spades if he played correctly, but surely this would be a lesser calamity for North-South than the 800 points vainly spent in defending.

EIGHT NAMED TO RUN IN PREAKNESS TODAY

COAST BARS 8 STANFORD ATHLETES; 14 OTHERS HIT

CHICAGO, JOLIET BOYS RULED OUT AT WASHINGTON

Alumni Blamed for Ban on Freshmen.

San Francisco, Cal., May 9 (AP).—Two former high school football players from the Chicago area and eight Stanford athletes were included in a list of 22 freshmen athletes at five Pacific Coast conference universities who were declared ineligible for further athletic competition today by Commissioner Edwin N. Atherton.

Milton Pergament.

The Chicago area players, enrolled in the University of Washington, are Full Back Milton Pergament, who was graduated from Lane Technical High school of Chicago in 1940, and Frank Wardley, also a back, who attended Joliet, Ill., High. Wardley is a brother of Jay Wardley, a recent star in the University of Illinois back field.

The rulings also hit six at the University of Oregon, four at Washington State college, and two at Oregon State college.

Absolves Idaho, Montana.

Atherton, whose two year survey resulted in wholesale revamping of the athletic code in 1939, absolved the Universities of Idaho and Montana of any violations following his latest investigation.

The ineligibility rulings were based on Atherton's asserted findings that improper inducements had been offered the students. The inducements included tuition awards by alumni organizations, special reductions in fraternity house charges for room and board, transportation and expenses, and the offer of a surgical operation and hospitalization without cost.

Aside from being the hardest hit in the matter of freshman athletes already enrolled, Stanford was denied the possible future athletic participation of 13 Oklahoma and Texas High school stars who, Atherton said, had been approached thru letters by an alumnus living in Oklahoma.

Banned Athletes May Transfer.

In his ruling today Atherton pointed out that the 22 students affected were not barred from transferring to other member schools and participating there in intercollegiate athletics.

The transfer would cost one year of competition unless the rule were waived upon the recommendation of the commissioner, in which case the student could enjoy three years of varsity activity.

The Stanford freshmen declared ineligible are: Robert Waters of Bakersfield, Cal., a sprinter; Robert Koch and James Ellis, football and baseball players, both from Portland, Ore.; Matthew Petrlich of Midvale, Utah, and Harold Petrich of Long Beach, Cal., football and baseball players; Jean Lamoure of Fresno, Cal., and William Joslyn, San Francisco, both football and track, and George Nourse, Santa Monica, a football-basketball man.

Oregon Loses Boe.

University of Oregon lost the athletic services of Ingvard [Inky] Boe of Milwaukee, Ore., Laurence Casper of Blaine, Wash., Bartholomew Gianelli of Everett, Wash., all football prospects; Robert Sheridan of Portland, and William Gissberg of Everett, basketball and baseball stars; and Laurence Olson of San Francisco, a football-baseball athlete.

The four first year football players ruled ineligible at Washington State were Keith Carr of Bellingham, Fred Small of Mead, Wash., and Donald Prentice and Robert Simpson, both registered from Spokane.

Two Klamath Falls boys, William Rush and Kenneth Wilson, both football players, were ruled out at Oregon State.

God's Masterpiece.

A sweet little lady in gingham,
Uncrowned, but queenly and fair;
Her eyes the reflection of lovelight,
A sprinkle of gray on her hair.
Her hands, tho calloused with labor,
Are as soft as the dew on the vine,
And her heart, God made nothing sweeter
Than the heart of your mother and mine.

To Mother—1941.

Sittin' on a fishin' boat,
Lookin' at the sea,
It's one place it always seems
Just like it used to be.

Huns blitz away security,
The war rules all the news,
Bombers roar across the skies,
And millions have the blues.

In fact, since Hitler made his start
You seldom see folks smile;
The world has lost all freedom,
'Twill be gone for quite a while.

But sittin' and a thinkin',
It allers seems to me
No one can ever blitz away
The things that used to be.

The girls I used to think were grand,
The cars of 1905,
The time I caught a 10 pound fish,
'Twas good to be alive.

Now all these things and many more
Come back at my command,
The good old days of used to be,
Tho war's on every hand.

That's why I love you, mother dear,
Tho you're so far from me
You're still the same, your own dear self,
Just like you used to be.

Sittin' on a fishin' boat,
Lookin' at the sea,
It's one place it always seems
Just like it used to be.

Just think of all the meals I've cooked
And take me out to dinner.

Thus You Ever Taught Us.

Kindly truths you taught us, Mother,
"Never envy one another.
What you do not have right now,
Future pleasure may allow."

Always in my mind, deferring,
Are the thoughts of you, recurring.
"Could we publicly display
Troubles all of us dismay,
Each his own pain would find less,
After viewing other stress."

Gentleness and kindly feeling
Were your lips forever sealing,
To the hurts and wrong you saw
In the codes of human law.

Thus you ever taught us, Mother,
Always to forgive the other,
Always for the good to strive,
Always to let hope survive.

St. Louis, Mo., May 9 (AP).—The Browns won the only game played in the major leagues today, knocking out Bob Feller and beating the Cleveland Indians, 9 to 6, for their first victory over the speedball pitcher since 1938.

It was the fourth straight setback for the league leaders, who had won 11 in a row before losing to the Senators Tuesday. Then they lost two to the Yankees before coming here.

The lowly Browns, whose giant-killing feats had much to do with Cleveland's downfall last season, broke the Feller jinx with a surge of batting power that overcame what appeared to be a discouraging four-run handicap.

The Indians rolled up their quartet of runs against Vernon Kennedy in the second inning and Feller seemed on his easy way to his sixth straight victory. Instead he wound up with his second defeat.

Away Goes Feller.

In the third inning, Harlond Clift singled, Alan Strange hit his second double and Chet Laabs walked to fill the bases for the Browns. Roy Cullenbine then cleaned the bases with a triple.

Feller was driven out in the next inning when the tail end of the Browns' batting order started them off on a four run rally. Don Heffner walked, Frank Grube singled, and Kennedy then batted the tying run across with a single. Clift's double counted two more runs and Laabs' single scored the fourth and sent Feller to the showers.

Rip Radcliff hit a home run off Ken Jungels in the fifth and he tripled off Clint Brown and scored on an error in the seventh.

Trosky Sets Off Blast.

In the Indians' big second inning, Hal Trosky singled to right and took third on a hit by Jeff Heath. Gee Walker also came thru with a single, scoring Trosky and sending Heath to third. Ray Mack sent Heath home with a fly to Cullenbine. Rollie Hemsley kept the attack alive with a single which scored Walker and Rollie went to third when Cullenbine's throw-in hit Walker in the back. Feller's fly to Cullenbine scored Hemsley.

The two runs Cleveland picked up in the fifth grew out of Heffner's error on Roy Weatherly's grounder with two out, Ken Keltner's double off the left field fence, a pass to Lou Boudreau and Trosky's single, which counted Weatherly and Keltner.

Kennedy, while with the Chicago White Sox, pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Cleveland Aug. 31, 1935.

Whirlaway Bids for No. 2 of the Big Stakes

Warren Wright's Whirlaway demonstrates the speed which won the Kentucky Derby as he works out for the $69,500 Preakness stakes at Pimlico today. Despite heavy rain yesterday the forecast today was for clear skies and a drying out strip. Whirlaway's record time for the Derby was made over a fast track. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

It's No Problem to Reach Courses for Free Golf School

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The ninth annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE will open Tuesday night on the four courses of the Chicago Park district—Jackson, Columbus, Marquette, and Diversey-in-Lincoln. It has been the use of these four courses within the last five years that has made the school the success it is.

When the school was founded in the spring of 1933, it relied for instructional centers on the 27 member courses of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association, which were among the originators of the plan. Even in those early classes, THE TRIBUNE school made itself the largest system of group teaching the game ever had seen. But it was felt that thousands of potential pupils were unable to attend the classes because of lack of adequate transportation.

Suggests Use of Park Courses.

Realizing that the conduct of the lessons within the metropolitan area proper would make it possible for many more novices to take advantage of the free lessons, THE TRIBUNE suggested the use of the Chicago Park district courses, and the Daily Fee association operators and the commissioners of the park district agreed that such a move would give thousands of golfers a chance to attend the classes.

All four of the courses are easily accessible, by rapid transit, bus and surface lines. The Jackson park links, oldest in the park system and the cradle of many of our town's best golfers, is located at 63d street and Stony Island avenue; the Marquette layout at Marquette road and Kedzie avenue; the Columbus park course at Jackson boulevard and Central avenue, and the Diversey course in Lincoln park on Lake Michigan at the foot of Diversey boulevard.

Granted For Sixth Year.

Recently, the park board granted permission for the use of its courses for the school for the sixth consecutive year. Headed by President Robert J. Dunham, with George T. Donoghue as general superintendent, the commission includes Philip S. Graver, James C. Petrillo, Stephen I. Witmanski, and Louis E. Golan.

The school is open and free to every man, woman, and child interested in learning the fundamentals of the game from an expert faculty composed of members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

Four regular classes, all beginning promptly at 7 p. m., will be held on each of the four courses, the first one Tuesday, the second one next Thursday, the third one on Tuesday, May 20, and the fourth and final of the regular series on Thursday, May 22. The graduating exercises for the 32 students adjudged the best in their classes will be held on Sunday afternoon, May 25, on one of the four courses, to be chosen later.

The only requirements for matriculation in the school are one golf club [preferably a driver for the first lesson], a willingness to learn the game from the ground up, and your prompt presence at the course nearest your home or work. If you don't own a club borrow one.

SOOSE MAKES IT OFFICIAL; BEATS OVERLIN AGAIN

Fight Decisions

At New York City—Billy Soose beat Ken Overlin [15]; Lulu Costantino beat Joey Iannotti [8]; Maxie Shapiro beat George Salamone [8]; Carlos Cuebas and Henry Vasquez drew [4].

New York, May 9 (AP).—Billy Soose tonight won the New York version of the world middleweight championship by taking a 15 round decision over Ken Overlin. There were no knockdowns and neither fighter was in serious trouble. Overlin weighed 159½ and Soose 157¾.

The pro-Soose crowd greeted the verdict with cheers. The Associated Press scorecard showed 11 rounds for Overlin and four for the Farrell, Pa., ex-collegian.

The craft picked up in a dozen years of barnstorming around the kerosene circuit seemed to be carrying Overlin to a victory over the harder punching Soose, but the latter put on a stout rally to take the final round and swing the verdict his way.

Referee Votes for Soose.

Referee Arthur Donovan gave Overlin seven rounds and Soose eight, Judge Marty Monroe had the same opinion, while the other judge, Bill Healy, went overboard for Soose, giving him nine rounds, to five for Overlin, and one even.

Overlin appeared to have the fight under control from the start, circling the stalking Soose in a jiggling, bobbing dance, and darting in to land sharply, usually with a curling left hook to the body.

The punches lacked steam, however, and his habit of falling into a clinch as soon as he landed and tying up Soose counted heavily against him.

It's Bill's Second Victory.

It was Soose's second straight victory over Overlin. Billy won a 10 round decision in a nontitle bout in Scranton last July.

Chris Dundee, Overlin's manager, was so incensed over the verdict tonight he threatened to go before the state athletic commission and ask for a reversal.

A crowd of 11,676 paid $35,973 to see the bout.

BETTORS FLOCK TO WHIRLAWAY ON DRYING STRIP

Our Boots Classed as Doubtful Starter.

Preakness Field

BALTIMORE, Md., May 9 (AP).—The field in tomorrow's 51st running of the Preakness stakes at 1 3/16 miles follows:

P.P.	Jockey.	Prob. odds.
1	Whirlaway	Eddie Arcaro.. 4-5
2	Ocean Blue.....	Ira Hanford....10-1
3	Porter's Cap....	Buddy Haas..... 4-1
4	Curious Coin....	I. Anderson....10-1
5	King Cole.....	John Gilbert...20-1
6	Kansas	J. Harrell.....50-1
7	Dispose	C. Bierman.....15-1
8	Our Boots.....	Conn McCreary. 6-1

All carry 126 pounds.

Baltimore, Md., May 9 (AP).—Headed by Warren Wright's Whirlaway, a field of eight colts was entered today for tomorrow's 51st running of the $69,500 Preakness. The possibility of mud added interest to the outcome.

Of the eight named to shoot for the jackpot of about $50,000, only one—Our Boots, standard-bearer of the Woodvale farm, owned by Royce Martin of Toledo—appeared other than a certain starter, despite the rain which poured down for hours on Pimlico's racing strip today.

Our Boots, one of the three in this field which chased Whirlaway home in his record smashing Derby run a week ago, did not come out of that tussle any too well. Trainer Steve Judge dropped the colt's name into the entry box doubtfully and said he wouldn't decide until sometime tomorrow whether the son of Bulldog would answer when the band calls them out with "Maryland, My Maryland."

Smiling Skies Promised.

Altho the weather man promised smiling skies for tomorrow, today's downpour and a threat of showers tonight left it a tossup whether the mud runners would have all the best of it in the mile and three-sixteenths run.

It was generally agreed that, while the chances for a lightning fast track were slim, there was a likelihood for good footing on a drying out strip with no more rain between now and Preakness post time, 4:45 p. m. [Chicago daylight saving time].

Wet or dry, it appeared tonight the expected crowd of 40,000 would make Whirlaway a lopsided favorite, probably odds-on, by post time, so completely did he and the combination of Trainer Ben Jones and Jockey Eddie Arcaro stand out over the field. Whirlaway was strictly the glamor boy, despite the admitted possibility that Pimlico's narrower curves and shorter stretch will prove tougher for him than the Churchill Downs track.

The Ones to Beat.

Those who wanted to be shown, however, saw Our Boots and Charles Howard's Porter's Cap as the ones to beat the little chestnut if any one ends his hopes of capturing the triple crown—the Derby, Preakness and Belmont stakes. They pointed out that neither of these two ran to his usual form last week.

The question marks were Crispin Oglebay's Ocean Blue, a son of Blue Larkspur and grandson of Man o' War, which won the Survivor stakes here on Tuesday, and Curious Coin, from the Cold Stream stable of Elmer Dale Shaffer and Jack Howard, which ran second in Hialeah Park's Flamingo stakes and in the Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

If King Cole or Curious Coin—both $1,500 supplementary entries—wins, the net value will be $49,500. For any one of the others, the net value will be $50,865.

Joe Ray Wins Nursery.

E. K. Bryson's Joe Ray whipped two of the outstanding 2 year olds of the spring today to capture the Pimlico Nursery stakes with a convincing display of stretch running over a muddy track.

Picking up a winner's purse of $5,150, the juvenile son of Infinite overcame the handicap of being carried wide turning into the stretch and still wound up two lengths in front of Mrs. R. D. Patterson's highly regarded Ben Shaba, second choice in the field of six. The odds-on favorite, Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Black Raider, finished fourth after running wide at the head of the stretch.

Under strong handling by Conn McCreary, Joe Ray drew out near the finish and was clocked in 1:02 over the off-track. He returned $12.20 for each $2 win ticket.

Black Raider Bears Out.

Black Raider set most of the early pace, but bore out turning for home and weakened at the close to be beaten by a nose by Breckinridge Long's Equipet for show honors. Al Shelhamer, aboard Equipet, lodged a claim of foul against the winner, but it was denied. Equipet was caught between Black Raider and Joe Ray at the head of the stretch and had no racing room.

For his ride on Black Raider, Jockey Buddy Haas was suspended and his case was referred to the Maryland racing commission. However, Haas will be permitted to handle Porter's Cap in the Preakness.

MIKEL CASE IS HISTORY; STATE GRANTS LICENSE

Friends Welcome John D. Back at Sportsman's.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

John D. Mikel, veteran Illinois horseman, was restored to good standing yesterday when the State Racing commission granted him a license to run his thorobreds at Sportsman's Park and other tracks within its jurisdiction. This action nullified a long standing edict which had ruled Mikel off the turf for life on charges of racing a 3 year old named My Bane in an event for 2 year olds at Lincoln Fields in 1935.

The original disbarment proceedings were launched when the ruling body had a considerably different makeup than at present. Christopher J. Fitz-Gerald, steward representing the commission at all Chicago area tracks, made the recommendation after the race in question. His recommendation was acted on by a commission consisting of Peter Carey, Leo Spitz, and Walter Peacock. The secretary, who held a strong advisory position, was George Foster.

New Group Acts.

Since then Carey, Spitz, and Foster have resigned. The present group, which consists of Commissioners Peacock and Hubert Howard, Steward William Hamilton, and Secretary Clement Nance, yesterday issued the license.

The Mikel case became one of the most celebrated controversies in racing history. Mikel contended that he had entered the horse in good faith under the belief that he actually was a 2 year old. There was a long succession of court actions. Twice the commission was ordered to issue a license but legal delays prolonged the battle.

Senator Simon Lantz of Congerville, a neighbor of Mikel, who lives in Carlock, carried the fight into the Illinois legislature. In the spring of 1940, a bill sponsored by Lantz, calling for the abolition of the present set up of the racing commission, was passed by the senate with only one dissenting vote. Before the house voted on it, however, Gov. Henry Horner returned from Florida and the matter was pigeonholed.

Another Bill Pends.

Another bill of which Lantz is cosponsor now is pending in the legislature. One of its provisions calls for a revision of the basis on which the present commission is founded. The Mikel case prompted this also.

One of the points at issue thruout the controversy was whether the facts of an individual case were subject to review by court action or whether the court was concerned only with deciding whether or not the commission had a legal right to bar a horseman for life if the commissioners were satisfied that the evidence warranted it. The bill now pending specifically provides for review of the facts.

Double Pays $1,496.

Mikel was at Sportsman's Park yesterday and received his license from Hamilton. Many of his old friends were present in the racing secretary's office when the permit was issued and he was given a warm welcome back.

A little elderly lady, who chose to remain anonymous, yesterday presented a daily double ticket to the Sportsman's Park cashier and collected $1,496. She was one of the six persons who coupled Golden Nugget in the first race with Wha Hae in the second. The other five deferred making their collection until a less conspicuous time.

Old Wally Berger Lands a Job with Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Cal., May 9 (AP).—Wally Berger, veteran major league outfielder and a free agent, joined the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league today. Berger went from the Angels to the Boston Braves in 1930 and later played with the New York Giants and Cincinnati. He finished the 1940 season with Indianapolis in the American association after a final major league fling with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Illinois Tennis Squad Runs Over Iowa, 7 to 2

Champaign, Ill., May 9 [Special].—The Illinois tennis team defeated Iowa today, 7 to 2, to win its second Big Ten match in five starts. Illinois swept the doubles and won four of the singles.

DODGERS BREAK OUT WITH RASH OF CASH GUESTS

Draw 291,081 at Home, a 5th of Majors' Total.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 9 (AP).—More than a million and a half fans have passed thru the turnstiles since the start of the major league season and almost one-fifth of these have crowded into the Dodgers' home arena, Ebbets field, one of the smallest parks in the big time.

The Dodgers' amazing attendance figures have become as exciting to baseball executives as the club's won and lost figures have to the fans.

The Dodgers have drawn 291,081 paid admissions to 18 games at home, exceeding by more than 100,000 persons the turnout in Cleveland for the American league leading Indians in the same number of games, or at Detroit, for 17 games. Both these cities have large stadiums.

Double Next Largest Crowd.

Time after time the hilarious crowds which jam Ebbets field to hoot and holler for the Dodgers have been approximately double the next largest turnout in either league and it has been a common occurrence for the throngs there to exceed the combined attendance of all other National league games.

A four game series with the world champion Cincinnati Reds on the worst sports days in the week—Monday thru Thursday—brought out 74,073 and two games with the St. Louis Cardinals the middle of this week produced 44,205 paid admissions.

None of these figures includes ladies' day, boys' day, or other guests. Yesterday 10,621 women were admitted for payment of 10 cents tax. However, at least half of these fans moved over to higher priced seats by payment of an additional 35, 65, or 85 cents, depending on their location, and the Dodgers actually benefited almost as much from this method of admittance as if the women were counted as paying customers.

Service Charge on Passes.

In the big leagues the visiting club receives a little less than 25 cents for each paid admission, but the home club keeps all receipts from ticket exchanges by ladies' day guests. The Brooklyn club also places a service charge of 40 cents on all passes. Thus it may be seen that President Larry MacPhail, top showman in baseball, has managed to play both ends against the middle.

The 1939 Dodgers set a Brooklyn season's attendance record of 1,007,000 paid admissions. Last year the season's total fell slightly under a million, but it appears the club has another record in its grasp this year.

A Great Road Attraction.

The Dodgers also have been a great road attraction. A recent Sunday game with the New York Giants at the Polo grounds set a National league record for a crowd at a single game, 56,314. This one game accounted for nearly one-third of all the Giants' attendance to date.

The total attendance by clubs:

TRIBUNE RACE SELECTION PAYS $122.30 TO WIN

Followers of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S race horse handicapper had a remunerative day yesterday. Harry Heiman, THE TRIBUNE'S selection in the sixth race at Jamaica, paid off at $122.30 for a $2 mutuel win ticket. Smart Crack and Deep End, second and third TRIBUNE selections in this race, finished in a dead heat for place. In the first five races at Jamaica TRIBUNE picks finished either second or third.

Griffith Moves to Stop Tax on Sporting Goods

Washington, D. C., May 9 (AP).—Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of Athletics for the Big Ten conference, appealed to the house ways and means committee today to reject a proposed 10 per cent tax on baseball and football equipment and similar sporting goods. He said that if youths did not participate in such sports they would grow soft.

Hank's Gone; Sox Pick Lefty to Face Tigers

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Instead of taking a complete rest after yesterday's scheduled opener of the White Sox-Tigers series had been frozen out, Manager James Dykes did a little more master minding with his pitching staff.

It occurred to him that, with everybody fairly well relaxed as the result of three afternoons of idleness in less than a week, he might as well look ahead and arrange accordingly. In other words, the Sox boss instead of taking 'em in turn, as is his usual inclination, altered his program so that this or that fellow could work in this or that place within the next week. Put 'em where they might do the most good, is the idea.

It's Lefty Lee Today.

Bill Dietrich was supposed to work yesterday's Tiger engagement, an honor accorded him because of his recent two hitter against the same outfit. Instead of working today, Dietrich will be put back in the reserve stock and Thornton Lee will be employed. Pitching a lefty against the Tigers hasn't been considered exactly orthodox, but Left Fielder Hank Greenberg, a right handed hitter, now is Private Hank Greenberg, so a southpaw flinger has much less to worry about. Hal Newhouser will pitch for Detroit.

The 40 year old Ted Lyons will go back on his Sunday schedule tomorrow, a move Dykes was able to make when weather washed away Thursday's game. Sunday's game will close the present Comiskey park visit and the Sox will not have any more work on their hands until Tuesday in Boston. That's the afternoon that Dietrich will be lifted down off the shelf and warmed up. The Boston series embraces two games, the second of which probably will be handled by John Rigney.

Then on to New York.

From Boston the Sox move over to New York and that's where the second phase of the pitcher juggling done by Dykes yesterday will become evident. Lee, by pitching today, will have had sufficient rest for another start in the Yanke opener Thursday. Eddie [Lefty] Smith also will be ready for that series. Rain however, might upset the whole thing and force Dykes to do his master minding all over again.

Julius Solters, the regular left fielder, reported yesterday his jammed right kunckles were feeling much better but the manager, despite four straight defeats, says he is not contemplating issuing a rush order that would bring Solters back into action. The boss feels that Myrl Hoag, just getting acquainted after his sudden but enjoyable leap from the Browns to the Sox, is going to be of some help. And besides Solters' injury there is his little batting slump which with sufficient rest might vanish completely.

Miss Suggs, Mrs. Chandler Reach Southern Golf Final

Memphis, Tenn., May 9 (AP).—Louise Suggs shot her way into the finals of the Southern Women's Golf tournament today with a 3 and 2 victory over Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, Chapel Hill, N. C., veteran. The 17 year old Lithia Springs, Ga., youngster will meet Mrs. Dan Chandler, Dallas, Tex., star, who rallied to eliminate Mrs. Sam Israel of New Orleans, one up, on the 19th hole.

Wildcat, Spartan Golfers Meet at Kildeer Today

Northwestern's golf team will depart from Big Ten competition today as it meets Michigan State in a dual match at the Kildeer Country club. The match will serve as a tuneup for a clash with Illinois, Big Ten champion, at Urbana Monday.

CUBS FACE REDS; NOW IF THEY CAN JUST GET A RUN

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., May 9.—Encouraged by two straight victories over the Phillies, the Cubs will seek to score their first run of the year against the somewhat bruised world champion Cincinnati Reds in Crosley field tomorrow afternoon. It will be the third try, as they failed, 1 to 0, on April 22 and, 5 to 0, on April 23.

Scoring a run against the Reds isn't the main idea, of course. But the Cubs are pretty sharp and know they can't possibly beat the champions until they score that first run. "Why, that's elemental arithmetic" confidentially said Manager James Wilson today.

Larry Gets the Call.

Lawrence French, who had been best of the Cubs' pitchers up till the time the Giants whizzed a few past his ears in New York the other day, has been delegated to pitch the opener of the imminent three game series here. He probably will be opposed by Paul Derringer.

The Reds came back home feeling not too robust as a result of their roamings in the east. They returned in a fourth-fifth place tie with the Boston Braves.

It was reported today that the Reds were dickering for Pitcher Bill Lee of the Cubs, but Cincinnati has failed to make a satisfactory offer. There also is a possibility that Dizzy Dean may get the ax when the May 15 deadline for cutting down the roster to 25 men arrives.

CUBS BUY QUINN.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 9 (AP).—The Los Angeles baseball club has sold Wellington [Wimpy] Quinn, young first baseman, to the Chicago Cubs for an undisclosed sum. Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Cubs believes he can convert Quinn into a pitcher. He plans to work with him for six weeks, and then place him with a minor league club on option.

Quinn was purchased by the Angels from Vancouver of the Western International league, but he failed to hit Pacific Coast league pitching and was replaced by Phil Weintraub.

LUMBARD GIVEN MACKINAC CUP BY YACHTSMEN

More than 100 Great Lakes yachtsmen attended the Chicago Yacht club's annual Mackinac winners' dinner last night at the Grant park harbor clubhouse. Ed Lumbard, owner of the cutter Bangalore, cruising division winner of the 1940 Mackinac race, and Otto Dreher, owner of the racing division winner, Lively Lady, were awarded the historic Mackinac cup and the Chicago-Mackinac trophy.

Karl Nibecker, club commodore, was toastmaster. Among the visiting yachtsmen were Anthony Herrman, skipper of the Q class sloop Gloriant, Racine Yacht club; Thomas Hefferan, skipper of the 48 foot cruising yawl Tomahawk of the Spring Lake, Mich., Yacht club, and John B. Ford, owner of the 50 foot cruising yawl Reyono of the Grosse Point [Detroit, Mich.] Yacht club.

Fort Worth Gives Marberry His Unconditional Release

Fort Worth, Tex., May 9 (AP).—Pitcher Fred Marberry, for the last three years with the Fort Worth Cats of the Texas league, was given his unconditional release today. Marberry, who is in his 20th year of professional baseball, hoped to catch on with some other club and finish out the season.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 9 [Special].—The University of Illinois baseball team overcame Michigan's early lead to hand the Wolverines their first Big Ten defeat here today, 3 to 2.

Capt. Alan Grant of Illinois limited Michigan to four singles as he bested Cliff Wise, who gave up nine hits. Score:

Illinois	000	011	100	3	9	3
Michigan	110	000	000	2	4	1

Batteries—Grant and Brewer; Wise and Harms.

PURDUE, 6; NORTHWESTERN, 1.

Lafayette, Ind., May 9 [Special].—Purdue delivered a severe blow to Northwestern's hope for another Big Ten baseball title by trouncing the Wildcats, 6 to 1, this afternoon in the first game of the series. Don Blanken held Northwestern to three hits after the first inning and struck out seven. Purdue pounded Steve Meschuk consistently, took the lead in the home half of the first inning with two runs, and scored single runs in the next four.

George McKinnon's one hand running catch in short left center of Mike Byelene's low fly, on which he doubled Ernie Young at second, was the fielding feature. Score:

Purdue	211	110	00*	6

Batteries—Meschuk and Arnold; Blanken and Young.

IOWA, 12; CHICAGO, 1.

Chicago's Maroons still are in last place in the Western conference baseball standings. They absorbed their seventh consecutive defeat yesterday, 12 to 1, in the opener of a two game series with Iowa's Hawkeyes on Greenwood field. The second contest will be played at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon on the same field. Art Lopatka, Maroon pitcher, yielded 14 hits in suffering his third setback of the campaign. Score:

Iowa	132	001	113	12	14	2

Batteries—Stasny, Hill and Welp; Lopatka and Miller.

BADGERS, 10; GOPHERS, 0.

Madison, Wis., May 9 [Special].—Wisconsin opened its two game series with Minnesota this afternoon with a 10 to 0 victory, but the triumph was costly for the Badgers as they lost three players indefinitely.

Bob Vansickle shut out Minnesota by scattering eight hits. Wisconsin blasted Minnesota pitchers for 17, including four for Lefty Smith, Big Ten batting champion last year, and three for Bob Sullivan. Seven Gopher errors helped Wisconsins cause.

Lloyd Schneider, left fielder, and Ken Bixby, shortstop, crashed in the eighth inning going after a pop fly, and both suffered severe gashes from the broken sun glasses. Ed Schiewe, right fielder, was lost when he was hit over the right eye on an attempted double play. Score:

Minnesota	000	000	000	0	8	7
Wisconsin	101	300	14*	10	17	2

Batteries—Flick, Tepel and Sweiger; Van Sickle and Willding.

INDIANA, 9; OHIO, 2.

Bloomington, Ind., May 9 [Special].—Indiana won its sixth Big Ten victory in nine games today by defeating Ohio State, 9 to 2. The two teams will meet again tomorrow morning. Taking advantage of Jim Sexton's wildness, the Hoosiers shoved across all their runs in two innings, scoring four in the first and five in the fifth. Score:

Ohio State	000	001	010	2	9	3

MARSHALL, THO OUTHIT, SCORES ITS 7TH VICTORY

Marshall High school's baseball team took possession of first place in the west section of the Public School league by defeating Wells, 3 to 2, in Humboldt park yesterday. It was Marshall's seventh victory in eight games.

Wells, however, outhit Marshall, collecting nine safeties off Ray Sajovic, while Gene Yaroch, Wells pitcher, yielded eight. Sajovic, a right hander, struck out eight in scoring his seventh triumph of the season.

Schurz and Amundsen both won to remain tied for second place in the north division. Schurz won from Senn, 6 to 4, in Winnemac park, and Amundsen triumphed over Waller, 4 to 2, on the same field. Schurz and Amundsen each has won five out of seven engagements.

Morgan Park scored a run in the last inning to hand Hyde Park a 7 to 6 defeat in Kennedy field. An error, two walks and a single by Bob Hillbrecht produced the winning run. Scores:

RACEWAY PARK OPENS TONIGHT WITH 8 EVENTS

Midget auto racing drivers from four states will compete in eight events which will open the 1941 outdoor season at Raceway Park, 129th street and Ashland avenue tonight. Wally Zale, 1940 midwest indoor and outdoor champion, will drive the car in which he won 67 feature races last year. Others entered include Ted Duncan, Tony Bettenhausen, Ray Richards, Harry Lewis, Jimmy Caris, Al Cummings, Chuck Niesel, Myron Fohr, Rod Backy, Al Sprang, Tom Allen, and Pete Roncevich.

Twelve will qualify in four reverse order eliminations at 10 laps each for the 30 lap final in class A. There will be a 20 lap contest for class B drivers. Time trials are set for 7:30 p. m. and the first race for 8:30.

Butterfield to Conduct Stag Tourney Today

Butterfield Country club today repeats its annual custom of opening the Chicago district's competitive golf season by holding its annual May stag tournament. Prizes will be awarded for 18 and 27 holes, depending upon whether the contestants want to travel all three of the west side course's nine hole legs, or only two. Francis Karel, chairman of the sports and pastimes committee, has placed W. W. Buchman in charge of the day's activities. P. A. Nelson, entertainment chairman, and R. A. Mills, chairman of the house committee, will share tournament duties with Buchman. A field of more than 300 members and guests is expected to compete.

ELMHURST MEET TO ATTRACT 20 COLLEGES TODAY

Twenty midwestern colleges will compete in the ninth annual Elmhurst Intercollegiate Invitational track meet this afternoon with De Kalb Teachers favored to win team honors for the third straight year despite strong competition from Illinois Normal, Milwaukee Teachers and Western State of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Withdrawal of Max Lenover, Loyola's 880 yard and mile champion, who will compete in the Memphis Cotton Bowl Carnival Sunday, leaves Coach Alex Wilson's team with little hope of retaining second place honors won last year.

Defending champions who will compete include: Bill Terwilliger, De Kalb 220 yard dash record holder; Hal Wimberley, Illinois Wesleyan 100 yard dash record holder; Champ Siebold, Oshkosh Teachers, discus, and Art Lancaster, Loyola hurdler, who last year tied the meet record.

North Central, five time winner of the Elmhurst meet, placed third last year, and due to Lenover's absence should finish ahead of Loyola this year.

Milwaukee is resting its hopes on versatile Ted Tetzlaff, hurdler, sprinter, broad jumper, and javelin man.

WOMEN BOWLERS TO STOP IN LOOP EN ROUTE WEST

One of the largest single groups to ever travel from western and central New York state to the Pacific coast will leave the North Western station this evening, at 10:20 p. m.

The group is a party of 125 women bowlers, en route to the Women's International Bowling Congress in Los Angeles, Cal. The following New York cities are represented in the party: Oneida, Buffalo, Rochester, Watertown, Utica, Binghamton, Syracuse, and Fulton.

TESTS SUPPORT REMEDY FOR HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Doctor Tells Results of 25 Experiments.

Further reports on the success of a new treatment for high blood pressure were made public yesterday by Dr. I. H. Page, director of clinical research at the Indianapolis City hospital. He reported that experiments with 25 human subjects had confirmed conclusions which he presented last November to the Central Society for Clinical Research, meeting in Chicago.

Dr. Page and his associates use an extract from beef and pig kidneys, which they inject into patients. About five days after the first injection, the patient's blood pressure falls to near normal, and the clinical condition improves, he said.

Problem of Production.

The experimenters are now working on the problem of purifying the extract further and of producing it in sufficient volume to make widespread use possible. High blood pressure causes 35 per cent of all deaths of persons more than 45 years old.

"Our experiments now have justified the conclusion that the substance will reduce even cases of malignant high blood pressure to near normal levels," Dr. Page said.

Two and a half pounds of kidneys are required to prepare the eight grams of extract that constitute a daily dose for a patient, the physician said. The substance is found in normal human kidneys, he said, and it controls the blood pressure. When the kidneys fail to produce a sufficient quantity, the arterial pressure rises to dangerous heights.

10 Patients Seriously Ill.

Out of the 25 patients treated in the experiments during the last year and one half, ten were suffering from the malignant form of hypertension (high blood pressure). Two of the patients died. Dr. Page said one of these had discontinued the injections, and both were in an advanced stage when the experiment began.

The Indianapolis physicians discovered that when the daily injections were stopped, the patient's blood pressure gradually approached the danger point again after many days or weeks. They found also that if the blood pressure fell too rapidly after the injections, complications arose. The experiments are continuing.

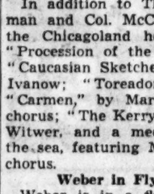
W-G-N TO PRESENT OCEAN PHANTOM LEGEND TONIGHT

Drama to Tell Tale of Flying Dutchman.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The legend of the Flying Dutchman, a phantom ship moving ceaselessly over the seas to an unknown goal, will be presented in music and drama on the Chicagoland hour over W-G-N and Mutual from 9 to 10 o'clock tonight. Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, will speak.



Kathryn Witwer.

According to legend, the Flying Dutchman, a Capt. Van Der Decken, swore he would pass the Cape of Good Hope in the face of a furious gale even if he would have to go on sailing forever. The devil heard the oath and condemned him to sail the seas until judgment day unless he could find a woman to love him until death. Once in seven years the devil permitted him to go ashore to find such a woman to redeem him.

The stirring music from Richard Wagner's opera of the same name will be presented by Henry Weber and the W-G-N Concert orchestra. William A. Bacher will produce the show.

Mark Love to Sing Captain's Rôle.

Mark Love will sing the rôle of the captain, Kathryn Witwer that of Senta, the girl who redeems him, and Ruth Slater will sing the part of the nurse. These dramatic rôles will be taken respectively by Bret Morrison, Donna Reade, and Hazel Dorpheide. Supporting parts will be played by Marvin Mueller, Bob Bailey, Willard Waterman, Bob Jellison, and Les Spears.

In addition to The Flying Dutchman and Col. McCormick's address, the Chicagoland hour will present "Procession of the Sardar," from "Caucasian Sketches," by Ippolitow-Ivanow; "Toreador's Song," from "Carmen," by Mark Love and the chorus; "The Kerry Dance," by Miss Witwer, and a medley of songs of the sea, featuring Mr. Love and the chorus.

Weber in Flying Mood.

Weber is in a flying mood this week. He fortunately likes to fly, or he would not be able to be on hand tonight. Tuesday he flew to New York and remained there for two days of business. Yesterday he flew to Baltimore, Md., for rehearsals of "Rigoletto," which the Baltimore Opera company will give Monday with Mr. Weber as conductor.

He will arrive from Baltimore today for rehearsals here. At midnight tonight he will take a plane for the east to continue rehearsals in Baltimore.

Members of the Western Society of Engineers will be guests in W-G-N's main audience studio for the broadcast tonight.

E. L. CARDLE, 59, DIES; RAILWAY FREIGHT AGENT

E. L. Cardle, general freight agent of the Canadian Pacific railway in Chicago, died yesterday in his home at 2052 Lincoln Park West. He was 59 years old and was born in Alma Center, Wis. CAFE ASKS WRIT TO END SALES TAX ON AMUSEMENT

Roth, Inc., a restaurant concern at 139 North Wabash avenue, yesterday filed suit in Circuit court to enjoin the collection of sales taxes on restaurant, night club, and cabaret entertainment. The suit, filed by Attorney Leonard H. Lawrence, asked return of $20,860 in excess tax payments allegedly paid by Roth, Inc., from 1938 thru March, 1941. According to the suit the state department of finance has ordered such concerns to pay taxes on their total receipts for food and drink, whereas 40 per cent of these receipts are payments for entertainment, an intangible commodity.

FIREMEN RESCUE WOMAN AND SON IN LODGINGS FIRE

Mrs. Mary Bitter, 50 years old, and her son, August, 28, were rescued by firemen yesterday when trapped in the burning rooming house where they lived at 1957 East 72d street. The firemen, directed by Deputy Marshal Thomas Gaffney of the 5th division, carried Mrs. Bitter down a ladder from the second floor of the 2½ story frame building, and her son descended another ladder from the attic. The blaze, of undetermined origin, caused damage estimated at $3,000.

BOLIVIAN SHARES BIG TIN FORTUNE WITH 5 CHILDREN

PANAMA CITY, Panama, May 9.—Simon Patino, Bolivian tin magnate, now en route to the United States with his wife, has divided and bequeathed to his heirs one of the world's largest fortunes. This was disclosed today following the signing and registering here of the documents involved. The value of the properties was not revealed.

All the tin magnate's real estate holdings were distributed except a home in paris, a villa at Biarritz, two houses in Aruro, Bolivia, and 30,000 shares of stock in the electric light and power company of Cochambamba, Bolivia, which were left to the Patino university foundation.

The remainder was divided among his son, Atenor Patino, and his daughters, Graciela Patino De Oritz Linares, Elena Patino De Garrisosa, Luzmila Patino De Boisrowroy, and Rene Patino. All come into immediate possession of their inheritances except Rene, whose share will be held in trust by her parents.

CHARLES B. NOLTE WILL DISPOSES OF $100,000 ESTATE

The will of Charles B. Nolte, president of the Crane company who died April 29, was admitted to probate yesterday by John F. Keeley, assistant to the probate judge. It disposed of an estate estimated at $100,000. A sum of $25,000, a Florida homestead, and two-thirds of a share of a trust were left to the widow, Mrs. Maud Nolte, 6718 South Shore drive. A bequest of $10,000 and one-third of a share in the trust was left to Mr. Nolte's mother, who also lives at the South Shore drive address.

NORSE FREIGHTER HERE AFTER TRIP THRU WAR ZONE

The Norwegian freighter Taborfjell, a frequent visitor to Chicago in happier days, docked at Navy pier yesterday after a voyage across the submarine infested Atlantic. None except relatives of the crew was permitted to go aboard and ship officers and crew members who came ashore refused to answer questions.

The Taborfjell, now operating under British orders, is 250 feet long and carries a crew of 19 men. Custom officials said she brought a cargo of 300 cases of whisky. The date of her departure and what cargo she plans to carry back were not announced. Her captain is Erling Neilsen. Her port of registry is Oslo.

The ship was last in Chicago in October, 1939. She is the first European ship to reach here since last fall, when the Dutch ship Prins Willem was in the harbor.

Father of Judge Crater, Missing Ten Years, Dies

Hershey, Pa., May 9 (AP).—Frank E. Crater, 79, father of Judge Joseph F. Crater, New York jurist who disappeared mysteriously 10 years ago, died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George M. Henry. Crater, who was engaged in the wholesale produce business in Easton for more than 50 years, moved to Hershey six years ago. He is survived, in addition to his daughter, by his widow, Mrs. Leila Montague Crater, and a son, Montague Crater

JOHN CALLAHAN, NEW DEAL FOE IN WISCONSIN, DIES

Milwaukee, Wis., May 9 [Special].—John M. Callahan, 79 years old, a leader of conservative Democrats in the state and secretary of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin, collapsed in his office today and died a few minutes later. He did not regain consciousness despite efforts of a fire department rescue squad.

Callahan was a former state Democratic chairman, a member of the party's national committee from 1926 to 1932, and in 1934 was nominee for the United States senate. A vigorous opponent of the New Deal, Callahan was defeated for the senatorship when President Roosevelt toured Wisconsin with Senator Robert M. La Follette.

Born in Menasha, Callahan worked for the Northwestern railroad in his youth and came here as general freight agent but left the employ of the railroad in 1890 to become secretary of the Catholic Knights. Surviving him are his widow; a daughter, Marguerite, and two sons, William R. and Venturi.

STUDENT JANITOR AT ART INSTITUTE WINS $1,000 PRIZE

Frank Vavruska, 24 years old, of Antigo, Wis., who has served as a student janitor during his four years of study at the Art institute, is the winner of one of the five foreign travel fellowships awarded annually at the institute. Trustees announced yesterday that Vavruska won the Edward L. Ryerson fellowship for $1,000 for the originality in his paintings and designs for textiles and ceramics.

Frank Vavruska.

The first award of $2,000, the James Nelson Raymond fellowship, was given to Eleanor Coen, 25, of 1131 East 55th street, a prolific worker in painting, lithography, and color lithography. William H. Fett Jr., 23, of Mishawaka, Ind., received the Anna Louise Raymond fellowship for $1,500.

The youngest winner was James Deegan, 22, of Huntington, W. Va., who received the William Merchant Richardson French fellowship for $750. David Landis, 23, Highland Park, Mich., won the Edward L. Ryerson fellowship for $700, and Efrem Ostrowsky, 3818 Jackson boulevard, received honorable mention in sculpture.

CHICAGO BABY'S CURE MAY CURB DEADLY MALADY

Physicians at the Bobs Roberts Children's hospital at the University of Chicago reported yesterday that they may have discovered a cure for a form of meningitis which heretofore has had a mortality rate of almost 100 per cent.

Richard Seliga, 2 years old, the son of Stanley Seliga, 1435 East 60th street, a city fireman, entered the hospital April 11 with influenzal meningitis. Yesterday he was not only out of the hospital, but he was beginning to walk. Physicians said they knew of only one other case in Chicago in which a victim of the disease had recovered, and that the Seliga boy's case was the only one known in which recovery was complete. Blindness or spastic paralysis are frequent after effects.

A combination of the new sulfa drugs was used—thiazol and pyradine —plus an anti-influenza serum developed within the last six months. Physicians said the combination of drugs and serum might have effected the cure, or that any one separately may have been responsible.

Benefits Nation of Sufferers!
COLUMBUS, OHIO: For over 20 years Dr. F. M. Edwards (widely known physician) successfully treated scores of patients for constipation and the headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness which often result.
This wise Doctor knew liver bile must flow freely every day into your intestines or fatty foods can't be properly digested and you may become constipated. So he kept this in mind when he perfected his famous Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.
Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful, yet they assure gentle, thorough bowel movements and ALSO help stimulate bile flow. Test their goodness TONIGHT! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

2 Drunk Drivers Seized in Police Chases Jailed

Two motorists who were arrested for drunken driving after police chases were sentenced to the county jail by Judge Oscar S. Caplan in Safety court yesterday. Felix Bica, 42 years old, 2356 South Drake avenue, a butcher, drew a 15 day sentence, and William L. Palmer, 33, of Rockford, a steel grinder, got ten days. Palmer also was fined $25 for speeding.

ROCKET TRAINS NET BIG RETURN ON INVESTMENT

Reported as High as 48 Per Cent.

The Rock Island railroad's streamlined Diesel electric Rocket trains have earned a return on the investment as high as 48 per cent. This profitable operation was disclosed yesterday by the trustees in their report for 1940 made to Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe.

The six original Rocket trains, which were placed in service in September, 1937, up to Dec. 31, 1940, earned a total of $2,755,341, after deducting total cost of operation, depreciation, interest, taxes, and insurance. Net earnings, including depreciation accruals of $443,918, exceeded the $2,321,328 cost of the trains by $443,-918. The average annual net income is $848,000 per year, which is equal to a return on the investment of 36 per cent.

Routes of Rockets.

The six original Rockets run between Chicago and Peoria, Des Moines, Kansas City, and the Twin Cities, and between Kansas City and Dallas.

An even better showing was made by the Rocky Mountain Rockets which were placed in service Nov. 12, 1939, between Chicago and Colorado Springs-Denver. Net earnings of these trains to Dec. 31, 1940, after deducting the same charges as those against the original Rockets amounted to $490,701. The average annual net income is $430,550, which is equal to a return of 48 per cent on the investment of $887,481.

During the time the road has been in reorganization 51 Diesel powered switch locomotives have been placed in service. The trustees reported that the saving in cost of maintenance and operation of Diesel switching locomotives placed in service in the early part of 1937 to Dec. 31, 1940, was $2,578,000, as compared with the cost of maintenance and operation of steam switching locomotives.

Earnings Are Larger.

The trustees of the road, Frank O. Lowden, James E. Gorman, and Joseph B. Fleming, reported that the 1940 returns were substantially larger than in any year since the road was placed in trusteeship in 1933.

The trustees said that the net income for 1940 to the trust estate was $7,288,928 after payment of rentals and such interest charges as are being paid. On a basis of the reorganization plan approved by the Interstate Commerce commission last October there would have been a balance of $1,225,723 after fixed and contingent charges but before $3,750,000 preferred stock dividends and federal income taxes. The effective date of the ICC plan is Jan. 1, 1941 and the report indicates that the ICC will certify the plan to the district court shortly. Final court approval for the plan would be the next step in removing the road from court jurisdiction.

Predict $11,703,000 Income.

The trustees forecast that 1941 gross income will be $11,703,000 after operating and other expenditures. Against this, under the ICC plan, the following deductions would be made: rent for leased roads, $235,000; miscellaneous rents and other items, $132,-000; interest on equipment obligations, $682,720; interest on first mortgage bonds, $1,447,642; sinking fund first mortgage bonds, $200,000; capital fund [available for improvements], $1,691,600; interest on income bonds, $2,700,000; sinking fund bonds, $300,-000; preferred stock dividends, $3,750,-000. No provision is made for federal taxes.

ICC TO CONTROL LOADING FEES OF 14 STOCKYARDS

Washington, D. C., May 9 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce commission took jurisdiction today over the charges by 14 stockyard companies for loading and unloading live stock. Because the companies own or control the facilities used in the loading and unloading of live stock, the commission found them to be common carriers subject to the interstate commerce act. They were ordered to file tariffs containing their charges.

The stockyards companies affected were at St. Paul, West Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Denver, Portland, Seattle, South San Francisco, Los Angeles, Cincinnati, Louisville, Jersey City, Cleveland, New York, and Fort Worth.

[The Union Stockyards and Transit company of Chicago was ruled a common carrier on July 16, 1938.]

Per Capita Circulation of Money Up $11.11 in Year

Washington, D. C., May 9 (AP).—Money in circulation has gone up $11.11 per person in the last year. The treasury said today that on April 30 there was $9,070,707,797 of coin and currency in circulation outside the treasury and federal banks, or an average of $68.39 for each man, woman, and child. This was $1.07 more than at the end of March.

German Dye Trust's Funds Seized by U. S.

Washington, D. C., May 9 (AP).—The government today tied up funds of I. G. Farbenindustrie Actiengesellschaft, a German corporation, commonly known as the German dye trust, which controls numerous patents used in American industry.

Farbenindustrie is under indictment on antitrust charges. The attachment of its funds in the National City Bank of New York—timed with the expected receipt of $250,000 in license fees—was ordered, Attorney General Robert H. Jackson said, to force the company to appear in court. He added that he was confident that the attachment would have that effect.

Refused to Answer Charge.

The German organization had refused to respond to the indictment, contending that it was not doing business in this country and was not subject to American law.

Jackson, announcing the attachment at a press conference, acknowledged in response to a question that the money had been seized "when we could get it," because of a possibility that it might soon "be transferred out of the country or dispersed."

He described Farbenindustrie as "probably the most powerful single factor in German influence on American industry," because many American firms were licensed by it. Some of the licenses restricted production, he said, while others limited markets.

Hit in Magnesium Case.

The German company was indicted at New York on Jan. 30 along with several American corporations on charges of conspiring to violate the antitrust laws. The indictment alleged that their actions resulted in inadequate facilities for production of magnesium necessary for the armament program, "restricted, restrained and discouraged" the development and use of magnesium in the manufacture of airplanes, and maintained artificially high prices.

This was one of several indictments in which the government charged that foreign control of American production and marketing thru patent licenses had hampered development of vital industry in this country.

Fear Retaliatory Move.

New York, May 9 (AP).—Financial circles said today that probably the only assets I. G. Farbenindustrie Aktiengesellschaft had in this country would be payments made under patent license agreements by American funds to banks for transfer to Germany.

Some sources were fearful that attachment of $250,000 in an American bank by the government might result in German seizure of funds payable by German firms to American patent holders.

They said they believed approximately as much was paid annually to Americans by German firms as was transferred from America to Germany.

CANNED CHEESE BOUGHT BY FSCC TO GIVE BRITAIN

Canned cheese, a little known product, took its place yesterday among the food supplies the department of agriculture is buying for Great Britain. The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation announced that it had purchased one million pounds, an amount larger than the present annual production. Producers estimated it would cost the FSCC about 23 to 24 cents a pound.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company and two dairy cooperatives on the Pacific coast are the principal producers. Usually a Wisconsin or other American cheddar type cheese is used.

Canning gives a natural cheese without a rind and with a consistent cured flavor, producers report. It must be canned in the spring and cured from eight to ten months. The cans are fitted with special valves which allow the gas produced in curing to escape but keep out air.

Detroit Refunding Lifts Week's Securities Sales

New York, May 9 (AP).—Public offerings of new securities during the week ended yesterday totaled $75,418,-108, compared with $47,178,640 the preceding week, Standard & Poor's corporation reported today. A refunding program by the city of Detroit accounted for a large part of the total. Comparisons follow:

KEYNES TERMED BAD FOR U. S. BY WM. GUGGENHEIM

Asserts Visit Is Most Unfortunate.

New York, May 9 [Special].—The proposed discussions between John Maynard Keynes, British financial theorist, and administration officials on problems arising from the lease-lend program were described today by William Guggenheim, retired mining industrialist, as "one of the most unfortunate things that could have happened at this particular moment."

John M. Keynes.

Guggenheim made known his feelings in a letter to Representative Joseph Clark Baldwin [R., N. Y.] in which he inquired:

"Is it possible for you to do something to minimize the evil effects that will surely arise from Prof. Keynes' visit here?"

Keynes arrived on the Atlantic Clipper yesterday. In an interview he asserted that moderate inflation in the United States might be a good thing.

"While the nation will, no doubt, be willing to spend its life blood for freedom and its existence," Guggenheim's letter continued, "it will surely be reluctant to continue to give itself to rapacious greed of the politicians and reckless spending, which has now been going on for a long time.

"He [Prof. Keynes] encouraged President Roosevelt in the policy of spending ourselves into prosperity, when we should, for at least the last four years, have made every preparation for war, in accordance with the advice that had been given by many farsighted Americans."

FURNITURE MART SHOW FEATURES 'SOLD OUT' TAGS

The stream of buyers from all parts of the country which swelled attendance to new records yesterday at the mid-season home furnishings market in the American Furniture Mart found "sold out" tags hanging from many pieces of furniture. Manufacturers reported that buying broke all precedent, with orders varying from 25 to 50 per cent above "normal."

Prices were up from 5 to 15 per cent. Few manufacturers accepted orders beyond July 15. Almost all insisted upon immediate confirmation of every order, with "memorandum" orders "to be confirmed later" practically nonexistent.

Registration at the American Furniture Mart reached 4,227 last night, an increase of 59 per cent over the 2,664 for the same five days of 1940. Attendance on the furniture floors of the Merchandise Mart reached 1,983, a gain of 65 per cent. The market ends today.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN PLANT TO BE BUILT IN CANADA

WINDSOR, Ont., May 9 [Special].—Bids were asked today for construction of an $8,000,000 factory in Windsor to manufacture Browning antiaircraft guns. The department of munitions and supply of the dominion government will finance and own the plant and equipment.

General Motors of Canada will operate the factory thru a subsidiary to be known as Border Cities Industries, Ltd. The plant will turn out Browning high speed antiaircraft guns, complete except for barrels.

Counties Allotted Shares of Illinois Gasoline Tax

The allotment of $783,942 to Illinois counties as their net share of the motor fuel tax collections for April was announced yesterday by George B. McKibbin, state director of finance. Under the distribution Cook county will receive $239,517. The gross allotment amounted to $1,078,067, from which $294,125 was deducted as reserve for 50 million dollars of relief bonds.

Colombia May Reject U. S. 6 Million Loan—Too Small

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 9 (AP).—The newspaper El Siglo quoted Finance Minister Gonzalo Restrepo today as saying that Colombia would reject the United States offer of a $6,000,000 loan because Colombia's plans require much more.

War Department, Office of the Constructing Quartermaster, Fort Custer, Michigan: Sealed Bids will be opened in this office 11:30 a.m., E.S.T., May 20, 1941, for the Construction and Competition of Eight (8) Chapels, Standard Mobilization Type, at Fort Custer, Battle Creek, Michigan. Plans and Specifications on file in this office. Certified check in the amount of ten dollars ($10.00) payable to the Treasurer of the United States, must accompany request for plans and specifications.

Condemnation Called Need to End Slums

Philadelphia, Pa., May 9 [Special.]—Power of eminent domain over "holdout" property owners is essential to any successful attack on the problem of clearing city slums, Abner H. Ferguson, federal housing administrator, said in an address here today.

Abner H. Ferguson.

Ferguson spoke at a meeting of trustees and officers attending the 125th anniversary conference of the National Association of Mutual Saving Banks.

"It will help us to find a solution to the slum problem if we consider the steps that must be taken in connection with any sizable redevelopment project or group of projects.

Large Assembly Necessary.

"The first step is to assemble a sufficiently large aggregation of property to permit harmonious improvements that will create their own environment.

"This inevitably involves the use of eminent domain powers in most situations, if one or two recalcitrant property owners are not to hold up the enterprise."

[The power of eminent domain, subject to certain limitations and to control by local redevelopment commissions, is provided for in a slum clearing measure now before the Illinois legislature. The Illinois measure is known as the neighborhood redevelopment corporation bill. It is designed to encourage private capital to undertake large slum clearing projects by providing a way to solve the problem of "holdout" owners whose efforts to profiteer have in the past been one of the biggest obstacles to redevelopment.]

Among other steps suggested by Ferguson were:

"Devise a redevelopment plan which will be appropriate to the neighborhood, will meet the long term needs of the real estate market, and will be conducive to the well-being of the city.

Urges Municipal Coöperation.

"Induce the municipality to cooperate in agreeing to such changes in replatting and in adjusting utilities, parks, playgrounds, schools and other facilities as may be required to fit the new undertaking."

Ferguson described "the challenge of blighted areas" as one of the nation's outstanding social problems.

He disagreed with critics who charge that the federal government, thru the Federal Housing administration, has "aided and abetted the flight of population from cities to suburban areas."

CURTISS-WRIGHT REPORTS LARGE GAIN IN PROFITS

Backlog of Orders Is Lowered Slightly.

The Curtiss-Wright corporation and its principal subsidiary, the Wright Aeronautical corporation—two aircraft manufacturers which have shared in large government orders—yesterday reported substantial gains in net earnings for the first three months of this year.

Curtiss-Wright's consolidated net income was estimated at $4,880,020, equal to 58 cents a share, for the March quarter. In the corresponding quarter of last year, the company had net income of $2,414,196, or 24 cents a share.

Unfilled orders as of May 2 amounted to $712,414,000, compared with $716,971,000 on Dec. 31. In addition to provisions for federal income and excess profits taxes figured at present rates, the quarterly report also listed a provision of $4,212,094 for estimated prospective tax increases and contingency reserves.

Subsidiary Earns More.

Estimated net income of Wright Aeronautical, which manufactures airplane engines and parts, was placed at $2,349,263, equal to $3.91 a share, for the three months ended March 31. The company reported net income of $1,237,001, or $2.06 a share, in the corresponding 1940 quarter.

The backlog of orders came to $362,597,964 as of May 2, against $393,-740,000 on Dec. 31.

A recent report disclosed that Curtiss-Wright had received approximately $242,168,000 in government orders from last June 13 thru May 3, while Wright Aeronautical was the recipient of $147,251,000 of such orders during that period.

The Illinois Bell Telephone company reported net income of $1,247,442 for March, compared with $1,207,593 in the same month a year ago. For the first three months of this year, the company realized net income of $3,299,917, against $3,486,609 in the corresponding period of 1940.

Commodities Prices Climb Despite Federal Warning

Almost every important commodity traded in the nation's futures markets advanced yesterday in the face of a department of agriculture warning that it was ready to take prompt action to curb "excessive" speculation. Cottonseed oil, which was specifically mentioned in the warning messages to the New York Produce exchange and the New Orleans Cotton exchange, gained up to nearly ½ cent a pound and reached the highest level since 1937.

The federal threat and request for remedial measures on Thursday checked a week's swift advance among most staple futures that rivaled the "war markets" of 1939 and the buying rush of March resulting from passage of the aid to Britain bill. The New York Produce exchange immediately complied with the government demand and imposed posting of minimum margins and reduced credit maximums.

Push Higher Again.

Yesterday, however, little notice apparently was taken of the federal threat of price control and rising grain and cotton markets led a general climb. Cocoa, hides, and rubber, whose recent swift advances were dampened indirectly Thursday, moved ahead, hides reaching a new 1941 high mark and cocoa maintaining its near four year peaks.

Trade observers said the continued advance of commodities was due to a combination of prospects of rising material needs because of rearmament and shortage of cargo space because of requirements for shipping war goods. They contrasted yesterday's unexpected advance with the situation that followed the soaring markets in March. At that time federal warnings effectively halted the rise and commodities came to a virtual standstill for nearly a month.

Cause of Friday Upturn.

The buying rush in cottonseed oil yesterday was based mostly on strength in lard, hogs, corn, and soy beans. Prices rose 0.28 to 0.40 cent a pound, the July delivery moving to a peak of 10.50 cents, about double that of last fall. Hides gained 0.18 to 0.21 cent a pound, with the June contract reaching 14.59 cents at the high time.

Wool tops closed irregular, but the July position was close to the year's high. Cocoa advanced 0.04 to 0.06 cent a pound; rubber, 0.15 to 0.29 cent, and Santos coffee, 0.07 to 0.10 cent. Domestic sugar was unchanged to 0.02 cent higher.

Business Block Plans Parking and Play Field

BY AL CHASE.

One of Chicago's largest outlying business center projects, involving a total expenditure of $1,350,000 in land and building, was announced yesterday by Milton H. Callner & Co. The entire block bounded by Central avenue on the east, Belmont avenue on the south, Major avenue on the west, and Melrose street on the north, acquired four years ago, will be utilized.

Milton H. Callner.

The south half of the block will be improved at once with a block long one story building, containing 991 feet of business frontage on Belmont, Central ,and Major.

Provides Recreation Space.

Milton H. Callner, said to be the largest individual owner of real estate in Chicago, an active builder for 25 years, and originator of many novelties in building construction and management, will introduce unusual features in his new project.

The north half of the block will be used for parking at one end and for a large open air recreation ground at the other. Instead of having the usual unsightly rear elevation, the block of stores will have 600 feet of show windows overlooking the playground and parking space.

Free lockers will be provided in a large room for customers of the various stores where purchases may be left until ready to take home.

Tenants May Design Own Shop.

Each tenant will be permitted to design leased space to suit him. Goldblatt already has had a store unit designed by Loewenberg & Loewenberg as part of the structure.

All of the stores will be opened simultaneously on the last Saturday in August, according to present plans.

Shipment of Chilean Wine Arrives at New York City

New York, May 9 [Special].—A shipment of more than 1,000 cases of Chilean wine, the first of a series of shipments arranged by the Chilean agricultural export board, arrived here today. Sales are expected to total at least 25,000 cases in the first year.

CARAWAY SEED FALLS VICTIM TO WAR; RYE LOAF JUST THAT NOW

New York, May 9 (AP).—Add war casualties: Caraway seed, the little brown specks that added pungent aroma to rye bread, have disappeared from the market, and, therefore, from rye bread.

Caraway skyrocketed 500 per cent in price from its prewar eight cents a pound, after Hitler took the central European producing areas. It can't be had for love or money now, dealers say.

And your true caraway lover won't accept dill seed, sometimes offered as a substitute, in his rye bread.

Poppy seed may disappear, too, bakers hinted, for the Turkish source is threatened by war and besides there isn't much shipping space available for it.

BOTTLING FIRM BUYS SITE FOR BIG NEW PLANT

Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Chicago, Inc., yesterday bought an entire block of frontage on the north side of West Polk street, between Desplaines and Jefferson, 320 by 380, and will erect a new bottling plant, designed by Shaw, Naess & Murphy.

According to C. B. King, president and general manager of Coca-Cola Bottling, the improvement will comprise the largest of four plants in Chicago and will represent a total investment in land, building, and equipment of $750,000. It will have a daily capacity of 30,000 cases, or 720,000 bottles.

The plant site was purchased from the Pennsylvania railroad, represented by L. A. Ehrhart.

ADEQUATE 1942 AUTO SUPPLIES ARE PREDICTED

An adequate supply of 1942 model automobiles which will "pleasantly surprise" motorists was predicted yesterday by D. U. Bathrick, general sales manager of the Pontiac division of General Motors corporation. He spoke at a meeting of about 200 Pontiac dealers in the Chicago zone at the Drake hotel.

"Even with a 20 per cent or more reduction in production I can see no reason why our dealers will not have a good year and one that will be ahead of many of our good years," Bathrick said.

UNION STRIKES SPREAD IN MANY PARTS OF NATION

10,000 More Go Out at Detroit.

Many thousands of union workmen went on strike yesterday and other thousands threatened to leave their jobs today or Monday in various parts of the country.

At Detroit more than 10,000 American Federation of Labor trades union men in four counties struck in support of the city-wide walkout of teamster union lumber and supply drivers. The teamsters seek bargaining rights in lumber companies thruout the city and wage increases, union officials said.

Both private and armament construction jobs were tied up by the building trades strike, despite assertions of union men that they planned to keep armament jobs functioning. The strike affected construction work in Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, and St. Clair counties.

Building Projects Affected.

Building projects at Chrysler corporation arms plants were affected immediately, officials said. The teamsters' strike resulted in closing a PWA city street improvement projects. Shortages of gravel and other materials sent 1,400 WPA workers home Thursday, 1,400 at noon yesterday, and 1,600 last night.

Some 2,400 machinists [AFL] called a strike at the Bethlehem shipyard, San Francisco, and at five repair plants for last midnight. They demanded a pay boost from $1 to $1.15 an hour with double time for over time. At Boston, 925 AFL men received instructions from union officials not to report for work on Monday at the navy yard and the naval drydock because of employment of WPA labor.

At Belding, Mich., the CIO gave notice of intention to strike at plants of the Murray corporation, maker of automobile bodies and airplane subassemblies. The dispute was said to involve wages, seniority, and bargaining rights sought by the United Auto workers.

Lumber Workers Strike.

More than 8,000 men in 25 western Washington logging camps and lumber mills struck yesterday as operators and representatives of a faction of the International Woodworkers of America [CIO] failed to negotiate a wage dispute. Ilmar Koivunen, chairman of the IWA negotiation committee, predicted 22,000 men in 80 operations would walk off their jobs before Monday "unless this thing is settled."

The union seeks a 7½ cents an hour wage increase, to a basic wage of 75 cents an hour; a closed shop, a week's vacation with pay, and improved working conditions.

Thousands of cannery workers [AFL] were ordered out on strike last night against nearly 60 central and northern California canneries to enforce their demands for wage increases. The National Council of Cannery Workers called the walkout after rejecting a wage scale compromise by the California Processors and Growers, Inc., the employer group.

Employ 60,000 at Peak.

The peak canning seasons, when 60,000 workers are employed, is around mid-June.

At La Porte, Ind., the plant of the La Porte-Bachmann Woolen mills was closed when United Textile Workers [AFL] struck over a jurisdictional dispute. Nearly 450 workers were affected.

Meanwhile, representatives of General Motors corporation and United Auto Workers [CIO] continued their conferences at Washington in an effort to reach an accord that would avert a strike of about 160,000 workers in 60 plants. The parley was recessed at midnight [Chicago time] without any announcement.

STOCKS WANDER IRREGULARLY IN LIGHT TURNOVER

Coppers and Rails Make Best Showings.

New York, May 9 (AP).—Buyers bid up a few coppers, rails, and industrials in today's stock market but many leaders were neglected. Irregularity ruled from the start as short covering and week end lightening of commitments made for spotty prices.

An exception to slim movements elsewhere was a last minute burst of strength in Southern Railway-Mobile & Ohio Trust certificates which jumped 4⅞ points to a new 1941 top at 32¾. The run-up was in the wake of a New York court decision holding the Southern Railway liable for the annual $4 dividend on the certificates.

Motor Shares Irregular.

General Motors was up ⅛ and Chrysler down ⅝, altho automotive production pushed up sharply this week.

Santa Fe, New York Central, Great Northern and Chesapeake & Ohio were up a shade as traffic prospects brightened for most roads. Anaconda, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, Inspiration Copper and American Smelting emerged with plus signs.

Ohio Oil was up ⅜ at 9, a new 1941 high, but Standard of New Jersey and Texas corporation were behind. Modest improvement was shown for United States Steel, Bethlehem, J. C. Penney, du Pont, United Aircraft, and International Paper common and preferred.

Among laggards were Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Union Carbide, Westinghouse Electric, Consolidated Edison, and Public Service of New Jersey.

CHICAGO RANGE NARROW.

Prices on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday held within a narrow range with the trend slightly downward. Turnover amounted to 26,000 shares, compared with 13,000 Thursday. Lion Oil, the volume leader, closed at 11, up ⅜. Adams Oil and Gas set a new 1941 high at 4¼, up ⅛.

Turnover from 2 to 2:30 o'clock totaled only 450 shares, a low touched only once before—on May 1—during the extra trade period. Three issues moving during the half hour yesterday recorded changes from the New York close. Commonwealth Edison and National Cylinder Gas each gained ⅛ point to 26⅛ and 10, respectively, and Borg Warner eased ⅛ to 16¾.

ALLEGED STEEL PLATE SHORTAGE TO BE PROBED

Report Rail Car Builders Are Handicapped.

Federal authorities and the new armaments committee of the steel industry yesterday ordered an investigation of reports that freight car builders cannot get the steel plates they need to fill orders for cars.

According to equipment trade sources which disclosed the move, the steel industry committee and the Office of Production Management began a study of the car building plants which were said to have felt the pinch of an inadequate steel plate supply.

Dow, Jones & Co. reported that two car building plants have closed because of the lack of plates. It was understood that the OPM, thru its priorities division, planned to order immediate deliveries to the closed plants if the study showed the shutdowns were caused by a plate shortage. The locations of the two plants were not divulged.

Reports Others Affected.

According to Dow Jones, several other freight car builders have been affected to some degree by the dearth of plates.

Latest estimates indicate that 50,000 freight cars are on order for delivery before Oct. 1, and that railroads may receive an additional 22,000 between then and the end of 1941. Railroads, preparing to haul vast amounts of goods when armament production reaches a peak, are expected to need 160,000 new cars between January and October in 1942.

Call Chicago Meeting.

A meeting in Chicago to consider recommendations that railroad car ownership be boosted by 270,000 in the next two years will be held next Monday by railroad executives. The Association of American Railroads made the recommendations and called the meeting. The executives also will consider plans for allocating orders among manufacturers in such a way as to facilitate mass production.

Meantime the magazine Railway Age reported that railroads placed orders for 16,091 freight cars in April, 43,539 in the first four months of 1941, and 100,876 in the 12 months ended with April.

CEASE DILLYDALLYING ON LABOR, INDUSTRIAL HEAD DEMANDS OF U. S.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 9 (AP).—Walter D. Fuller, head of the National Association of Manufacturers, called upon the government today to "quit dillydallying and formulate a constructive labor policy." He spoke before the association's southern California conference on preparedness.

Walter D. Fuller.

"No nation, regardless of its potentialities, can, by working less and less, lick another nation which is working more and more," he declared. "Everyone until now has badly underestimated the size of the stop-Hitler job.

"At the very heart of the defense labor troubles lies the fact that we have a labor administration which refuses to stiffen its back where the interest of public and the interest of unions are opposed to one another. If a labor government is going to sponsor and protect unions, it should likewise protect the public against their excesses and make them equally responsible."

GEN. ELECTRIC GETS $18,367,706 NAVY CONTRACT

The navy department yesterday announced award of a contract under which General Electric company will install $18,367,706 of ordnance production equipment in three of the company's eastern plants. The plants are at Erie, Pa., Schenectady, N. Y., and Pittsfield, Mass.

Chicago area companies received navy contracts as follows: Automatic Transportation, crane trucks, $114,480; American Transportation, rail box and tank cars, $11,934; Haffner-Thrall Car, flat cars, $13,713; Oliver Farm Equipment Sales, industrial tractors, $21,730, and Rogers Brothers Seed, dehydrated potatoes, $6,450.

The war department announced award of these contracts to Chicago companies: Kellogg Switchboard and Supply, switchs, $1,890; terminals, $900; Dicke Tool [Downers Grove], bars, $2,064; Graybar Electric, grips, $1,014; Bell and Howell, motion picture equipment, $890, and Grieshaber Manufacturing, surgical instruments, $902.

BUICK TO EXPAND AIRPLANE ENGINE PLANT NEAR CITY

U. S. Asks Doubling of 500 a Month Goal.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

With the government committed to a policy of expanded bomber production, plans for the vast airplane engine plant which the Buick division of the General Motors corporation is building at North avenue and La Grange road in Melrose Park are being revised, it was learned yesterday. Carl Thorgersen of the Thorgersen & Ericksen company, general contractors, said ground at the northern end of the main plant is being left vacant to permit expansion in that direction.

The main manufacturing plant was to have been 1,380 feet long and 750 feet wide, but with reported requests from the administration that Buick double its originally planned output of 500 engines a month, the length of the building may be increased.

Double Engine Test Cells.

It has been decided already to double the number of engine testing cells at the north end of the building. Original plans called for 24 test cells, but it is now certain that there will be at least 48 and possibly more. Each engine must run about 48 hours in a test cell before being accepted.

Thorgersen said that about 90 per cent of the foundation work for the main manufacturing building has been completed and a substantial amount of steel work has been erected at the southeast corner. The administration building is rising rapidly, the foundation for the personnel building is completed and the excavation for the power plant at the north end of the property is under way. It was necessary to move the power plant farther north to leave room for the proposed expansion of the main building. Work has not yet started on the propeller testing building at the north end.

Spend 31 Millions on Plant.

About $31,000,000 is being spent on construction and tools for the huge plant which will employ about 10,000 persons when completed. It will be late summer or early fall before the plant is completed and it will be some time after the first of next year before production starts, it was said.

A unique feature of the factory will be the location beneath the main manufacturing building of cafeteria, lunchroom and personnel facilities aggregating 200,000 square feet. Entrance to these underground facilities will be thru tunnel entrances resembling subway entries. The entire plant will be air conditioned.

Buick is to build 1,200 horse power Pratt and Whitney engines. During the world war Buick built 20 Liberty motors a day at its Flint, Mich., plant. J. G. Hammond, general manufacturing manager for the new plant, I. H. Larkin, his assistant, and C. N. Ofield, chief inspector, helped to build the Liberty engines.

Employed 3,000 Men Then.

Less than 3,000 men were required to produce 20 Liberty engines a day in Flint in contrast to the 10,000 or more men who will work at the Melrose Park plant.

The Pratt and Whitney is a 14 cylinder twin-row engine that weighs 1,450 pounds and develops 1,200 horsepower at 2,700 R.P.M. with a power to weight ratio of 1.2 pounds per horse power. The Liberty was a 12 cylinder V-type engine that weighed 844 pounds and developed 422 horse power at 1,700 R.P.M. or two pounds per horse power.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

It's Blossom Week.

May 9, 1941.

THIS is blossom week on the farm, the week that presents spring in her most attractive finery. Not until autumn brings out her paint brush and splashes the landscape with rich colors will the farm be more beautiful than it is now. One can stand in most any field or wood and see from one to a dozen wild haw and crab trees in bloom. And from the countless thousands of flowers on these and the apple and cherry trees there comes a mingling of delicate fragrances.

Nature seems to have a pattern of growth for the flowering trees and shrubs that brings on the most beautiful parade of blossoms at this time of year. Just as the cherry trees drop their snow white petals and lose their beauty, into the picture move the wild haws, the lilacs, and the wild crabs.

Haw Trees Bloom.

Early this week the haws or thornapple trees were blossoming ahead of the wild crabs. When we hiked thru one woodlot that has a heavy growth of these two species we noticed that already the white flowers of the haws had opened on many trees, whereas most of the crab apple trees still had their fragrant pink flowers only partly opened.

In this particular woodlot the color combination is unusually attractive because of some of the oaks are showing silver, platinum, and green tints, and others have much deep red on their unfolding foliage. White flowers on the haw trees, pink ones on the wild crab trees, and the deep purple of thousands of violets showing above the brown leaves. . . . Thus does May offer her most beautiful color combination.

The warm weather also has brought out the first blossoms of the purple phlox. This gayly tinted wild flower is another definite asset to the farm in springtime. In one of the woodlots it is so abundant that it makes a deep purple carpet beneath the tall ash and oak trees.

A Bobolink Sings.

We visited one of the apple orchards in the center of the farm and stopped for a few minutes to see how many birds we could identify by their songs. The first bird song we heard came from a nearby field. It was the rollicking music of the bobolink. The grassy meadows on the farm are just what the bobolinks like for their nesting sites, so each year many of these merry birds come up from South America to spend the summer on the farm.

The most beautiful picture that we saw as we stood in the orchard where the pink and white petals were dropping like snow was that of a male bluebird among the apple blossoms. Here was the harbinger of spring, the bird that carries a dash of blue from a May sky on his back, in a typical spring setting.

LOAN FUND BOOST REQUEST PUSHES GRAINS UPWARD

Corn and Soy Beans Soar to New Price Peaks.

Announcement that the Commodity Credit corporation had asked Congress for and additional $1,000,000,000 or more to finance the proposed government loans on the major 1941 crops sent prices soaring yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade with corn and soy beans in the lead.

Corn, which has been creeping slowly upward recently, suddenly came to life and prices advanced 1⅞ to 3 cents a bushel on general commission house buying which disclosed a lack of offerings. The close was at the top. Soy beans followed the leadership of cottonseed oil and lard gained 3½ to 4½ cents. All deliveries of corn and July and October beans sold at new seasonal high prices.

Gains in Wheat Smaller.

Wheat futures showed a firm undertone from the start, but there was not a broad public interest in the market, brokers said. Closing sales were at gains of 1½ to 1⅞ cents with July and September highest for about a year. Oats rose ⅛ to ⅛ cent and rye 1⅜ to 1⅝ cents.

Reports that the government had asked for additional offers of lard and hog meats, all tenders to be made by May 15, combined with the strength in cottonseed oil, carried lard futures up 22½ to 25 cents per 100 pounds, but the top was slightly under the seasonal high.

Boost Wheat Estimate.

Because of unusually favorable April weather in the middle and southwest grain belt, the federal crop reporting board boosted its forecast of winter wheat production to 653,-105,000 bushels, an increase of 36,-977,000 bushels over an estimate made a month ago.

A crop of this size would be the largest since 1938 and would compare with last year's production of 589,-151,000 bushels and a 10 year [1930-'39] average of 569,417,000 bushels.

The crop board forecast rye production at 45,623,000 bushels. Production last year was 40,601,000 bushels and for the 10 year average 38,472,000 bushels. No estimate on spring wheat production was made.

The 1941 decrease in Canada's wheat area will be 25 per cent, or 7,070,700 acres, the dominion bureau of statistics announced.

Studebaker's Sales Set April Peak Since 1928

Factory sales and domestic retail deliveries of Studebaker cars and trucks during April were the largest for that month since 1928, the Studebaker corporation reported yesterday. April factory sales totaled 12,955 units and domestic retail deliveries 11,107 units, against 10,898 and 10,118 in April, 1940.

BAYUK CIGARS.

The president of Bayuk Cigars was quoted recently as saying that the company is "in the period of its greatest prosperity." I would like a comparison of its earnings and a description of its capital setup.—O. W.

Answer: Net earnings of Bayuk Cigars, Inc., were at a record high in 1940. However, results for the first quarter this year dropped almost 13 per cent, apparently as a result of increased taxes. Net income in the quarter was $312,528, equal to 78 cents a common share, against $357,-881 or 87 cents a share in the corresponding 1940 period.

Results in the last five years follow:

	Net income.	Earned per com.	Dividends per com.
1936	$ 974,898	$2.10	*$1.56¼
1937	985,612	2.17	1.00
1938	1,300,995	3.01	1.00
1939	1,782,785	4.33	1.00
1940	1,927,961	4.78	1.00

*Of which 75 cents was paid before a 4 for 1 split in May, 1936.

Capitalization of the company consists of 393,060 shares of no par common stock. Holders of the common stock have received dividends every year since 1928, except in 1933. A common dividend of 37½ cents a share was paid March 15 last. Regular dividends have been paid on the preferred shares.

From headquarters in Philadelphia, Bayuk manufactures cigars, selling mainly for 5 cents each or less. Its "Phillies" brand is one of the volume leaders in domestic cigar sales.

CONTINENTAL CASUALTY.

I would appreciate receiving a sketch of the Continental Casualty company.—H. M.

Answer: The Continental Casualty company, organized in 1897, is a leading multiple line casualty insurance company. Among the types of policies it writes are accident and health, automobile damage, public liability, burglary and theft, fidelity and surety, and workmen's compensation. The company is affiliated with the Continental Assurance company, the National Casualty company, and the Transportation Insurance company.

Financial statistics follow:

	Admitted assets.	Policyholders' surplus.	Premiums written.
1936	$29,004,000	$ 8,844,000	$18,893,000
1937	30,574,000	8,185,000	20,690,000
1938	34,053,000	9,805,000	21,039,000
1939	37,291,000	10,934,000	22,999,000
1940	40,097,000	11,878,000	25,372,000

Capitalization consists of 500,000 shares of $5 par capital stock, of which 100,000 shares were issued last month.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

An abrupt decrease in hog receipts, cooler weather, and the belief that the government will continue to buy pork until live hogs on the Chicago market work up to $9 a hundred pounds resulted in a slight advance in hog prices at the stock yards yesterday. Both the top and average moved up 5 cents, to $8.85 and $8.60, respectively.

Demand and supplies of cattle were limited, and there was no marked change in the general level of prices. Light steers and yearlings were favored by buyers, and some of these showed strength, but this was offset by weakness in some heavy cattle.

Packers paid steady to strong prices for slaughter lambs.

A CORRECTION

Recently we advertised 1940 Chevrolet, Plymouth and Ford sedans for "$362 up."

This was inaccurate, as only a Ford was available at the advertised price.

We regret this error and pledge it will not recur.
